UNIVERSITY LIFE

SLATED FOR COMPLETION BY 1968, the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts will make possible the consolidation of all facets of music, drama, dance, and related arts at the University of Illinois.

UNDAUNTED BY THE winter's first ice storm, the Alma Mater fulfills her role as guardian of the spirit of the Illini.

TOWNSEND HALL IN THE FOREGROUND and Wardell Hall in the background were opened for occupancy last September.

LOOKING UP THE SIDE of Wardell Hall confirms the fact that this is indeed the University's first high-rise dormitory

Omaha, Nebraska
Monday

Dearest Ones -

There's no startling news from Omaha to report but will drop you a few lines anyway. We spent a delightful week end at the cabin with the Billigs. Sunday, "Jim," Sharon Lynn, Libby, Howard and "Bob" Kuska joined us for dinner and relaxation. R. Wayne surprised all of us by catching and hanging on to a big - 2½ - 3 lb Carp caught in our lake. The shock was almost overwhelming. I felt that it should have been mounted but "Jim" decided to give it to a neighbor who is fond of carp. I doubt feel like arguing on the sabbath, so he won out.

Jean Sayle stayed in Omaha and studied for final exams coming up this week and next. She's looking forward to graduation and the freedom from studying.

Daddy, I drove in from the cabin last evening for dinner & bridge at the Miller home. It had rained hard Fri. night and most of the day Saturday. When we drove into our drive way about 5 P.M. Sat to make a quick change — our yard was a total mess — We had been 5 P.M. Fri night and the hard rain drove the tailor paper into the grass & down way. There were also 4/6 + "For Sale" signs left in the front yard - all various shapes, sizes & colors. I had gathered them all up & for the terrace being out on the patio. It looked so funny the neighbors were all out Saturday morning viewing the mess. Pictures were taken by the neighbors next door. She stayed all night with Sharon Lynn Fri & Sat night so missed the fun. This week after school each evening she will spend cleaning the yard, shrubs and drive way. I haven't figured out a way yet how she'll get the full rolls of T.P off of the roof. After viewing with dismay all of the signs on the patio I said "Jaan Gayle, how will we ever get these signs back to the right Families." She replied "Don't worry. I'll get rid of them next Friday nite". So - here we go again! I'll be glad when she gets home & School is over for the year. We won't miss the T Peing one bit. Seems like we have had more than our share in the past 10 years.

Wayne is getting ready to leave this Thursday evening around 8 PM for the Coop Antiques fishing week end. I'm sure they will have lots of fun. Sharon Lynn & Julie are coming over to spend the week end with us - Eddie found Something to do for fun.

How is everything on Campus. Suppose
Ryan + Skip are studying hard and going through the strain of final week exams. We hope you both survive in fine shape. Just remember the strain will soon be over.
After getting moved this week end you should concentrate on the exams and school work. Putting your new home in order can come after the exams are over.
There always another week coming up.
You'll probably have more fun when you're not worrying about studying and the many demands that graduation brings.

Sunday AM. I actually wanted to write and wish you a happy birthday so you'd get this on your birthday but it didn't work out that way. Skip! How I wish we could relive some of the wonderful years over again with our beautiful little Mary Lu with us. You always brought joy and happiness to us – so there's no wonder that you are missed at home.
We hope you can find happiness and all good things in life will come to you.

Your letter arrived yesterday – Thank you.
Moving into a new home sounds exciting

Ypu will find maintaining a home will mean more work and expense to you both but being young and enthusiastic - you'll be able to get the work done. "Skip" will be putting up screens - then storm windows - then mowing and raking - cleaning up the basement - and any number of other chores. I hope he'll find time to work all of this into his schedule. Speaking from experience - it will probably mean sacrificing Sat. football games in favor of getting the storm windows up. By the time you reach 50 years, you'll understand why I'm looking forward to going into an Apartment and Donna the latter!

There's nothing more to write about today. We are all fine - enjoying life. Will look forward to your visit in June until we hear otherwise.

Much Love to both of you -

Mother

How was the Russian exam "Skip"? We surely hope it went well. Let us hear from you as often as possible.

Don't forget to give us your new address - when it is set it.

CONTRASTING ITS MODERN ARCHITECTURE with the turn of the century styling of the Natural Resources Building in the background, the Education Building is a valuable and much-needed addition to the University.

The University of the Future

SPRING

WHO SAYS the younger generation has lost ingenuity?

STEP ON a crack, you'll break your mother's back . . .

A TIME-WORN veteran of the races between classes rests its weary wheels.

SPRING?

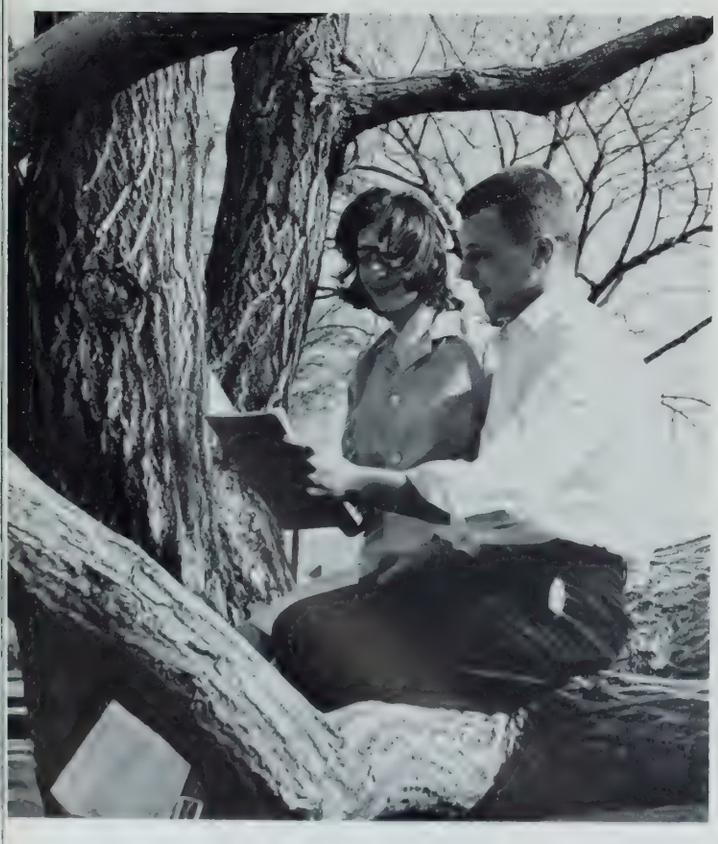

Spring is a time of awakening. When nature revives her spirit, students, too, emerge from their books eager to participate in activities, outings, and sports. The days gradually become longer and one day we find ourselves turning the clock ahead. Convertible tops go down—and then go up again as we get our last touches of snow and first signs of showers. Bicycles, less abundant in winter, again become dangerous menaces. Tennis courts once again are overcrowded; and local playgrounds entertain students reliving childhood experiences.

Meanwhile, the size of classes decreases sharply, and many of those attending class physically are mentally preoccupied with fanciful dreams of love and spring formals. Studies may take a secondary position in spring but they, too, revive as students awaken to the threat of finals.

THE EASTER BUNNY, portrayed by Sandra Crow, helps create the Easter spirit by distributing goodies from his Easter basket.

THESE TWO ENTERPRISING students have found a novel solution to the problem of finding a peaceful place to study.

THE ADVENT OF SPRING brought these young ladies out of their study rooms and onto the playing field for a rousing game of co-rec softball.

Spring Musical

Spring Musical, which traditionally highlights Mothers' Day Weekend with four performances, provides an excellent opportunity for our campus talent to be discovered while at the same time providing enjoyable entertainment for students, for faculty, and for parents alike.

"Gypsy" was last year's colorful selection. It portrayed the decline of vaudeville and the rise of burlesque in the American theater through the story of Rose Havock and her two daughters, June and Louise. Herbie, their agent, accompanies them through their crises and rise to stardom.

Although the cast included over seventy people, the three stars were Julie Eastland as Rose, Judy Thimm as Louise (later known as Gypsy Rose Lee), and Steve Shore as Herbie. The two act production included all seventeen scenes and twenty musical numbers from the original Broadway production.

The final act of the play utilized a spectacular false proscenium and over seven hundred flashing lights with the name "Gypsy Rose Lee" above.

Tryouts for Spring Musical are held at the beginning of every spring semester by Ned Levy.

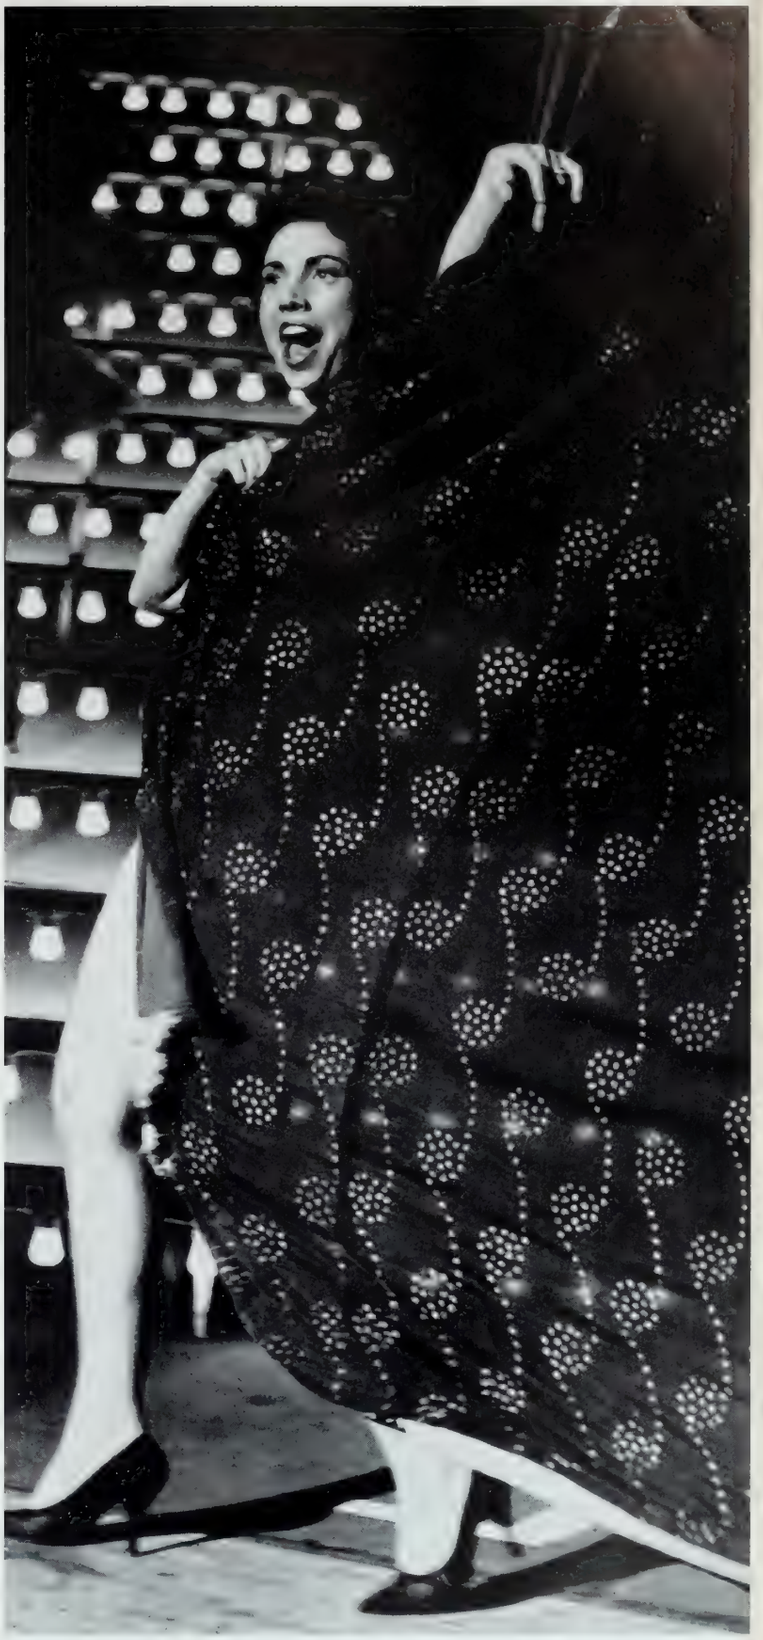

STEVE SHORE, JULIE EASTLAND, and Judy Thimm vibrantly perform "Together Wherever We Are."

BACKSTAGE OF A BURLESQUE house, Louise (Judy Thimm) and Rose (Julie Eastland) ponder the necessity that Louise perform.

HONORS' DAY MARKS a highpoint as students of outstanding quality are honored for their scholarship achievements in the presence of their parents.

Mom's Day Weekend

Just as Mother's are honored around the United States on a special day set aside in their honor, so the University of Illinois sets aside one weekend in May for this same purpose.

In order to make the weekend completely enjoyable, the University, in co-operation with various campus groups, participates in various events including Shi Ai-Sachem Sing and a University Theatre production. In addition, houses all over campus provide individual events for their Moms.

A highlight of the weekend is the crowning of the May Queen chosen from a group of girls on the basis of activities and scholarship.

TIME FOR A HANDSHAKE? No, this team is determined to win the relay race.

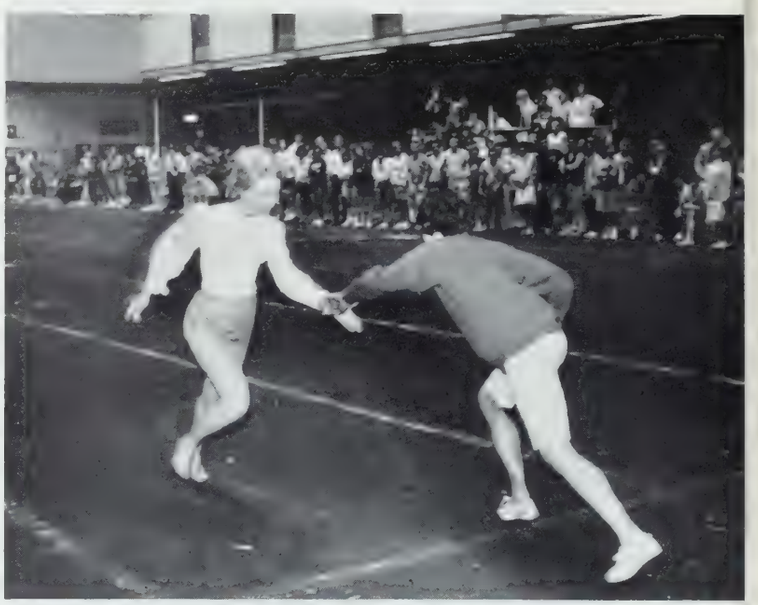

Greek Week

"It's Great to Be Greek" was the theme of last spring's annual Greek Week.

The Greek Week Picnic and Illiolympics, held in the armory on Saturday afternoon, attracted a good crowd. The events of the Illiolympics included a pie-eating contest and tug-of-war for fraternities and a relay race and obstacle race for sororities. The high point of the day was the traditional chariot race and the parade.

Each sorority and fraternity sponsored an Open House for the public. The Outstanding Greek Contest and Greek Week Dance climaxed the week.

College Bowl, an academic contest introduced by Greek Week Chairman Ray Ropp and Glenna Middleton, proved to be one of the week's most popular events.

The College of Agriculture Presents . . .

. . . Ag Student Guest Day for future College of Agriculture students at the University of Illinois. The day began Saturday morning with registration in the lobby of the Auditorium. The morning program featured an address by Dean Warren Wessels, a student presentation entitled, "My First Year in the College of Agriculture," a skit depicting University life, a singing quartet, and a campus style show which exemplified the typical dress of a college student for classes, sports, dates and lounging. During the day, tours acquainted high school students, their parents, instructors, and advisors with the Agriculture and Home Economics buildings, courses, and curriculum opportunities. Visitors also were presented information about college admissions, costs, scholarships, loans, and housing.

Engineering Open House

Each spring the Engineering Council sponsors an Engineering Open House Weekend, its purpose being to acquaint high school students with the opportunities awaiting them in fields of engineering. The displays, constructed by U. of I. engineering students, usually attract over 15,000 visitors.

In honor of Saint Patrick, the patron saint of engineering, the Engineering Council sells green derbies and sponsors St. Pat's Ball. Originally started at the University of Illinois, Engineering Open Houses have spread to nearly all states.

J. KEITH JENSEN catches Firebugs Larry Maraviglia and Willi Eisenring in the attic with gasoline cans as Stephen Gurner (Gottlieb Biedermann) looks on. Firemen at lower level are: Jerry Miller, Charles Berthold, Nicholas Payne, Charles Koppmeyer and David Wilcock.

University Theatre

University Theatre offers students interested in Speech and Theatre the opportunity to improve their talents. Under the supervision of Student Director Gretchen Cornwell and of Staff Supervisor Joseph W. Scott, the University Theatre Staff presents its production in Lincoln Hall Theatre.

Among the Theatre's productions this year was The Firebugs, a satirical comedy written by a contemporary Swiss Playwright, Max Frisch.

In addition, a division of University Theatre known as Armory Theatre is run entirely by undergraduates, many of their productions such as Black Butterfly by Kenneth Lillquist and Baptism in the Park by Larry Maraviglia being original works. Another Armory Theatre Production, Charlie McDeath, was written by a Swedish playwright, Lars Forsell, and was first performed in Stockholm City Theatre in March, 1962. The Armory Theatre presentation was the play's second presentation in the United States, the first performance having taken place at Northern Illinois University.

ESTHER (SUE KISS) and Elymas Bailes (David Carr) appear in Black Butterfly, an original play by University of Illinois undergraduates.

The St. Pat's Ball is held every March close to St. Patrick's Day and sponsored by the Engineering Council. During the Ball, several of the juniors and seniors are knighted and given membership in the Knights of St. Patrick, the engineering honorary. The St. Pat's Ball Queen is crowned also at this time. She is chosen from candidates nominated by various branches of Professional Engineering Societies. This year Heather Kinsey reigned as queen of the St. Pat's Ball festivities.

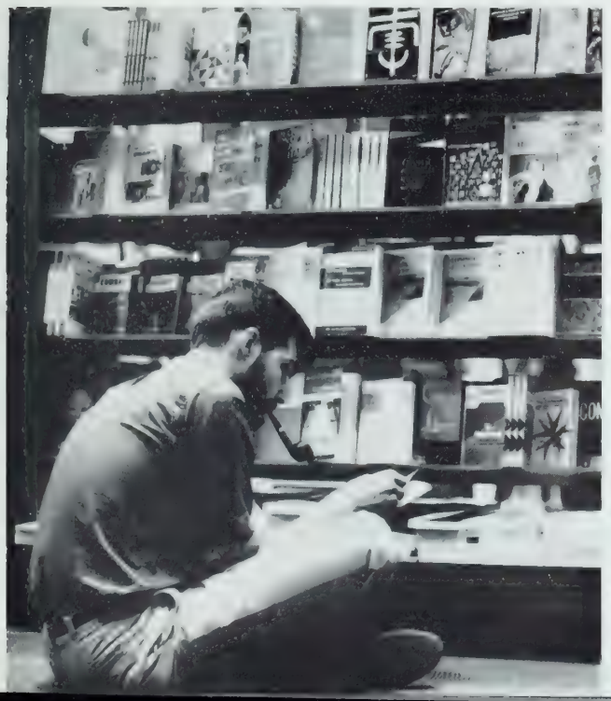

THE ILLINI UNION TAVERN is a popular spot for both studying and study breaks.

Illini Union

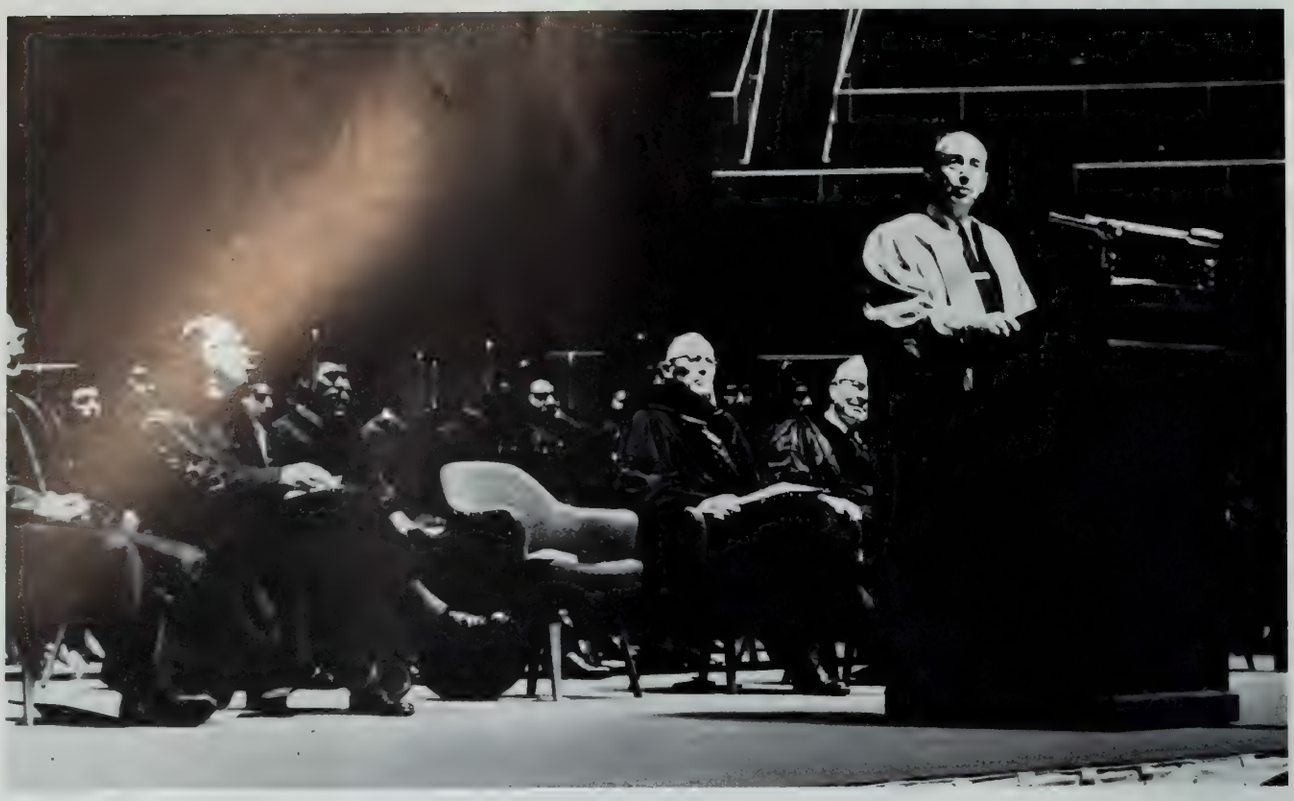

One of the best student Unions in the country, the Illini Union offers many and varied facilities to the students of the University. The recent addition to the Union provided two floors of guest rooms for use by visitors to the University, room for the offices of the larger student activities, and the spacious lounges that are greatly appreciated by students with gaps in their class schedules. Individuals interested in making inexpensive additions to their personal libraries appreciate the service offered to them by the paperback book center, also a part of the remodeling.

Honors' Day

LAST MINUTE PREPARATIONS are important when you are in the spotlight.

Honors' Day is held every year in the spring. It is a day of recognition for students receiving high scholastic averages. This spring the event was held in the Assembly Hall, with Adlai Stevenson as the guest speaker. University honors and class honors are announced at this time. Bronze Tablet and Phi Beta Kappa are among those represented. To be a part of this impressive ceremony is one of the highest honors of the University.

Illioskee

Illioskee Weekend, sponsored by the Illini Union Activities Board, highlights each spring semester with its numerous opportunities for the expression of excess energy. The light spirit characteristic of the carnival transforms the campus into a center of excitement, allowing students and townspeople to "laugh their troubles away."

The weekends' traditional events include a tricycle race, the Most Eligible Bachelor on Campus (MEBOC) Contest and the effigy burning of Old Man Winter. The rides and booths, however, generally attract the largest crowds. The carnival offered rides such as the whirling rotor for the active and the merry-go-round for the less adventurous. Booths, sponsored by both campus organizations and housing groups, permit students to demonstrate their hidden talents, such as pitching pennies.

Finals

Distinctly I remember haunting fear,
Which seizes me but twice in every year.
A panic grasps me tightly, giving chills,
And so I simply down a few more pills.

My eyes the pages quickly scan and skim,
While facts within my head all seem to swim.
Just when I feel I'm in a hopeless pinch,
The boy next to me cries that it's a cinch!

Within three hours the burning questions cease,
And now my churning mind returns to peace.
Until my conscience and tomorrow's test,
Demand I start anew my "knowledge quest."

FROM THE LOOKS of things, finals are never cancelled because of heat waves!

THOUSANDS OF VISITORS come to the campus of the University of Illinois to attend the June commencement ceremony.

Commencement

AT LAST! The long years of study have finally paid off and soon these graduates will hold the coveted diploma.

ONE OF THE LARGEST commencement gatherings in the history of the University watches 3,304 graduates receive their degrees.

For the second University of Illinois Commencement in the Assembly Hall, 14,222 friends and relatives gathered to watch the graduates receive degrees from the eleven colleges. Over one-fourth of the degrees granted this year were for advanced work—2,350 were undergraduate and 954 were graduate, for a total of 3,304 degrees. The principal speaker was Dr. W. Albert Noyes Jr., the University of Texas chemist for whose father Noyes Laboratory was named. The graduates also received parting words from Governor Kerner who sent a message, University President David Dodds Henry, and Alumni Representative, Roger Pogue.

Included among the special presentations made at the Commencement exercises were three honorary degrees, granted to Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, retired director of the Architecture School at Illinois Institute of Technology; Miss Marian Anderson; and Dr. W. Albert Noyes, Jr., the Commencement speaker. Three Illini Achievement Awards were also presented at Commencement. The eighth group of alumni to be so honored by the Alumni Association included Stewart D. Owen, managing editor of the Chicago Tribune; Mark Van Doren, noted author and teacher; and Leslie B. Worthington, president of the United States Steel Corporation.

BICYCLE RIDING IS one way of enjoying Indian Summer Days, but it's no fun staying on the bicycle paths!

Once registration troubles are over, the beginning of the Fall semester can be one of the most exciting times of the year. Everybody seems extra anxious to see old friends again and all are eager to make new ones. Exchanges, football games, parties, dances, picnics, bike riding, and Stunt Show practices are just a few ways that the leisurely days of early Fall can be spent.

Despite all this extra-curricular activity, one can never quite forget that the carefree days of summer are over and classes have begun for another year. Walking into class the first day, students often find that they are already a week behind in their readings and that the first hourly is only three weeks away. This announcement, added to the fact that the bookstores are all out of the right textbooks, could make almost any student retreat to Lake of the Woods or Kam's, as the case may be. On the other hand, some students are eager to get back to their books after summer. The results of that first set of exams are usually enough to set the more apathetic students in motion.

Activity Day

Activity Day, a part of the Illini Union activities, is held each fall in the Union's ball room. At that time, interesting displays and information booths are set up by each club and organization of the University. Representatives from these groups are available to give information and answer any questions the students might have. The students may sign up to petition for membership in any activity that interests them. University activities can provide training, experience, and enjoyment.

THESE VOTING BOOTHS, located in strategic spots on campus, enabled students to choose their favorite candidate for Homecoming Queen.

This year's spirited Homecoming, with its theme of "Happiness is. . .", drew thousands of alums back to their alma mater on October 9. The traditional activities included the football game, the all-campus dance, the house decorations, the Homecoming parade, and the stunt shows.

The Friday and Saturday night festivities were highlighted by the Homecoming dances held at Huff Gym and the Illini Union. Hundreds of U. of I. students enjoyed the music of big-band leader Nelson Riddle, a special treat for Homecoming visitors.

Both the Greek stunt shows and the house decorations cleverly carried out the Homecoming theme. Especially memorable were the opening number and shag line of the Stunt Show.

A fairly recent addition to the Homecoming celebration was the highly entertaining parade. Many campus groups and organized houses entered floats, which were then judged and awarded trophies.

The 1964 Homecoming festivities were highlighted by the reign of Miss Mary Ann Kelly of Princeville, Illinois, as Homecoming queen. Mary Ann was crowned at the pep rally of the Homecoming week, starting the celebration off in the true theme of "Happiness is. . .," which marked this year's activities. Mary Ann is a junior in medical technology and is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

One of the highlights of the Homecoming weekend was the annual Stunt Show. Fraternities and sororities paired early in the spring and began work on their individual shows. Tryouts were held in September and eight shows were chosen for the finals. Talented students in each house carried out the "Happiness is . . ." theme in skits ranging from James Bond to the Wizard of Oz. The opening number featured clever spoofs of old-time silent movies. Dancers raced and jiggled across the stage to the accompaniment of old nickelodeon tunes, as flickering background lights set the mood. Entertaining the audience between shows was the popular shag line. In the judging which took place, Alpha Omicron Pi and Acacia's Dogpatch skit took first place honors. Second place was won by Chi Omega and Alpha Kappa Lambda with Loose Moose, and third place was won by Delta Gamma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon with a comic Noah's Ark presentation.

THE BAND IS GIVING a special Dad's Day entertainment as the Dads, many of them Illinois alums, recall their college days.

As part of the tradition of the University of Illinois, each year one weekend in November is set aside to honor the Dads of the Illini. This year, as is usual, a great weekend was planned. It all started on Friday night with a parade to the stadium followed by a pep rally. Saturday afternoon, of course, was reserved for the Dad's Day football game in which the Illini faced UCLA in a decisive victory, and Saturday night was filled with much excitement as the campus presented various major events such as the Dolphin Show and Dad's Day Review. The highlight of the weekend consisted of the crowning of King Dad, Mr. Thomas Adamson, who represented all the Dads of the present Illini.

MANY PLAYS SUCH AS this helped Illinois smash UCLA that day.

SEVERAL DADS AND THEIR daughters enjoyed events together which will, in the future, bring back many memories.

Another major Homecoming event was the Dolphin Show. This years theme was "Dolphin Goes to Sea." The songs, costumes, and swimming depicted a tour of the many large cities of the world. As a part of the show, two men just out of school had gone to a travel agency. While they were there these scenes were presented to them. The whole show is sponsored entirely by the Dolphin Club.

Another part of the show is the crowning of the 1964 Dolphin queen. From six shows two girls are chosen to be semi-finalists. The final show consists of these twelve, from which a queen and two runner-ups are chosen by judges. Miss Sandy Stacy reigned as this years queen. She is a junior in LAS from Glen Ellyn, Illinois.

Known from coast to coast for superb marching and playing, the Marching Illini, under the direction of Everett Kisinger, thrill football enthusiasts and music lovers with performances at the Illinois home gridiron games.

Pre-game entertainment includes the formation of the traditional Block "I" plus the singing of "Illinois Loyalty." Half-time brings more intricate marching and formations, one of which is the unique marching "Illini." The band also plays a semiclassical or a classical number for a change of pace. A capella singing of "Pride of the Illini" and "Hail to the Orange" by the band members and the traditional war dance by chief Illiniwek add the final traditional touch to every home game.

THE MARCHING ILLINI participate in the ceremony dedicating the football field in Memorial Stadium to Robert C. Zuppke, former Illini Football Coach.

Chicago Circle Campus

The Chicago Circle campus, which opened in February, is to be completed from 1965-67 with approximately $36,000,000 in state appropriations. The Chicago Circle Campus is part of the Master Plan proposed by the Illinois Board of Higher Education to expand higher education facilities in the major population centers. No residential facilities are included on the Chicago campus. A budget summary pointed out that classroom buildings are less expensive to build than residential facilities and that it is less costly for students to attend such commutor-type institutions.

IT TAKES QUITE A FEW campus guides to get everyone in the right classes the first day.

LIKE THE CHAMPAIGN CAMPUS, the Chicago Circle has its crowded "people walks."

Turkey Run

With the Thanksgiving season comes the fun and the excitement of the annual Turkey Run. The event begins as men's housing units pair with women's housing units. They then prepare their vehicles and choose the members to represent their houses. The race is a contest of speed from one end of the quad to the other with a turkey being awarded to the winner. This year Alpha Delta Pi, represented by Mary Lou Fisher and Marcia Mayes, and Theta Xi, represented by Les Wrobel and Dick Maxwell, were the winners of this event which is sponsored by the Intramural Department.

ILLIO BEAUTIES

Final Judging by Peter Gowland

THE ALMA MATER statue, long-time sentimental symbol of the University of Illinois, welcomes the ice and snow of winter.

COULD THIS BE a project for Snow Sculpture 101?

Winter

Students, beware snowballs from behind closed fraternity doors, drifted snow outside your third floor window, and snow-tired bicycles! Winter is here and soon come first semester examinations.

Plans for the annual Christmas formals and New Year festivities are under way and holiday shopping is sandwiched in between classes. Despite all this, winter is an exciting and fun-filled time.

Winter Entertainment

Once football games are over and snow begins to fall, indoor entertainment becomes a necessity to break the study routine. The University of Illinois certainly does its share of providing campus entertainment, for scarcely a winter week passes without an Assembly Hall production. This year's outstanding events included Miss Patti Page, the Ice Capades, and Guy Lombardo.

International Fair

Each year the weekend before the International Fair, Copacabana, a Latin American night club, is held in the Union. Practically all Latin American countries are represented with songs and dances, while palm trees add to the atmosphere.

The following week the Union is converted into a miniature World's Fair with international music in the air. The Fair includes exhibits, entertainment, rituals, an import bazaar, a sweet shop, and a melting pot of American folksinging. International Fair's purpose is to promote understanding among the various countries of the world.

A PART-TIME JOB in a campus clothing store is enjoyable as well as financially beneficial.

Student Employment

A college education involves quite an expense as any student can testify, and part time jobs are the answer to many students' financial problems. In order to help with this problem, the University of Illinois offers the Student Employment Office which aids the student in obtaining jobs.

Although the three most available types of jobs are food service, laboratory, and clerical work, other kinds of employment—some unusual—are found by the student. Not all students are so fortunate however, and the majority go through the familiar routines of waiters, librarians, lab assistants, store clerks. For ag students, work on research farms is available to earn needed cash.

MANY OF THE couples living in the married students housing are both students and parents of one or two children.

IN GROUP HOUSING such as this, there are always plenty of children to play with.

Married Students

Since many students here at the University are married, several married housing facilities which are quite comfortable have been made available for them. Recently many of the Stadium Terrace homes have been torn down, and the families are now moving to the Orchard Downs apartments which have a higher rent. In order to relieve part of the financial burden caused by attending school and raising a family, one or both parents often find it necessary to work part or full time.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS' excellent facilities make it possible for all wheelchair students to get around on campus.

Rehabilitation

The University of Illinois Division of Rehabilitation Education Service and Delta Sigma Omicron, rehabilitation service fraternity, offer opportunities to the disabled individual on campus.

Specially equipped buses are used on the campus and some modifications have been made to buildings in the forms of ramps. All the disabled students compete on an equal basis with their classmates. Many of them are sorority or fraternity members. Over half of the students maintain a 4.0 average or above, and many are in extracurricular activities.

A new center for all disabled students, located near the power plant, is nearing completion. This center will allow the program to expand.

The Institute of Aviation

LESLIE A. BRYAN directs the activities of the Institute of Aviation.

The responsibility of the Institute of Aviation is to promote and correlate activities related to aviation through the University. Primary concerns of the Institute are instruction, management of the University of Illinois Willard Airport, and also research in aeronautics.

In keeping with the rules of the Federal Aviation Agency (F.A.A.), the Institute is authorized to teach courses in ground flight, aircraft maintenance, and aviation electronics. These courses, given by the University Airport, are supervised by an F.A.A. designated Pilot Examiner.

The courses in aircraft maintenance and aviation electronics are arranged in two-year curricula, as are flight and general education sequences offered in preparation for piloting.

The Director of the Institute of Aviation officiates as manager of the Airport, which is named for ex-University President Willard.

LABORATORY ANALYSIS IS an important part of the training program for all home economics students specializing in foods and nutrition.

The College of

The College of Agriculture has long been recognized for its outstanding integrated teaching, research, and extension programs. In recent years, the College has also assumed a leading role in agricultural development on an international scale.

Students in agriculture and home economics are offered a broad educational program. In addition to their specialized studies, they receive a good foundation in the basic sciences as well as work in the humanities. Students in home economics can train for careers in foods and nutrition, hospital dietetics, child development and family relations, institution management, textiles and clothing, and home furnishings. Those in agriculture may choose their major fields of study from agricultural curricula in economics, engineering, industries, and science, or from programs in agronomy, animal science, communications, dairy science, horticulture, forestry, food science, and plant pathology.

SPECIAL TOURS OFFER many learning opportunities outside of the classroom.

DEAN LOUIS B. HOWARD, Dean of the College of Agriculture, also serves as director of the Agriculture Experiment Station and the Extension Service in agriculture and home economics.

Agriculture

The Agricultural Experiment Station maintains about three hundred fifty research projects, and the Extension Service conducts a continuous educational program to both the rural and urban people in every Illinois county. Many students have an opportunity to participate in this research and extension work through summer jobs and part-time work. More than twenty student clubs and activity groups in agriculture and home economics provide added opportunities for technical experience.

In its international program, the College provides training and experience for over four hundred foreign experts and students at the campus in Urbana, and approximately ten staff members serve in special advisory work in other countries. In a major phase of the program, the College is assisting in the development of new agricultural universities in India and Sierra Leone, modeled on the basis of our own land-grant college system.

THE NEW EDUCATION BUILDING was constructed to meet the demand for additional facilities for the College of Education.

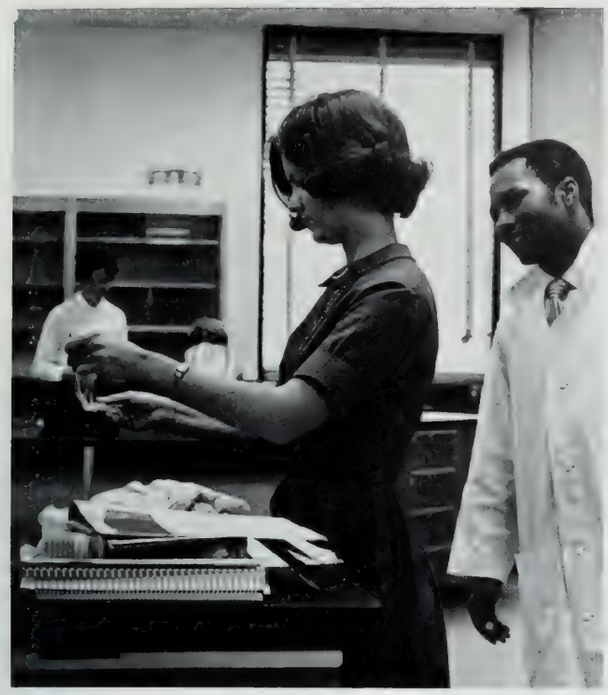

DEAN R. N. EVANS is the Dean of the College of Education.

College of Education

The College of Education not only provides students with the background in elementary education, industrial arts education, home economics education, and education for exceptional children, mentally handicapped, deaf, and hard of hearing, but it also operates numerous research and educational services. The Bureau of Educational Research conducts studies in educational sociology, educational psychology, tests and measurements, guidances, and school administration. The Council on Teacher Education is responsible for student teaching and placement. The Institute for Research on Exceptional Children is the world's first institute for research on the education of both handicapped and gifted children. The College utilizes University High School as a laboratory.

In response to the increasing enrollment in our country's schools, more and more young women and men are preparing themselves for teaching careers. The University of Illinois has met this additional need with a new education building and fine staff.

College of Commerce and Business Administration

DR. PAUL GREEN is the Dean of the College of Commerce and Business Administration.

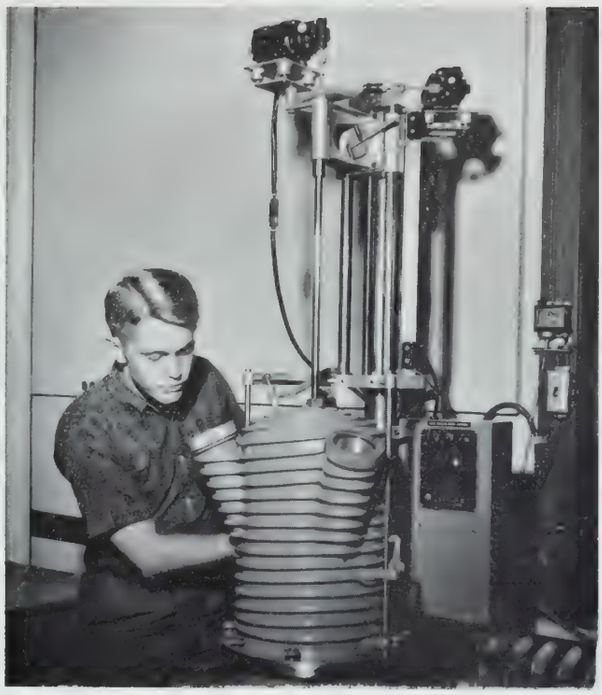

The College of Commerce and Business Administration strives to develop within its students the abilities which are necessary for responsible positions in business and government. The factual contents of many of the courses are directly useful in specific careers such as acounting, banking, selling, and teaching.

Students must meet requirements in mathematics, science, literature, rhetoric, and social sciences as well as specialize in one of the fields of concentration offered by this college. Instruction is organized into six departments: Business Education, Economics, Marketing, Finance, Accountancy and Industrial Administration. The Bureaus of Business Management and of Economics and Business Research operate, respectively, as the service and research divisions of the college.

WILLIAM EVERITT SERVES as the Dean of the College of Engineering.

The College of Engineering

In the College of Engineering, students are encouraged to criticize the teaching methods used by the faculty. The College feels that in this way their students will develop a more receptive attitude toward their teaching. To encourage the students to voice their opinions, the College of Engineering has two student managed organizations, an ILLINOIS TECHNOGRAPH and an Engineering Council.

The TECHNOGRAPH is written of, by, and for the students in engineering. It is sent to students free of charge, and to faculty members that subscribe to it. Their articles and letters to the editor have become a forum for current issues and for the exchange of ideas on technical subjects.

The Engineering Council serves as the governing body for the twenty-one student professional societies and twelve honor societies. It has served in the revision of the Honors Program, the advisory system, and teaching by the senior faculty.

Institute of Government and Public Affairs

The Institute of Government and Public Affairs is one of the University's main research and service organizations which thoroughly investigates the problems concerning the local, the state, and the national governments. After analyzing these problems, the Institute makes its findings available.

As a part of the Institute's program, a Public Affairs Assembly is held annually at Allerton Park to discuss the major issues facing the state. The Assembly is a forum to which some thirty to fifty leaders in Illinois government, professions, businesses, politics, education, civic life, and labor are invited because of their special knowledge of and involvement with the topic.

The 1964 Assembly was concerned with political representation in the state's legislative bodies.

THE PARTICIPANTS in the 1964 Assembly discuss political representation. They are: Professor Reed Smith, Bradley University; Professor Twiley W. Barker, Jr., Navy Pier; Representative Bernard M. Peskin, Northbrook; Dr. E. E. Dale, State Representative, Champaign; and Mr. James Murphy, Legislative Staff Intern.

THE MANY CONFERENCES and seminars are held at Allerton House.

The Division of University Extension

The Division of University Extension provides a well-equipped staff on the Urbana campus of the University of Illinois. With five regional representatives to guide and to assist the individuals and organizations, they may well take advantage of the many opportunities offered them. Over seven hundred of the University's academic departments assist the Division's faculty in its program of education throughout the state of Illinois.

Each year, the Music's Extension department of the Division sponsors their annual Illinois All-State Music Activity and the Illinois Summer Youth Music Camp which attract many avid lovers of music from all over the state.

STANLEY C. ROBINSON IS the Dean of the Division of University Extension.

School of Social Work

The Jane Addams Graduate School of Social Work of the University of Illinois was accredited as a two-year professional curriculum in 1946. Supervised in Urbana, the School also has a branch in Chicago. An identical program of academic studies and field work practice is carried on in each location of the social work college.

Along with access to the full facilities of the University, the Jane Addams School has special resources for research in the University Library and a collection of materials for its use. The Chicago branch offers the stimulation of the city itself, a laboratory in which the student can discern every social problem together with the experiments toward solving it.

In addition to its graduate program, the School of Social Work offers an undergraduate curriculum, extension courses in Chicago and throughout Illinois, and summer institutes at the Allerton House. The School further contributes to social welfare of Illinois through research and special training.

DR. MARK P. HALE serves as director of the Jane Addams Graduate School of Social Work.

THE JANE ADDAMS GRADUATE SCHOOL of Social Work will occupy one floor of this modern skyscraper on the Chicago Congress Circle campus.

For the agency staff members, consultation to agencies, participation on boards and planning bodies, and other services appropriate to a tax-supported state institution are administered.

Because of the influential involvement of the social worker with the client, social work education is highly individual. Each student receives a great deal of personal supervision, especially in the tutor-pupil relationship of field work.

Field work is offered concurrently with classwork. The students are usually placed in two distinctly different types of agencies during the two years of graduate study: one where social service is the primary function, such as a child welfare agency, and the other where social work is adjacent to other services, such as in a psychiatric hospital. The Chicago students are placed in Chicago area settings. Urbana students may be placed in a number of communities outside the Champaign-Urbana area and their transportation costs are taken care of by the School.

College of Fine and Applied Arts

DEAN ALLEN S. WELLER co-ordinates the College of Fine and Applied Arts.

In the College of Fine and Applied Arts professional programs are offered in Architecture, Art and Music, Urban Planning, and Landscape Architecture. Many courses of the fine and applied art in civilization are offered for students majoring in other fields. Over two thousand undergraduate and graduate students are enrolled in these major programs with a professional staff of over two hundred instructing them. The College also has four non-professional divisions—the Small Homes Council, the Bureau of Community Planning, the University Bands, and the Krannert Art Museum. A continuous program of exhibitions, concerts, and other events makes many aspects of these courses, both old and new, available to the total University community.

Every other year, the College takes part in the Festival of Contemporary Arts, which was held for the twelfth time in March, 1965. Demonstrations, concerts, lectures, exhibitions, and conferences that occur in the various areas of the College at this time make this one of the best opportunities in the country to come in close contact with the many major creative aspects of our times.

DEAN THEODORE B. PETERSON leads the College of Journalism and Communications.

STUDENTS IN THIS CLASS are learning the art of typography.

THESE STUDENTS ARE practicing copyreading in a journalism laboratory.

The students in the College of Journalism and Communication are offered many opportunities and facilities to complete their undergraduate education in the field of their choice.

Included in the training in the newsroom, laboratory printing, photography laboratory, radio and television studio, WILL, and advertising layout laboratory, is the editing of wire copy from the press services, the setting of type, the printing of self-designed work and the editing of film.

Facilities offered by the college include over seven thousand books and subscriptions to over one hundred and twenty magazines.

The Departments of Advertising, the editorial curriculum and the Department of Radio and Television are the three curricula which the college offers. These curricula prepare the students for advertising agencies, advertising departments of radio and television stations, newspapers, industrial organizations, magazines, and retail stores. It also prepares them for jobs as editors and reporters, and for general broadcasting work.

THE MODERN LAW LIBRARY contains over one hundred thousand volumes. It is designed and operated to encourage maximum use for study and research.

The College of Law

DEAN RUSSELL N. SULLIVAN serves as Dean of the College of Law.

The College of Law, established in 1897, trains its students for the legal profession by inspiring them to uphold the highest traditions of the profession and teaching them sound legal procedures.

The College provides students with teachers and scholars whose works are widely distinguished across the country. The library also aids the students—having over 156,000 volumes. Besides the large number of volumes available to the students, other facilities are offered, including a browsing alcove which contains many recent publications, a typing room, and a visual aids room.

Over sixty different courses covering a variety of subjects are offered in the curriculum. Each student is required to obtain a foundation in the basic fields. In addition to these fundamentals, he may choose electives in the fields which are of special interest to him. Courses in special interest fields include municipal corporation, oil and gas, insurance, labor law, and legislation.

DR. ROBERT W. ROGERS is the capable Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences presently has an enrollment of approximately nine to ten thousand students. As the bearer of the tradition of liberal education, the College strives to broaden the vision of its students by developing in them an appreciation of cultural values. Also the College offers curricula which help the student prepare for a professional career. The LAS Student Council, composed entirely of students, is the channel by which some of the ideas of LAS students may be articulated. Inter-departmental programs offer related material prepared by the faculty of many individual departments. New departments and methods of instruction permit students to keep abreast of current academic developments within the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

AS AN EXTRA SERVICE to their students, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences has a special staff of student advisors.

DR. MERLE M. OHLSEN serves as head of the Speech Department.

DR. MAX MATTESON is head of the Zoology Department.

DR. CLAUDE VIENS is in charge of the Department of French.

Life Sciences

The rapidly expanding School of Life Sciences is now well established in its six fields of Botany, Entomology, Microbiology, Physiology, Zoology, and its newest addition, Biophysics. The far-reaching plans of the 1950's have almost completely materialized in the form of three new buildings which provide excellent facilities for undergraduate and graduate research and study.

Dean H. O. Halvorson has taken full advantage of these new facilities by providing special seminars for superior juniors and encouraging senior students to work with faculty members in laboratory and field investigations. Many new courses have been established and expanded to meet the rising demands in this popular field.

A newly approved program for undergraduates has resulted in the availability of a bachelor's degree in the Biological Sciences. A graduate program leading to a doctorate in Life Sciences has also been created recently.

A LIFE SCIENCES instructor explains some of the advanced equipment in the Biological Sciences buildings.

MRS. ANITA SCHILLER, Library Research Associate, is at work in her office at 428 Library Research Center.

MR. DONALD D. HENDRICKS is also a Library Research Assistant.

The Graduate School of Library Science

The Graduate School of Library Science was established in 1893 at the Armour Institute in Chicago. From there it was relocated at the University of Illinois. It was one of the four institutions which originated in the initial era of education for librarianship in the United States.

This school seeks to equip its students for a profession in the field of library science. The Graduate School of Library Science, which works in conjunction with the University of Illinois Graduate School, grants three degrees: Certificate of Advanced Study of Librarianship, Doctor of Philosophy, and Master of Science.

To meet the needs of more students and to insure a higher quality of education, libraries all over the country will be expanding, and new ones will be constructed. Many new positions will be created by these new libraries. The many graduates from the School of Library Science will help to fill these many positions.

GYMNASTICS CLASSES DEVELOP balance and teach new skills to physical education students.

TOUCHÉ

There are four academic departments in the College of Physical Education: Recreation and Municipal Park Administration, Physical Education for Women, Physical Education for Men, and Health Safety Education. The two student divisions, Intramural Activities, and Rehabilitation Education Service, also are a part of the program. The form of the College of Physical Education is unique in its administrative patterns, and is the only one of its kind currently known to exist at any University anywhere in the United States. Housing of the six related areas in one single, streamlined unit greatly facilitates their administration, and it also represents the possession of another first by the University of Illinois.

The College trains University students in such areas as teaching, coaching, counseling, dancing, and directing recreation programs. The enrollment continues to increase as Americans become more interested in keeping themselves physically fit.

THE LABOR and Industrial Relations Building houses the classrooms, offices, and library.

The Institute of Labor

The Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations prepares its graduate students for positions in industry, labor unions, research, government services, and teaching. Because the Institute is part of the Graduate College, work is also done in the fields of economics, sociology, political science, psychology, history, law, and engineering.

The Institute's program is concerned with current problems between labor and industry. To keep abreast with the field, seminars and conferences are held where distinguished government officials, as well as scholars, business, and labor leaders, are invited. Visits are conducted to industrial plants, to union meetings, and to conferences.

In addition to faculty and research programs, the Institute's students also have access to the library, which has a large collection of journals, periodicals, catalogued pamphlets, government documents, and reference books.

College of Veterinary Medicine

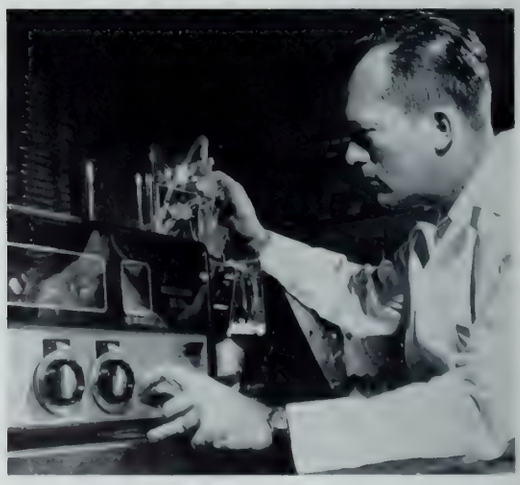

DR. CARL BRANDLY IS DEAN of the College, professor of Veterinary Microbiology and Public Health, and directs the Center for Zoonoses Research.

The College of Veterinary Medicine of the University of Illinois was established in 1944. The major objective of the College is to improve the means of combating livestock diseases on Illinois farms. Teaching, public service, and research are the three major activities undertaken by the College. Teaching is of two kinds—resident and extension. Resident teaching is carried on at the undergraduate, professional, and graduate levels. Extension teaching is carried on largely in rural communities, but reaches into urban areas as well, with on-campus meetings, conferences, and special courses. Public services are provided by the ambulatory service, the diagnostic laboratory, and the large and small animal clinics. Many research projects are concerned with serious diseases such as leptospirosis, Q fever, parasitism, and rabies.

AN ABDOMINAL OPERATION takes place in the modern Large Animal Clinic.

DR. RAYMOND OLSEN, University of Illinois veterinary pathologist, runs tests on blood samples for leukemia.

Development of the power, and the promotion of the spirit of research is the fundamental aim of the Graduate College. Independent work and individual research are stressed in the University of Illiniois Graduate College. Since its modest beginning in 1907, the Graduate College has grown to be one of the largest colleges on campus. The urgent need for trained individuals in the field of science and technology and the new ideas of higher education have created this rapid growth.

Part time assistantships give the graduate student the opportunities for research in any of over one-hundred fields sponsored by the Graduate College. Leadership through quality of instruction, facilities, and research guidance is the main objective of the Graduate College.

The Graduate College is open to anyone who may wish to increase his knowledge in any field of education. Many students come to the University of Illinois for graduate studies because of the varied achievements and merits the Graduate College can offer to its students.

THE GRADUATE COLLEGE staff fulfills the administrative duties for one of the University's largest colleges.

DEAN CHARLES SANFORD heads the Office of Admissions and Records at the University of Illinois.

Admissions and Records

The University of Illinois Office of Admissions and Records touches the experience of everyone who comes to the campus as a student. It is usually the first office he contacts when seeking admission and is the office which evaluates his credentials and issues his permit to enter. In co-operation with other offices, it arranges the orientation events in which he and other new students participate. While he is here, this office makes arrangements for his registration, including assessment of his tuition and fees, administers his scholarship, keeps the official record of his academic performance, issues official transcripts of his record and certification of his attendance, and finally is responsible for the preparation and delivery of his diploma. Other functions in which the Office of Admissions and Records engages include supervision of entrance examinations, administration of the University Exchange-Visitor Program and conducting examinations in Illinois for the Certificate of Certified Public Accountant.

Dean of Students

The Office of the Dean of Students was established by the Board of Trustees in 1943 to provide administrative co-ordination for the several independent offices, units, and functions involved in phases of service to students and to student life and activities outside the classroom. The purpose was to improve services to students and to assist in providing an atmosphere and an environment most suitable for academic success, and at the same time offer to all an opportunity for a well-rounded activity and recreational program.

At present, offices and functions in the Dean of Students organization include the Deans of Men and Women and their assistants, Security, Student Aid, Student Employment, Co-ordinating Placement, Student Activities, Housing, Orientation Programs, Foreign Student Affairs and boards of control.

GENE VANCE SERVES as executive director of the Alumni Association.

The Alumni Association

The Alumni Association, founded in 1873, gives the alums of the University of Illinois a chance to maintain campus ties and to serve the University in the future generations.

One of the avenues through which the Association works is the Illini Club. There are approximately eighty-five clubs in Illinois, across the nation, and in foreign countries. Usually, they meet once or twice a year, have a University-oriented program in the form of a film or a talk by a visitor from the campus, and then provide a few hours of Illini socializing. Alumni groups, both large and small, are invited to form clubs. Only ten signatures are required for the adoption of a charter. A workshop for Illini Club officers is held on a football Saturday during the months of the fall, and the Association will give any other service to organize and maintain the club.

Members to the Association are able to keep in touch with their campus and other alumni through the Illinois Alumni News, a newspaper sent eight times per year. As an Association service to the alumni, non-members receive an eight-page version of the paper two times every year, provided they keep their addresses current in the files of the Alumni Association record office.

MR. J. G. THOMAS, president of the University of Illinois Foundation.

The University of Illinois Foundation is a nonprofit corporation, organized in 1935 to encourage gifts to the University—gifts of real estate, art objects, money, books, or anything that is of financial or of educational value.

Each year, the Foundation conducts a program of annual giving on the part of alumni and friends of the University. This program, which is very well supported, received over a million dollars in contributions during the past year.

The projects to which annual gifts are made include scholarships, loan funds, grants-in-aid to students in student activities, fellowships, research in all fields, library collections, and a special fund to be used at the discretion of the President of the University.

Another function of the Foundation is the management of faculty inventions. The Foundation not only obtains patents, but also arranges licensing agreements with a number of companies for several profitable inventions. Its patent management operations are quite extensive.

Board of Trustees

The University of Illinois, as a state university, is subject to the authority of the Illinois General Assembly, and this Assembly, in turn, is subject to the control of the state constitution. Within the limits of the constitution, the Board of Trustees has final word in affairs which constitute the good and the welfare of the University. Its nine members, elected to six year terms, are responsible to the people of Illinois in the General Assembly. On matters of educational policy and organization, the Board seeks the advice of the University Statutes and the University Senates, the Statutes of which are under the reservation of the Board to change with the advice of the Senate. On matters of power, administrative organization, and responsibility of the University officers, the Board of Trustees acts on the advice given by the President of the University.

DAVID D. HENRY, president of the University of Illinois

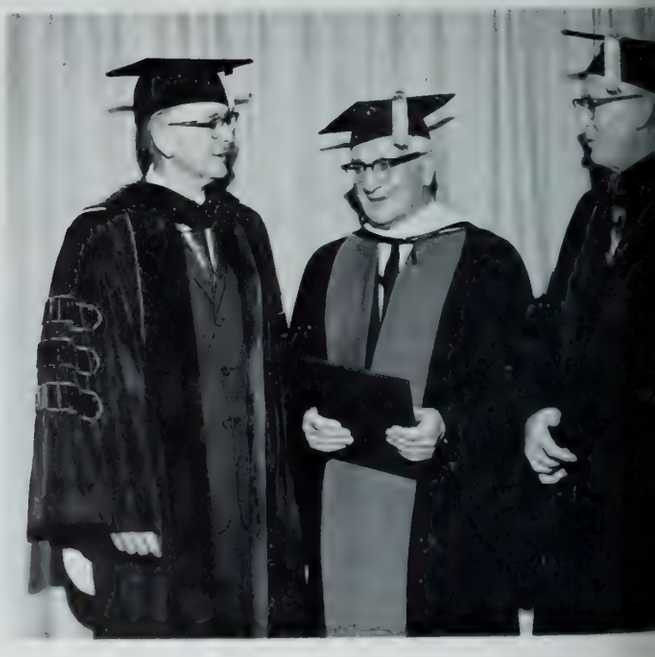

MRS. HENRY, our own First Lady, poses with the President.

FOLLOWING COMMENCEMENT activities, President Henry bestows honorary degrees upon Mies Van der Rhoes, Marian Anderson, and Dr. Albert Noyes.

PRESIDENT HENRY and Dr. Lyle Lanier, executive vice president of the University, greet guest speaker Dr. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis University, at the 1965 New Year Convocation.

PRESIDENT HENRY announces plans for the Krannert Center to architect Max Abramovitz, Executive Director James C. Colvin of the University of Illinois Foundation, Mr. and Mrs. Krannert and J. G. Thomas, president of the Foundation.

President David Dodds Henry

Dr. David Dodds Henry, who has been President of the University of Illinois since September of 1955, has a very distinguished background. A native Pennsylvanian, he was graduated from Pennsylvania State University with Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor of Philosophy degrees. He holds honorary degrees from twelve institutions of higher learning and has a membership in many honor societies. In the past, he has been quite active in various national educational organizations such as the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, Joint Committee of Educational Television, and American Council on Education. Also, Dr. Henry was president of the National Commission on Accrediting, as well as the Association for Urban Universities. President Henry has been recognized as a member of the Electoral College of the Hall of Fame for Great Americans.

ILLINI UNION STUDENT ACTIVITIES

IUSA

Union Gives Campus Entertainment and Culture Through IUSA

Musical evenings, art exhibits, Union movies, International Fair, Mom's and Dad's Day affairs, Student Written Musical and pep rallies are only a few of the numerous events sponsored by Illini Union Student Activities.

In each area of programs, numerous staffs work to plan effective and entertaining events. From president of the Union to department head to individual members of committees can be found a uniform effort to please Union patrons.

Two Boards Work in Conjunction to Keep Union Functioning

All the administration of the Union comes under the direction of Union Board. Composed of student directors and faculty members, the board defines policy, controls organization and administration and gives advice to the Union Director.

Illini Union Program Board is responsible for programming events which meet the social, cultural and recreational needs of the campus community. Board is staffed by the nine department heads, one staff advisor, one faculty advisor, and headed by the executive vice president.

Program Board strives to create programs that will please Union patronizers. Some new programs are Current Speakers Program and Publicity Board.

The Union Plays a Part in Every Level of University Life

"The Union is the community center of the college, for all the members of the college society—students, faculty, administration and guests. It is not just a building; it is also an organization and a program. Together they represent the well-considered plan for college life."

In accordance with the Union purpose, the directors head in the formulation of policy, guide long-range planning, do budget studies and carry on continuous evaluation.

IUSA Activities Are Aided by Public Relations Committees

Each year it is the task of the Personnel Recruitment Committee to interest students in IUSA activities. In the fall, Activity Day is held to inform students of the workings of campus organizations. The committee also finds positions for the seven hundred students who work in IUSA.

The Publicity Board sees that the campus community is well-informed about intellectual, cultural and recreational programs sponsored by IUSA for the benefit of the student.

Colorful International Fair Prompts Global Communication

HOMECOMING COMMITTEE—David Ellis, Diane Sudeikis NOT IN PANEL: Harry Vogelswiger, major chairman

Each year the foreign students at the University of Illinois pool their international resources to create the outstanding International Fair. The purpose of the Fair, sponsored by the Illini Union Student Activities Committee, the Association of International Students, and Zeta Phi Eta, the national speech fraternity, is to promote more understanding, communication, and friendship among peoples of the world. The goal is partly achieved through the unusual Copacabana Club, a simulated Latin American nightclub complete with Latin American dancers and music. The Club's "opening", in the first week of December, is followed the next weekend by the main Fair.

Months of preparation are poured into the Fair each year both by the participants and the Union Fine Arts Committee, which is responsible for organizing and carrying out special events of this nature. While providing thousands of people with many talented students, colorful costumes, and an opportunity to purchase imported items and unusual foods, the International Fair offers a chance to extend fellowship and broaden the mind.

Union Offers Varied Activity

The Illini Union Dance Committee supervises the annual major Union dances and the informal weekend record hops. Committee members book bands, schedule the dances and design the dance decorations. In addition to this work, the committee sponsors a series of dancing lessons.

Blue Dial, the Illini Union internal newspaper, is published every three weeks and distributed to the IUSA personnel. The paper attempts to coordinate activities by improving the communications among the various departments of the Union.

This year's format for Student Written Musical was a musical revue involving several short skits. In addition to these short situation comedies, the revue featured four satiric skits concerning various aspects of modern society.

Union Committees Aid Student

Current Speakers function as an organization to bring students and faculty closer together through informal talks. The topics differ each time, and the faculty and administrative speakers are chosen from a varied cross-section of departments.

Campus Talent, acting as a non-profit talent agency, endeavors to fill requests from campus activities and off campus organizations for professional and amateur talent; the names of students are kept on file for future reference. The committee also sponsored hootenannys and variety shows.

The newly formed Illini Union Publications Committee publishes an external and internal pamphlet for IUSA. The external pamphlet gives a list of Union activities, while the internal is designed to arouse student interest in Union activities.

Foreign Films Give Viewing Enjoyment to U. of I. Audiences

Each Sunday night Cinema International presents foreign films of the highest caliber to the University audiences. The staff of Cinema International goes to great lengths to choose the finest foreign films for presentation. By showing films of this nature, it is hoped that audiences grow to appreciate the culture of other countries and to develop a deeper insight into life all over the world.

Travel Service Aids Students

Staffed by students whose major qualification is interest and experience in travel, the Student Senate Travel Bureau handles the planning, selling, and execution of various reduced rate transportation programs for members of the University and their immediate families. Under its diversified program, group flights to Europe, campus bus service, and charter flights to New York are planned. Special events at last year's flights to the Rose Bowl game are also handled by the Travel Bureau. In addition to planning flights, the Bureau also serves in a consultant role on work, study, and travel abroad, orientating students who plan to travel foreign countries.

THREE MEMBERS of the Student Senate Travel Bureau Staff wait to help someone plan an American or European trip.

Senate Relieves Money Strain

WENDELL JENO, president of Student Senate

Undergraduate student government at the University of Illinois is conducted by a popularly elected body known as Student Senate.

Student Senate has been established to promote the welfare of the student body. It enacts policy as a guide for student activities, acts as liaison between faculty and student body and serves as an outlet for constructive opinion.

Among senate accomplishments this semester are the Student Discount service, Student Senate National Student Association life insurance program and Assembly hall reforms.

Senate has three divisions: executive, legislative and administrative. The executive committee consists of president, the three vice presidents, secretary, treasurer, public relations director, co-ordinations chairman and executive director of administration.

The executive branch is responsible for leadership in senate and carries out its decisions.

Bills Are Formed in District

Senate's legislative branch presents issues to be debated at the weekly Wednesday night meetings.

Much of the legislation that senators present originates in the district council meetings. Each housing unit elects a representative to take part in District Council Discussions. At weekly meetings, representatives voice their opinion, along with those of their housing unit. Through these discussions legislation is drafted to be presented on the floor of senate. The process works in the reverse manner, also; bills being debated in the senate are brought back to the district councils to gain opinions from the constituency.

Problems that plague an individual district are discussed, along with methods of solution.

DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVES air individual problems at District Council meetings.

REPRESENTATIVES TO FACILITY SENATE COMMITTEES—Richard Daeschner, Randy Poncher, Dawn Wood, Robert Byman.

Senate Committees Discuss and Alter Proposed Legislation

Much of Student Senate's work is done through its legislative committees: Educational Affairs, International Affairs, Campus Affairs and Student Rights. These committees review, refine and begin all legislation that goes before Senate.

The administrative committee of Senate are responsible for implementing service projects.

Each year the Conference Committee plans a High School Student Leadership Conference, encompassing students and faculty coming from 50 high schools, in discussions of their responsibilities to each other. The University leadership discussions are contained in the Allerton Conference attended by students and administrators.

Future Leaders Receive Training Through Freshman Seminar

Under the administrative committees of Student Senate are the Speaker Forum Bureau and Freshman Seminar. The Speaker Forum provides listings of faculty members and foreign students available as speakers and maintains a student forum program.

Freshman Seminar program is designed to bring together interested and capable freshmen in an exchange of ideas for the purpose of developing campus leaders. Before the seminarian is chosen, he must do well on a test and then be interviewed.

Campus Activity Scheduled by Co-ordinations Committee

The Co-ordinations Committee is an organ of the Student Senate which is responsible to the Committee on Student Affairs and the Dean of Students. The Committee is composed of twelve members, three of whom are faculty members. The student members represent the five major housing group governing organizations, the Illini Union Board, the Student Senate, the University Theater, and the Entertainment and Concert Board. The chairman is picked by the Student Senate Body and becomes an officer of Student Senate and an ex-officio Senator.

The duties of the Co-ordinations Committee are many and varied. It administers regulations applying to recognized student activities and supervises general University events. It approves the budgets for most University functions and handles the printing, issuing, and collecting of tickets. The Committee minimizes conflicts between events.

Committee on Student Affairs Strives for Modernization

The aim of the Student Senate is to provide for the welfare of the student body. The CSA, which includes the Student Senate President, Executive Vice President and Co-ordinations Chairman, makes recommendations for protecting rights of students. Before action may be taken on CSA suggestions, the vast administrative network must give an approval. The difficulty of co-ordinating schedules for shows put on by the Assembly Hall and student groups was discussed in CSA two years before it came to the attention of the campus. To prevent this problem of delay, it has been proposed that unless the University administration reaches a decision on the proposal within 30 days, the suggestions of CSA and Student Senate should be made final.

Senior Managers Make Star Course a Well-Run Organization

Serving as co-ordinating heads of Star Course are its two senior managers. One manager is responsible for keeping the internal organization of Star Course running smoothly. The other manager is in charge of all the financial aspects of the organization. Together they devise a general plan and budget which provide a working pattern for the entire organization. Beneath the two senior managers are eight juniors who are directly in charge of the specific activities of Star Course.

Juniors Conduct Responsibilities of Star Course Activities

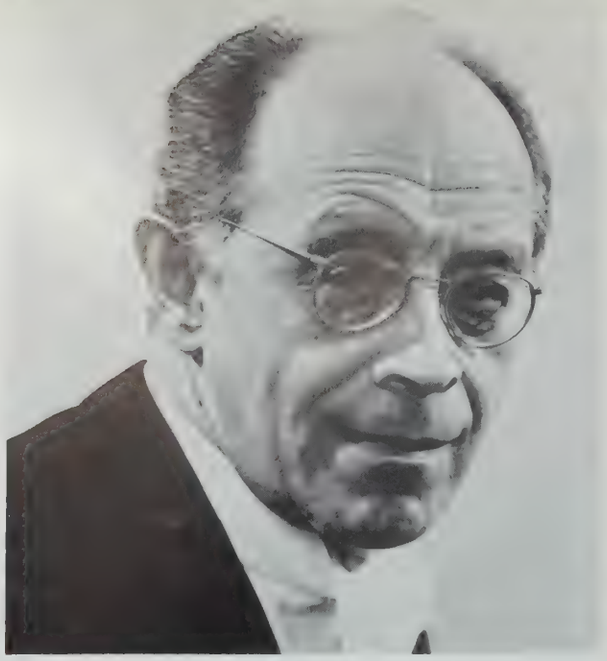

The eight junior managers are in charge of advertising, concert arrangements, secretarial work, tickets, public relations, personnel, and publicity. The publicity and advertising managers begin to make concerts known several weeks before they arrive on campus. Press releases and pictures are sent to local newspapers; flyers and posters are distributed. Accommodations for concert performers are made by the concert arrangements manager while the public relations manager arranges receptions.

Star Course Roster Augmented by Classical "New Dimension"

The 1964-1965 Concert Series opened the season with the London Symphony Orchestra on October 4. Throughout the year, the series provided classical entertainment from the Roger Wagner Orchestra and Chorale, basso Ara Berbarian, pianist Rudolf Serkin, violinist Szymon Goldberg, and famed classical guitarist, Andres Segovia.

The "extra" concerts featured entertainment for both the lover of classical music as well as the devotee of popular music. The featured concerts included The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, The New York City Opera, which presented "Die Fledermaus," and the New York City Ballet. The popular series included tenor saxist Stan Getz and songstress Astrud Gilberto; the Gaslight Singers and the Outsiders; The Ford Caravan of Music, featuring the Serendipity Singers and the Oscar Peterson Trio; the ever-popular folk singer Harry Belafonte; and South Africa's gifted singer, Miriam Makeba.

A Chamber Music Series, a new dimension in the Star Course roster, added four evenings of entertainment with such artists as Ralph Kirkpatrick, Henri Honegger and the Budapest String Quartet.

POPULAR SAXIST Stan Getz gave an exciting jazz concert performance.

RALPH KIRKPATRICK contributed his great talent to the new Chamber Music Series.

Campus Derives Pleasure from Low Cost, High Quality Shows

Star Course has been the source of culture and entertainment for over eight thousand persons in the combined University and resident community for the past seventy-three years. Throughout a year, Star Course presents a series of concerts designed to encourage the cultural advancement of its patrons. In fact, the purpose of Star Course is to bring the highest quality of entertainment for the lowest possible prices to the community.

A student-operated and non-profit organization, Star Course is organized under the Concert and Entertainment Board, a group consisting of six students and six faculty members. The Board assumes responsibility for policies, decisions and financial budgeting of the programs presented. Actual contracting of the performers is completed by the Entertainment Board, who notifies Star Course what entertainers will be coming to the campus. After the Board has selected the program for the year, Star Course begins its advertising campaigns for its performers by distributing posters and releasing articles for publication. The next step: to sit back and enjoy some truly fine entertainment.

Concerts Planned by Students

The other junior managers of Star Course handle tickets and concert arrangements.

While the concert is being publicized, the two ticket managers are furnishing tickets to the various box offices. The managers divide the tickets among the Auditorium, the Assembly Hall, and Smith Music Hall in the case of a concert series held in different places. The junior ticket managers also keep account of how many tickets are sold, supervise ticket selling the night of the concert, and make ticket reports after the concert.

An important part of the work of Star Course is handled by sophomores and freshmen. Forty managers comprise the sophomore staff and the freshman staff has eighty members on it. Their duties include keeping office hours, collecting tickets, ushering at concerts and learning every phase of Star Course work. Throughout the year, the members of the sophomore staff serve on each of the Star Course committees and work directly under the supervision of each junior manager. The personnel manager oversees the freshmen and sophomores.

University Theatre Combines Talent and Work to Advantage

To provide a unique blend of entertainment and instruction, University Theatre produced six plays this year through the combined efforts of faculty and student staffs. Presented to the community on the Lincoln Hall stage were Inherit the Wind, directed by Webster Smalley; School for Wives, with Clara Behringer directing; and The Hydrogen Jukebox, a Festival of Contemporary Arts farce under the direction of Bernard Hewitt.

University Theatre presented experimental drama and original productions at Armory Theatre. New techniques in the theatre arts were introduced.

Theatre Directed by Board

Faculty and student staff of University Theatre work together under the governing body of Theatre Board which regulates policy and exercises financial control. The board is composed of official representatives appointed by the president of the University, students who represent the undergraduate and graduate members of Theatre and faculty representatives of Speech and Theatre Department.

Under the Theatre Board, the entire organization is divided into faculty and student staffs. The faculty staff provides direction and supervision for all productions which are operated by the student staff. As executive director, Dr. Joseph Scott acts as co-ordinator for faculty staff and the student staff, directed by Gretchen Cornwe'l.

From Crew to Managers, Student Staff Generates Enthusiasm

Directed by senior managers, the Student Staff provides Theatre manpower and actors and conducts production operations. The junior managers, each responsible for his specific department, guide the sophomores, who hold "trainee" positions. Members of the crew, the "core" of the Theatre, generate endless behind-the-scenes enthusiasm.

Outstanding University Theatre participants are honored with membership in Mask and Bauble and National College Players.

FALSTAFF IS quickly stuffed into a basket in order to escape Mistress Ford's jealous husband in the farcical play, Merry Wives of Windsor.

University Theatre Presented Two Shakespearian Dramas

Two of William Shakespeare's most famous plays enlivened the spring productions of the University Theatre when the theatre group presented the playwright's farcical Merry Wives of Windsor and his tragic drama, Julius Caesar.

Those involved in the University Theatre often devote a great deal of time and energy to finding new ways of preserving the authenticity of productions. The theatre plays, presented on a replica of the original Globe Theatre stage in London for a setting, captured the flavor and atmosphere of Elizabethan drama. In addition to constructing a 16th century stage, the theatre group arranged for its costumes in Julius Caesar to be brought from New York to heighten the realistic and authentic effect of the production.

The amateurs in the University Theatre have the help of expert advice on the latest techniques of acting. Cast members strive for convincing acting even in mob scenes, when each player portrays a unique personality. In the Shakespearian productions, the students received professional help with acting from Mary Arbenz, who directed Merry Wives of Windsor, and Clara Behringer, who was the director of Julius Caesar.

DALE WOOLEY plays Mark Antony in the famous Shakespearian play Julius Caeser.

BETRAM KATES, Gary Gardner, stops the examination of his sweetheart, Rachel Brown, Gene Miller, as the townspeople of Hillsboro look on in shock.

Stirring Courtroom Drama Is Theatre's First Presentation

To open the 1964-65 season University Theatre re-enacted the tense courtroom battle in the play, Inherit the Wind, as directed by Webster Smalley. The play by Jerome Lawrence and Robert Lee tells about the Scopes "monkey trial" which took place in Dayton, Tennessee, 1925. The complex issue of freedom of speech in classrooms brought together two world famous lawyers in verbal combat.

Audiences who attended enjoyed the presentation of a real spider monkey on stage.

AN ORGAN GRINDER and his monkey add a note of humor to the serious discussion involved in the "monkey trial" on evolution.

LAWYER HENRY DRUMMOND, Larry Maraviglia, confronts his opponent, Mathew Harrison Brady, Terry Moore, with a piece of evolutionary evidence.

University Theatre Schedules Highly Entertaining Plays

Major Barbara, George Bernard Shaw's commentary on social conditions, was among the five productions selected by the University Theatre for performance this season. While Major Barbara was unusually well-received by the audience, the University Theatre continued its success with The Firebugs and School for Wives, both directed by Miss Clara Behringer, A Man For All Seasons, directed by Miss Mary Arbenz, and Hydrogen Jukebox, directed by Barnard Hewitt.

IN THE WEST Ham Salvation Army shelter, two castaways, Rummy Mitchems, Mary Sue Strine, and Bronterre Price, Guy St. Clair, discuss their fortunes.

AS MAJOR Barbara looks on, Andrew Undershaft, Mrs. Baines, Jenny Hill, and Adolphers Cusins prepare to march for the Salvation Army.

ANOTHER TRAUMATIC discussion disrupts the Undershaft household.

JOE HERNANDEZ, J. Keith Jensen, and Robert Grossberg witness the aftermath of Patricia Murphy's suicide in The Tenor.

TENSION IS evident between Tom Barton and Pam Picker in this scene from I'm Dreaming But Am I?

University Theatre Combines Unusual for Successful Plays

The smaller stage of Armory Theatre provides a setting for the unusual and experimental in drama. Here graduate students direct, and bills are produced with plays written by student playwrights of the University Theatre as contributors.

The first bill consisted of three one act plays presented on November 12-14. Herbert Kline directed The Collection, and Frank Wedekind did The Tenor, and I'm Dreaming But Am I?, written by Luigi Pirandello, was directed by Robert Scribe.

BILL, KENNETH Lillquist, and James, George Glenn, enact a tense moment in The Collection by Harold Pinter.

FIRST PLACE show presented by LAR North and Armory House was set in the Yukon, and included a pantomimed satire of villian, heroine and Keystone Cops.

THE MIXED up fairy tale of "Jack and the Beanstalk," second place winner presented by McKinley Hall and Newman Hall, depicted Jack's adventures in Hades.

Unique Theme, Unusual Shows Characterize Dad's Day Revue

IPC Dedicated to Maintaining Illini Publications Quality

Supervision of many Illinois' student publications has, for the past 54 years, been the full-time project of the Illini Publishing Company. A non-profit organization, IPC has recently expanded with the addition of more publications and employees. It is controlled by a governing board composed of four faculty members and four students. The faculty members must be nominated by the Dean of Students before being appointed by the President of the University to serve a four-year term. The existing board then selects the four student members on the basis of scholarship and interest.

From the student publication headquarters located in the Illini Hall basement, IPC board assumes the responsibility of selecting the editors of the DAILY ILLINI and the ILLIO. In addition to printing the DI, the company provides administration for Technograph and the University of Illinois radio station, WPGU. IPC also discusses the numerous problems of the publications it supervises, thus keeping them running smoothly and efficiently. Through IPC, the public continues to receive the outstanding publications for which the University of Illinois is known.

In the course of one week, photo staff members receive innumerable assignments from the Illio and Daily Illini editors. Illio calls upon photographers to find interesting and amusing pictures for University Life section, as well as getting exciting action shots for Sports Section. Daily Illini pictures center on all aspects of campus living, from Homecoming to Student Senate elections.

Illio Is Product of Large Staff Headed by Senior Editors

The four managing editors of the Illio editorial staff regulate and guide the entire staff. The personnel editor arranges interviews for those applying for the Illio staff. Checking pictures and cropping with lay-outs is the task of the photo editor. All staffs turn in their copy to the copy editor who checks the materials for grammar, content and spelling mistakes. Supervising the Illio production is the editor-in-chief.

In addition to individual assignments, all editors work together to co-ordinate each section so that the final product is uniform.

CAROL HAMILTON and Sally Folger, editors of Residences Section, look through the old ILLIOS to see if improvements can be made in the 1965 edition.

Yearbook Illustrates Every Event of One's College Career

The Illio is divided into six sections: Residences, Activities, Organizations, Sports, Seniors and University Life. Each section is directed by two juniors. These editors see that copy and layout are completed in time to make the deadline. In addition to the junior editors there are sophomore and freshman managers that help complete the book.

The Organizations Section handles all the religious, professional, service and honorary clubs in the University. Housing units are covered in the Residences Section; house officers and traditions are listed in this section. The Senior Section is a summary of activities and honoraries each senior has participated in during his years of college.

BURIED UNDER a mountain of senior information sheets, Editors Lynne McNown and Carole Barclay begin the task of alphabetizing and classifying.

UNIVERSITY LIFE looks as if it is a sobering experience judging by the expressions of Helene Bielinski and Robert Johnson, editors.

Individual Staffs Cover Variety of University Activities

Through the work of three different divisions of the ILLIO many staff members learn a wide variety of experiences. The University Life Staff reviews general changes in the University of Illinois campuses over the year and also presents an accurate account of students' life. They work in conjunction with the Photo Staff to obtain candid shots of each camupus. Activities Staff presents the highlights of the year's dances, various publications' news, and other entertainment events. The staff concentrates mainly on extra-curricular organizations. The Sports Staff offers a rundown on all sports events at the University. This includes all major, minor, and seasonal sports.

Illio Provides Excellent Training for Tomorrow's Writers

Freshmen and sophomores on the Editorial staff of the ILLIO assume the responsibility of meeting set deadlines and gain knowledge of the publication processes. They also learn more about their university while working in various departments, including campus life, activities, organizations, residences, athletics, and seniors. The freshmen and sophomores working on each of the six staffs are selected on the basis of interest and willingness to work. While the sophomores write copy and make layouts, the freshmen assist in all phases of production, thus learning how to publish an ILLIO.

The Daily Illini Is a Student-Run, Independent Newspaper

Proud of a long tradition of editorial freedom, the Daily Illini, 94 years old, is now being rated as one of the nation's top two college dailies. The Daily Illini, which subscribes to the College Press and Associated Press wire services, is published by the Illini Publishing Company. With a circulation of 6300, the paper requires a 125 member staff to prepare the newspaper each day.

Workers for the Daily Illini are divided into several separate staffs, each with an editor. The divisions are: business, state, city, news, copy, activities, campus, sports and personnel.

Engineers Do Entire Magazine

Unlike the students of any other college on the Illinois campus, students in the College of Engineering have a monthly publication—Technograph.

Founded in 1885, Technograph is the oldest and one of the largest engineering publications in the United States. Engineers, sometimes referred to as being relatively illiterate, do all work on the magazine, including writing, cover drawings, page layouts, editing, business correspondence and advertising and subscription sales. Undergraduates comprise the staff; however, positions are not limited to engineering students. Working on the publication, presents an opportunity for students to meet faculty members in their college.

Nearly every sizeable engineering school has a technical student magazine, but few of them use a local-oriented new approach as Technograph does. The magazine reports on engineering research being conducted at the University and accomplishments of students and faculty in the Engineering College.

Technograph is published eight times during the school year, once each month, October through May. The magazine is self-supporting through national and local advertising and through subscriptions. As one in a link of more than 50 member magazines of the Engineering College Magazines Associated, Technograph serves as a means of communication between the students of the University of Illinois College of Engineering and engineering students on other campuses throughout the country.

The letters WPGU are very familiar to the thousands of students on the Urbana-Champaign campus of the University of Illinois and also to the many alumni as the call letters of the student-operated radio station on the campus. Often described as the "Student Voice and Dial Choice," WPGU does entertaining for 11,000 students living in 24 residence halls and one foundation dormitory. At the present time, the station has an application before the Federal Communications Commission for a commercially operated FM broadcasting license.

Today, it is really one of the nation's largest financially independent closed-circuit or "carrier current" radio stations. Equipment that is worth well over $20,000 and purchased through the sales of radio time to local and national advertisers is housed in studios located in the University's Weston Hall residence basement. At Weston Hall, WPGU is provided with the necessary broadcasting facilities used throughout its programs.

Student-Run Radio Serves Varying Interests, Moods

Variety in programming is a key to WPGU's success on campus. The station provides a well balanced schedule of music, news, and special events. Attempting to satisfy diverse interests, WPGU presents programs of classical and popular music. An hour a day is devoted to specialized music.

WPGU is a big business, and approximately 200 volunteer students and a seven-member managerial council are needed for the operation of the station twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. The students working at the station are not only communications majors, but come from various colleges, ranging from commerce to agriculture. To work at the station, interested students sign up for some jobs, such as engineering or secretarial work. Auditions are held for those who want to go into announcing or news casting.

While some members of WPGU's staff are working only for fun, others hope to use experience gained at the station in careers in the radio industry.

Board Rises to Challenge of Changing University Life

The Board of Fraternity Affairs, endeavoring to promote understanding and harmonious relationships among fraternities and other housing groups on the campus, strives to be the instrument through which Interfraternity Council members adapt to the challenges of university life.

Established in 1946, the Board acts as a fraternity policy-making body, serving as the board of appeals for the Interfraternity Council's Judicial Committee decisions and making the ultimate recommendation to the Subcommittee on Student Discipline when University rules and regulations are involved in a policy decision.

This year the Board, consisting of three faculty fraternity members, three alumni members, five students who are elected officers of the Interfraternity Council Executive Committee, and the Assistant Dean of Men for Fraternity Affairs, devoted a large portion of its time to discussing and evaluating the Interfraternity Council's rush programs during the past year.

Additional projects of major significance were the preparation and writing of the history of the fraternity system at the University of Illinois, a comprehensive study of scholarship programs, and the discussion of a co-operative buying plan within the fraternity system itself.

The Board of Fraternity Affairs desires to develop each fraternity so that it will fit into the fraternity system effectively while maintaining a satisfactory academic record, sound finances, and clear disciplinary standards. The Board attempts to bring a clearer understanding of responsibility and leadership to the fraternities.

Executive Committee and Program Board Execute IFC Policy

The Interfraternity Council strives to provide the atmosphere for acquiring an education and to make positive contributions to the development of each man in a physical, moral, social, and intellectual way. In two of its seven divisions, the Executive Committee and the Program Board, most of the general IFC policy is drafted. Executive Committee, composed of the elected officers of IFC, discusses issues of interest for presentation to the Council. Program Board prepares programs from policies ratified by the Presidents' Council for presentation to Executive Committee for approval.

President's Council Has Final Authority in IFC Structure

Two other of the seven divisions of IFC execute important functions. The President's Council acts as the legislative body of the system and has final authority over the other five divisions. It is composed of the presidents of the 57 fraternities. The President's Advisory Committee, composed of ten fraternity presidents, analyzes programs of IFC and advices the Executive Committee.

Junior Interfraternity Council Keeps Pace With Times

Junior Interfraternity Council has been changed this year to improve its services for fraternity pledges, creating an organization that has become an active voice of pledge classes. The creation of a JIF Co-ordinating Board has effected a closer liaison between JIF and IF, providing better training and education for its members.

Several aspects of university life, including scholarship, public relations, social activities, publications, rush, and pledge training, have been given definite attention by JIF through constant improvement and explanation. Reports and surveys, special service projects, discussions, speakers, and case studies have helped secure more appreciation and undertanding of these areas.

One of the highlights of this new program was a JIF Pledge Class Meeting, held at the start of the fall semester. A stimulus for interest in IF and JIF, it was the first assembly of its kind and allowed pledges to meet Dean Minton, IF Executive Council and Program Board members, and IF and JIF representatives from each house.

With the formulation of a specialized advisory system and a Co-ordinating Board, JIF and IF have been able to maintain a close relationship. JIF is also provided with an advisory system.

The new program has proved to be far superior to those of the past and is a good example for the future. An efficient JIF paves the way for a well organized and functioning fraternity system.

Panhellenic Institutes New Plan of Deferred Rush in 1965

Panhellenic combines and solidifies the goals of every sorority. It supports the academic and social development of each individual living under the sorority system. Sorority girls are encouraged to participate in various campus activities and thus to broaden their experiences, to make a genuine contribution to the university, and also to gain personal enjoyment and satisfaction.

The primary structure of Panhellenic remained unaltered this year except for the elimination of the position of junior senator as a consequence of a new senate ruling. Panhellenic operates through an Exectuive Council and its President's Council, which govern the twenty-five national sororities. The Executive Council is the executive and judicial section, while the President's Council serves as the legislative body.

This year's rush, one of Panhel's most important programs, was delayed until second semester. The advantage of deferred rush, the new plan, is that freshmen are given a chance to go into rush after being on campus for one semester.

Panhellenic functions are not restricted to sorority activities. With the Interfraternity Council, it is publishing a magazine intended to establish finer communications between the two.

Rush Problems Are Responsibilities of Judicial Committee

Rush infractions, petitions for initiations, and house problems are decided by Judicial Committee.

Five members-at-large and the chairman discuss each individual case with regard to consequences and precedent. Secret ballots are taken on each petition and recorded for reference.

After each rush, a special committee goes over problems and rough points of the last rush. Their recommendations enable the next rush to run more efficiently and more effectively.

Committee is Sounding Board for Opinions

The ten-member WISA-Panhellenic Co-ordinations Committee serves as a forum where the opinions of all women on campus can be aired. The committee investigates any problem arising over privileges, regulations and responsibilities. By working with the Dean of Women and with the various house presidents, the committee attempts to maintain a satisfactory environment for learning. In addition, members of the committee work to further good relations between WISA and Panhellenic.

IFC, Panhell Re-Schedule Greek Week's Festivities

This year Greek Week, presented annually by the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils, changed from the spring to the fall. Under the leadership of Major Chairman Vicki Snyder and Chuck Hulick, the week of November 16-22 was scheduled with many traditional activities, such as the Illiolympics and a few new ideas, like a bridge tournament for fraternity and sorority house mothers.

College Bowl finals and an informal dance for the entire campus climaxed Greek Week.

Prom Has a Midwestern Flavor

This year marked the presentation of the 52nd annual Plowboy Prom, sponsored by the Agriculture and the Home Economics Council. The theme for the dance was "County Fair," and couples were appropriately bedecked in traditional costumes. Girls clad in calico and their escorts dressed in levis were square dancing in the Illini Union Ballroom.

For the less "athletically inclined" couples, relaxing music was provided. Johnny Bruce and his orchestra entertained in the Illini Room. The atmosphere offered an authenticity of country-style peacefulness. The highlight of the dance was the crowning of the plowboy queen. Chosen to be queen by couples attending the dance was Cheryl Smith. The crowning of the 1964 Queen, Cheryl Smith, was done by last year's royalty, Pat Clickener.

In accordance with the main idea of the Prom, a folksinging group also participated on the entertainment agenda. The audience listened while eating box lunches prepared by the "plowgirls" for themselves and their dates.

PLOWBOY PROM WAS an evening to remember for Cheryl Smith, 1964 queen.

World Travel Is Part of YWCA

Conferences in Lebanon, Colombia and Mexico are a part of the opportunities offered by the YWCA at the University. It is a place where ideas can be enccuntered in depth, making one's education more meaningful. Students are singularly in charge of planning the Y programs and seeing them executed.

The University YMCA — Bustling Center for Many Activities

The YMCA holds a unique place in the University of Illinois community by sponsoring many programs. Activities range from such functions as Freshman Council, Little United Nations, and International Supper to Camera Club, Freshman Firesides, and the Civil Rights Committee. The YMCA also serves as an informal meeting spot for a chat over a hamburger or a cup of coffee. It is no wonder then that the Illinois "Y" has grown to be one of the oldest and largest YMCAs of its kind in the country.

MIA Stands for Men in Action

Men's Independent Association this year unofficially adopted the phrase "Men In Action" as its name. MIA has proven itself to be a group of active, energetic and interested individuals directly concerned with the man living independently at the University of Illinois. MIA attempts to increase the number of benefits its members can present to and derive from the campus as a whole.

As usual, the MIA social calendar was full this year, with the annual Dad's Day Revue, sponsored by MIA, WISA and MRHA, beginning the season. The theme of this year's Ruvue, "If You Only Knew . . .," provided great opportunity for creative and entertaining shows. The next big social event was the Sno-Ball dance, "Frosty Fantasy," presented by MIA and the Women's Independent Student Association.

Through its program, MIA showed itself to be a true leadership organization.

MIA Expands Services Through Both Old and New Programing

In the past year, MIA established the Freshman Board to provide leadership training for outstanding freshmen. MIA's constitution and by-laws were also revamped and reorganized.

In addition to these innovations, MIA retained many of its past programs. Ideas were exchanged at the annual leadership conferences, activity and scholarship awards were presented at a spring banquet, and relations among houses were co-ordinated by the Monday Council.

MICHAEL FOX, president of Men's Residence Hall Association

MRHA Puts Emphasis on Individualism in Houses

The Men's Residence Halls Association tries to provide a program of activity which will interest and involve a group of 5,000 men. Through the activity, the Association attempts to help each resident develop scholastically, socially, and culturally. Among the programs sponsored throughout the year by MRHA are leadership training sessions, band concerts, and various speakers.

Because of its continual expansion and the decentralized locations of its residence halls, MRHA places more and more emphasis on individualism on the part of its member houses. Each hall is urged by the Association to appeal to the varied interests of its individual residents.

The Executive Council of MRHA represents MRHA on campus and manages the internal business of the Association. The Council advises the President's Council on MRHA and campus affairs.

An Executive Board Governs The Immense MRHA Structure

President's Council and Judicial System are the main governing bodies of MRHA.

Legislative changes are handled by President's council; it is here that the constitution, by-laws and judicial code are reviewed. The council also appropriates funds and selects its officers.

Corrective measures are decided upon in the judicial system of MRHA. Cases are first reviewed by the judicial boards of the individual houses. In most instances, the case will be settled at the first level of judicial action. If an appeal is made, however, the Association Judicial Board will review the appeal and make a decision concerning the case in question. The MRHA Judicial Board has jurisdiction in more serious disciplinary matters.

The Judicial System of MRHA is designed to be used primarily for corrective measures and before punitive action is necessitated.

Illini Guides Help to Make U. of I. Introduction Enjoyable

Once again, as in the past, Illini Guides continued to fulfill their duties in the orientation of new students. The students serving as Guides are a specially selected group, who enjoy working with incoming students and are willing to give up their time. Guides receive training at the spring and fall workshops. During summer, Guides correspond with "their" freshmen. In fall they arrive early to help introduce students to the U. of I.

Guides also helped in the Student-Faculty Television Forums, New Year's convocation and planning programs for individual houses.

MARTHA HERM congratulates excited Catherine Crawford, Sno-Ball queen.

Sno-Ball Toasts "Jack Frost"

Nov. 7 was the date for the fourteenth annual Sno-Ball, sponsored by Women's Independent Student Association and Men's Independent Association.

Jack Frost decorations put couples in a winter mood. Tables and chairs were set up in the South Lounge which allowed a few moments of relaxation between dances. A lovely evening gave couples an excuse to wander out on the patios during intermission. Voting for the queen was done by placing ticket stubs in the ballot boxes. At 11 p.m. the votes were counted. After the queen's crowning, a coronation dance was held, led by the royalty.

A dozen roses and a charm bracelet were given to the queen. Each member of the court was also given a bracelet as a remembrance of the evening.

Queen Coronation Highlight of Fourteenth Annual Sno-Ball

The highlight of the 1964 Sno-Ball, sponsored by the Women's Independent Student Association and the Men's Independent Association, was the crowning of Miss Catherine Crawford as the fourteenth Sno-Ball queen. After being crowned at midnight, she was presented with a trophy.

The dance's theme, "Frost Fantasy" was borne out by the decorations which depicted Jack Frost painting windows and trees on the dance floor.

Wayne Karr's orchestra provided the music.

An Ever Expanding WISA Initiates Many Novel Programs

1964 was a special year for WISA; the organization celebrated its fiftieth anniversary. Dean of Women Miriam Shelden presented a history of the organization at the fall presidents' workshop.

The first group of independent women students organized in 1914 and met weekly to talk and knit. In 1922 the group became a service organization and was named Women's Group System. The group became Women's Independent Student Association three years ago.

The first year as a group, WGS raised $75 for Madame Curie; in 1963 WISA gave $2000 in awards and scholarships.

All independent women on campus are members of WISA. Living units in the organization range from small co-ops and private houses to huge dorms.

Over the year, WISA sponsors a wide variety of activities. This year WISA helped start campus-wide tutoring programs. 1964 also began a three year scholarship drive. Other activities include: Freshman board, Dad's Day Review, Sno-Ball, spring mothers' luncheon, and freshmen mixer.

Freshman Board and Second Council Active in WISA Affairs

Freshman Board, composed of fifty freshman women, acts as a training ground for future work in WISA and other activities. The members plan programs acquainting them with the faculty and staff, campus activities, and other cultural aspects. In spring they also present a Mom's Day Luncheon.

Composed of presidents and representatives from different houses, the Second Council serves as the voice of WISA on campus. It meets weekly and receives information about important events and issues on campus; this information is then distributed to individual WISA members.

Freshmen Are Aided by Guides

Freshmen entering the University no longer have to fear the bigness and strangeness of the campus. Illini Guides, trained to know freshmen problems, are there to greet new students. Guides provide maps, detailed instructions for registration and even advice on how to study effectively.

All Illini Guides work closely with their groups. Living in the dorms or houses helps the guides to give advice when the problem occurs, instead of having to meet later on campus.

WESA Plans Sports Activities

The Women's Extramural Sports Association provides advanced instruction and competition for all interested undergraduate women who have completed a basic course in the activity or who have comparable skill. All of the activities are planned and supervised by student sports managers and faculty advisors from the Department of Physical Education for Women, who work together in the organization of the sports, sports days, and tournaments. WESA stems from the former Women's Sports Association.

HEATHER KINSEY, 1964 St. Pat's Ball Queen

Royalty Crowned at St. Pat's

St. Pat's Ball, named for the patron saint of engineering, is held each March on a weekend near St. Patrick's Day. The dance honors outstanding members of Engineering Societies by dubbing them the "Knights of St. Patrick's Court."

The Queen of the ball is selected from candidates chosen by the various student societies composing the Engineering Council. The Queen and her court reign over the dance. Music is provided by a talented and popular orchestra.

SNIB Keeps Students Up to Date on the News

The Student News and Information Bureau publicizes the College of Agriculture's activities and projects. SNIB tries to keep students, faculty, and residents of Illinois informed of the events which occur at the University concerning College of Agriculture students.

Because its main job is publicity, the Bureau tries to use several types of information media. The monthly digest and the weekly news sheet are distributed to Agriculture students. Exhibits in University buildings inform the students and faculty about programs of interest. News releases, taped radio features, and photographs are distributed throughout the state. Every media section is headed by a specialist in a certain area of the communications network. Along with providing interesting news material for students, faculty and the public, SNIB gives students actual experience.

75-Year Tradition of Concert Band Upheld in 1964-1965

For 75 years the Concert Band has been a musical legend on this University campus, throughout the state, and throughout the nation. Over these years countless thousands have heard the Concert Band play and have come away entertained.

1964-65, Diamond Anniversary Year, the Concert Band upheld its great tradition and set its step on the threshold of a new day in music. Conductor Mark Hindsley combined the Concert Band's years of experience with his own background and presented a new approach in concert music.

In celebration of the Diamond Anniversary, the Band gave a January and April concert. They also took the traditional northern Illinois tour.

Star Course, Statewide Tours Was Orchestra's Agenda

University of Illinois Symphony Orchestra is a student group famous throughout the state and the midwest. Under the direction of Professor Bernard Goodman, the Orchestra has gained a reputation for superb and polished performances. From January 31 to June 4, 1964, the Orchestra toured and played in Central and South America.

Membership in the Orchestra is open to any student who, through competitive audition, can meet the required level of musical proficiency.

The 1964-65 concert season was of exceptionally high quality. Fall found the Orchestra performing in Aurora and Carpentersville. The Orchestra also performed in the Star Course Series.

First Regimental Performs in Twilight Band Concerts

The First Regimental Band, organized as a concert unit, studies and performs both traditional and contemporary concert literature. Several important concerts climaxed the year, the most notable being the Eleventh Annual Festival of Concert Band Music, January 15-16, the Spring Formal Concert on April 14, and the May 19 Twilight Concert.

The Band also serves other important functions on campus by forming the central nucleus for the Marching Illini, providing music at several spring ROTC Reviews, and performing at some of the home Illinois basketball games in the Assembly Hall.

Second Regimental Band Plays at Varied UI Functions

Members for Second Regimental Band are chosen through auditions each semester and daily in the summer. Instrumentation needs at that time and a person's ability to play affect whether he will be selected to be in part of the band.

The 130 member band performed at various functions throughout the year. On January 15 it performed at the Eleventh Annual Festival of Concert Music and on May 12 at a Twilight Concert. Also, the band played for the Washington University, the Ohio State, and Michigan State U. home basketball games at the Assembly Hall.

Glee Club Carries on Traditions of Quality and Enjoyment

The Varsity Men's Glee Club was organized approximately 80 years ago. The men who formed the group had as their objective the creation of fine music, friendships, and good times. Today, still keeping the old tradition, the Glee Club brings to audiences quality music and gives to its members enjoyment through singing.

In the summer of 1965 the members will once again go on an extensive European tour, performing in France, England, Germany, Greece, and Italy.

Glee Club Actively Earns Their Title of "Singing Illini"

The Varsity Men's Glee Club has indeed earned a nickname as the "Singing Illini" this past year. It performed for two concerts at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor and one at Olivet College in Olivet, Michigan. It also performed for the Phi Eta Sigma National Convention, and the Midwestern Bankers Assn. Convention, in addition to the University of Illinois Christmas Concert. Supplementing its busy itinerary, the Singing Illini found time to make a Thanksgiving and Christmas television performance and, at the request of the Governor, record the Illinois State Song.

IT WAS a trial for the glee club at Michigan to keep from cheering, but voices had to be saved.

IN OLIVET, Mich., the club received a standing ovation at world-famous Oaks Theatre.

Tours and concerts filled the 1964-65 singing agenda of Women's Glee Club.

The club, directed by Elmer Thomas, on sabbatical from the University of Idaho, began its busy year with a television performance during Thanksgiving vacation. At Christmas time, the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs sang together for the school of music annual holiday concert.

In the spring the club toured northern Illinois giving concerts in Chicago and surrounding areas. The Glee Club also performed for the annual Moms Day Concert. At a special choral clinic, choral conductor Robert Shaw, was in the audience. Mr. Shaw wrote a letter to the Club's director complimenting the girls on their performance.

Music sung by the girls is of a varied nature. Pieces range from the classical to modern, from Bach and Palestrina to Bernstein.

Glee Club membership is available to those who have musical ability and like to sing.

Choir Has Active Campus Role

The Concert Choir, under the direction of Professor Harold Decker, has established a fine reputation for its precise and sensitive performances of pieces ranging from Negro spirituals to choral works of Johann Bach, Palestrina, and Victoria, as well as those of leading contemporary composers.

Members of the choir are selected through audition each fall. Although the majority of the members are music majors, many other colleges within the university are represented.

In past years the Choir has appeared with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, sung under Sir Thomas Beecham, Roger Wagner, and also Robert Shaw, and has participated in the NBC "Great Choirs of America." During the summer of 1963 the Choir toured Europe for three weeks. This year the Choir appeared several times on campus, including the annual choral clinic in the fall, the Christmas Concert, and the spring Contemporary Arts Festival.

Choral Groups Bring Musical Variety to University Campus

University Chorus is composed of approximately 100 students, most of whom do not pursue musical careers but enjoy coming together to sing. The Chorus, under direction of Malcolm Griffin, gave a Christmas and Spring concert.

This year University Chamber Choir, composed of a select group of about 25 men and women, continued its tradition of quality music. At a concert which combined music of all sorts, old and new members performed together harmoniously.

Madrigal Singers are a small select section of the Illinois Concert Choir. Each fall members audition and 12 members form Madrigal Singers. The group specializes in choral chamber music.

A university is many things: an intellectual institution, a device for learning an occupation, a social merry-go-round or, perhaps, a blend of elements. The student who limits himself to one element misses the advantages of knowing and understanding other viewpoints.

On a campus such as U. of I., with a variety of activities, all one has to do is look and he finds a comfortable spot. Union, Star Course, DI, University Theatre, Illio and the hundreds of other activities offer one the chance to belong and to work towards a goal. The activity does not become the primary interest in one's life; it does, however, provide a place for individual expression.

Illini Open With 20-14 Win

The Illini held off a late California surge to win 20-14. Illinois controlled the entire contest until the final two minutes when the Golden Bears' quarterback, Craig Morton, led a desperation drive that almost upset the Illini.

Quarterback Fred Custardo and fullback Jim Grabowski led the Illini scoring attack. Custardo's passing put the team into scoring position twice, and he plunged over from the one for Illini touchdowns. Grabowski scored on an 18 yard sweep.

Outstanding defensive play by Don Hansen, Dick Butkus, and George Donnelly held California to one touchdown and stopped Morton's passing until the closing minutes of the game. The Illini held on until time ran out and continued their dominance over West Coast opponents.

Team Effort Topples Wildcats

Showing a much improved pass defense and a very solid offense, Illinois marched over Northwestern 17-6 in the Wildcats' home stadium.

Fred Custardo and Sam Price paced the offense with a pair of touchdowns and a field goal. Sophomore end Bob Trumpy caught six of Custardo's ten completed tosses for the finest performance by an Illini end in six years. Price scored both touchdowns, the first on a 33-yard pass from Custardo and the second on a 10-yard dash around end.

Northwestern's quarterback Tom Meyers was kept under constant pressure by an alert Illini front line. He completed only nine out of 28 passes for a shabby .322 afternoon average.

Illinois' defensive plan was to guard the pass receivers tightly so as to give the four man front line more time to rush Meyers. Coach Pete Elliot rightfully claimed that by rushing with only four men the secondary had more help with the coverage, forcing Meyers to delay, often too long, before he could throw the ball to an open man.

Ohio State Ruins Illinois Homecoming

Before 71,227 homecoming fans, the most ever to fill Memorial Stadium, Ohio State dealt Illinois' National Championship hopes a harsh blow, 26-0.

Illinois took the opening kickoff and marched quickly to the Ohio State 36-yard line. A slant-pass was then deflected into the hands of Ohio's John Fill, and the Illini did nothing right after that. Ohio State did nothing wrong.

By the time the half had ended, Ohio had been on the scoreboard three times—first on a 23-yard gallop by quarterback Don Unverferth, second on a one yard plunge by Willard Sander, and finally on a 29-yard field goal by Bob Funk.

The Buckeyes scored once in each of the final periods also, again with the help of Sanders and Funk, to end their scoring with 26 points.

Coach Pete Elliott offered no excuses for the loss. "They just outplayed us," he said flatly. "The Illinois team just had one of those days that come along. When they got that interception and that touchdown—boom—from that time on we didn't do anything right." It was a sad homecoming.

Defense Spoils Minnesota Homecoming 14-0

Two second quarter scores, coupled with bruising tackles and strong line play, led Illinois to a 14-0 victory over Minnesota's "Golden Gophers." An alert Illinois defense picked off five Gopher passes and recovered two fumbles as 60,475 homecoming fans in Minneapolis watched in despair.

"That was a real big game," Coach Pete Elliott admitted in the Illini locker room following the contest. "It carried an awful lot of importance. And I'm real proud of the boys."

The Illini bounced back from their Ohio State loss superbly. Defense was especially outstanding. Illinois all-American Dick Butkus grabbed the football out of Minnesota's Mike Reid's arms to set up the first touchdown, and Dave Mueller's interception laid the way for the second. George Donnelly saved a sure fourth quarter touchdown as he sped across the field to snare a well-directed Gopher aerial from the third Minnesota quarterback.

Coach Elliott beamed with satisfaction at the whole Illini squad following the game. He singled out Jim Grabowski, Fred Custardo, Donnelly, Butkus, and Don Hansen for special praise for the excellent games they played.

BIG TEN RUSHING leader Jim Grabowski plunges over the goal line for a four yard touchdown.

"The offense got a lot of yardage . . . and I'm pleased with the defense" was Coach Pete Elliott's reaction to a near perfect Dads' Day. Leading the offense was fullback Jim Grabowski with 142 yards and three touchdowns. Behind the blocking of Ed Washington, he barreled over from the nine for the Illini's first score of the afternoon.

Just one minute and 50 seconds after the Uclans scored their only touchdown, Washington again led Grabowski on a 33-yard touchdown jaunt. Midway in the third quarter, quarterback Fred Custardo climaxed a 92-yard drive as he plunged over from the two. Grabowski then ended the scoring with a four yard touchdown over right tackle.

The defense gave up only 100 yards rushing and held mighty Larry Zeno to just seven completions in 19 attempts. George Donnelly led the secondary with two of Illinois' four interceptions.

Purdue Passes to Victory

"It was a fine game—for Purdue." That was all Coach Pete Elliot had to say following the Illini-Boilermaker clash, and it was all that was necessary. The final score of 26-14 told the rest.

Bob Hadrick, Purdue's hopeful All-American end, set a new team record collecting eight passes for 95 yards. The squad added 135 yards on the ground and yielded only 63 to Illinois.

The lonely Illini bright spot was quarterback Fred Custardo, who had nine completions in 19 pass attempts. He connected for a 142 yard total, 25 more yards than Purdue's Bob Griese picked up.

Dick Butkus accounted for 20 tackles, but the All-American failed to give Purdue's quarterback the usual Butkus rush. "It was the best protection I've ever had," Griese asserted afterwards.

Boilermaker Coach Jack Mollenkopf had nothing but praise for his team in the locker room. His description was very apt, "The team with a burning desire to play well and win."

Errors Cost Illini Game 21-6

"It's tough to play that well and find yourself behind 14-6 at the half," sighed Pete Elliot. "We outplayed Michigan the first half, but killed ourselves with those mistakes."

Illinois' defense contained Michigan's offense, and the offense moved the ball well except for two fatal errors that set up Wolverine scores. Fred Custardo was rushed hard, and Frank Nunley intercepted and returned the ball to the Illini 36 yard line. Carl Ward scored four plays later.

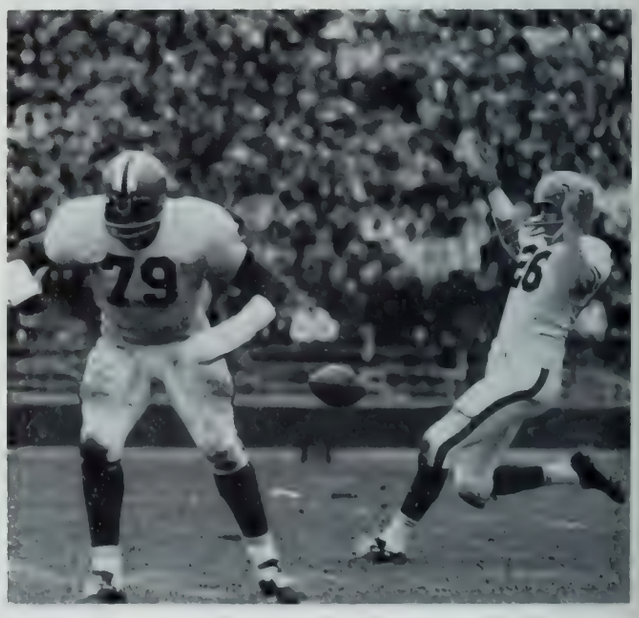

Illinois bounced back quickly as Custardo climaxed a 70 yard drive with a 49 yard scoring pass to end Bob Trumpy. The Illini then held and took over on downs, but Trumpy fumbled a 13 yard pass to set up Michigan's second touchdown.

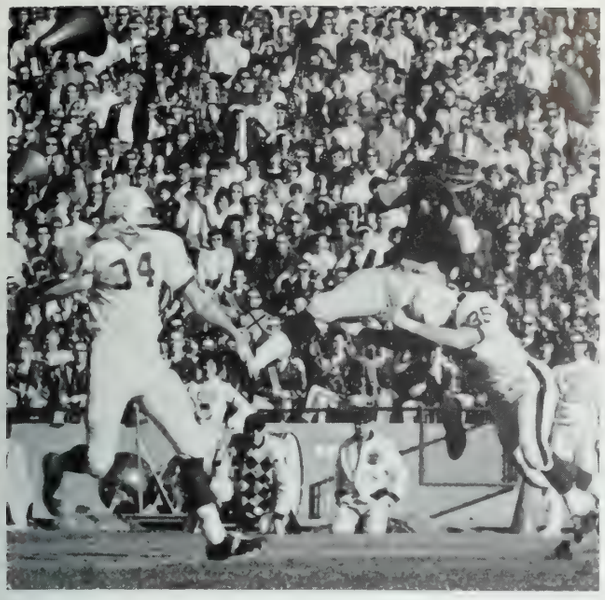

In the second half the Wolverines clinched the game with a 94 yard march. Bob Timberlake scored and Illinois had lost its third game.

Grabowski Shatters 21 Year Record

Wisconsin fell prey to the flying feet of Jim Grabowski on the first play of the Illini-Badger clash and never fully recovered. The junior fullback carried the ball 21 yards around end to start the first Illini drive and left the field only after scoring his second touchdown and Illinois' fourth. Sandwiched in between the first and last plays, Grabowski devastated that Wisconsin front and the secondary line for 239 yards, breaking a 21 year Big Ten record of 216 set by Minnesota's Bill Daley back in 1943.

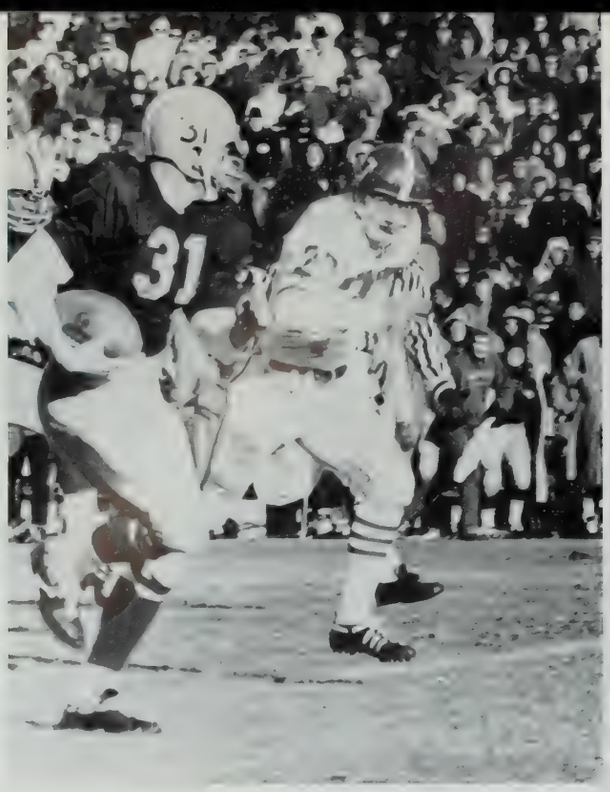

Illinois gained over three times as many yards rushing as Wisconsin; Grabowski almost twice the badger total. Defense was superb. The Illini got their best score, 29-0, in the last 44 games in a crushing exhibition of real football.

Illini Win Season Final 16-0

The Illini ended the season with a 16-0 victory over Michigan State. In praising the team, Pete Elliot commented, "One of the big factors was the number of seniors who have brought credit to the University of Illinois."

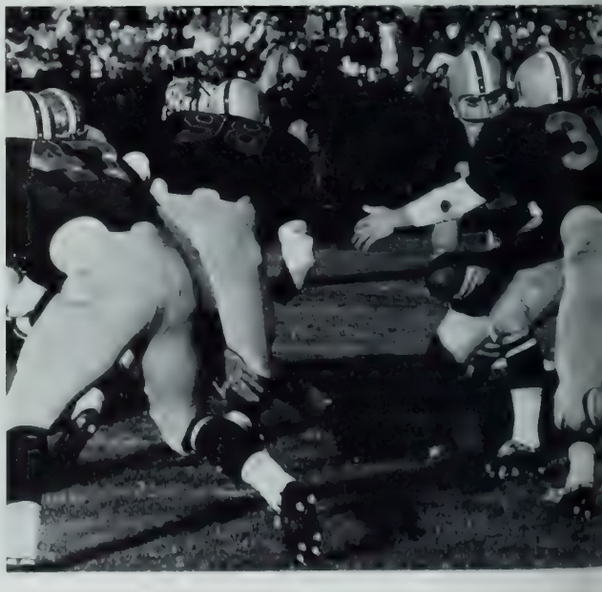

As in the Illini's other five victories, credit for the win was shared equally by the offense and defense. Illinois gained 288 yards rushing and 92 yards passing. Jim Grabowski sparked the Illini attack with 185 yards on the ground with which he won the individual rushing crown in the Big Ten.

The defense, led by All-Americans Dick Butkus and George Donnelly, was outstanding once again. Butkus' 18 tackles helped hold the Spartans to 66 yards rushing, and Donnelly's fine pass coverage highlighted the secondaries play in allowing only 45 yards passing. The defense tied the Illinois record with 23 interceptions of which Donnelly accounted for 12. The win was a team effort all the way and a proper finish for a great football team.

Illini All-Americans

Seldom does a team have more than two All-Americans. The Illini boasted four of the outstanding players in the nation in 1964. The fine play and leadership given week after week by these men is a tribute to Illinois and to Coach Pete Elliott.

DICK BUTKUS HAS received almost every honor offered to a football player; this year he was third in the voting for the Heisman Trophy and was selected as the nation's outstanding lineman.

Cagers Set Illinois Scoring Record

The Illini cagers finished a very respectable third in the Big Ten, which saw five teams rated in the nation's top ten. The highest scoring team in Illinois history scored an Illinois high of 121 points twice during the season.

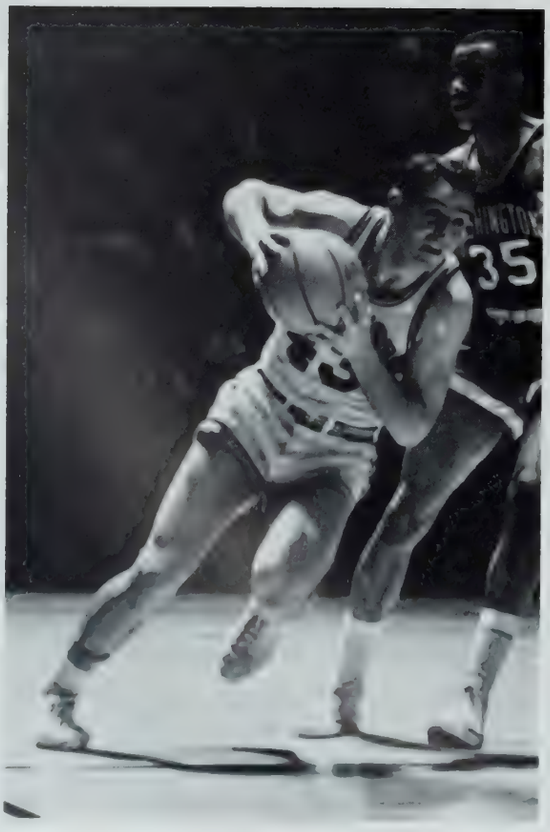

They defeated Michigan State 121-89 in the last game of the year in which three of the "Big Four" saw final action. Skip Thoren, Bogie Redmon, Tal Brody, and junior Don Freeman scored 88 points as the Illini tied their own Big Ten record of fifty field goals in a single game.

Fine support was given throughout the season by Joe Vopicka, Jim Dawson, and Bob Johansen. Coach Harry Combes commented after the final game, "This team's as good as any I've coached here. They've also earned a lot of fans just by the way they've played." The season included a victory over first ranked U.C.L.A. and a one point loss to Michigan.

Thoren Leads Team for the Second Year

Skip Thoren was voted most valuable player for Illinois for the second year in 1965. In spite of an ankle injury in the second half of the season, he led the Big Ten in rebounding and led Illinois in scoring with 22.2 points per game.

AFTER BLOCKING an Indiana shot, Thoren reacts quickly in an attempt to save the ball.

Although only 6-2½, Don Freeman was second in rebounding for the Illini. Freeman's 18.3 average gives him an opportunity to break the Illinois career scoring record in 1966. His quick moves enabled him to out-score and out-rebound taller opponents game after game.

After two years of frustration, Bogie Redmon reached his potential in 1965. Scoring 20 points for the first time in his career, he finished the season with a 15.2 average. Grapplers Finish in the Middle of Big Ten Meet

ON WAY TO an important takedown, Andy Zinderis uses leg leverage to fell his opponent.

Illini wrestlers hoped to improve on their 1964 performance. Coach Pat Patterson was not too optimistic as that season opened. "The team will be extremely green this year, and there is no correspondence school for experience."

In 1965, after losing only three lettermen and with that year's experience, the Illini were ready for a much better season. Joe Domko, 157 pounds, placed second in the Big Ten championships despite a broken nose. Patterson claims he would have won easily had he not been injured and expects him to be favored in 1965. Clayton Beattie, 147 pounds, could also lead the grapplers to victory. Beattie was undefeated in 1964 dual meets and later upset in the championships. Solid performance by these two was expected, and the team success was determined by the improvement of the rest of the squad.

A BRILLIANT THRUST is skillfully parried by a good defensive move in a championship epee match.

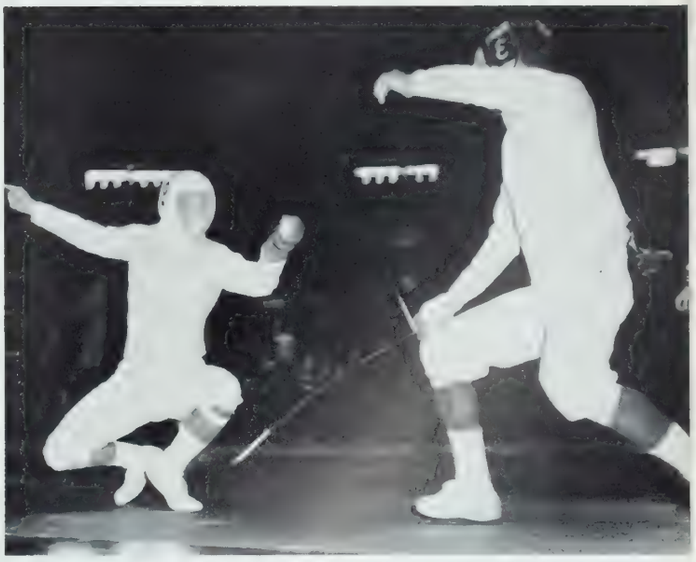

Illinois' 1964 fencing season was nothing extraordinary. For the fourth time in four years, the team and their veteran coach Mac Garret captured the Big Ten fencing championships. Junior Craig Bell went on to win the NCAA saber fencing title, and the entire squad was honored by a ranking of seventh in the nation.

This year the prospects are once again amazingly good. The saber and foil teams are expected to become even stronger with the addition of upcoming freshmen. Ron Offrect in particular was cited by Garrett as a man to watch. With senior Craig Bell and junior Roger Garret, 1965 looked like another Big Ten championship year for Illinois fencing.

Swimming Coach Al Klingel was looking forward to a better 1965 season. A winning coach in eight out of his eleven years at the University, he was hopeful that the 1-7 record of 1964 could be considerably bettered in 1965.

Injuries and graduations hurt the '64 team, but practice and sophomores should see an improvement this year. Strength should be coming back to the sagging Illini tankmen as they take advantage of their dearly gained experience. In addition, the Coach has indicated that last year's freshman team was one of his more successful ones. In the next few years, Illinois' swimming picture should get brighter and brighter if Coach Klingel's past records and predictions are any indication.

Illinois' gymnasts finished fifth in 1964 with a team composed mainly of sophomores and juniors. Looking toward 1965, Coach Charles Pond said, "The meet showed gymnasts with lots of promise, and the boys performed as well as expected."

With that important year's experience and the loss of only one letterman by graduation, the team expected great improvement. All-around performer, Victor Sanchez, developed into one of the finest competitors in the conference. However, the loss of Bill Silhan because of a knee injury hurt the team considerably. Junior John Eliason, sidehorse standout, and senior Llewellyn Iffland, trampoline and free exercise, picked up the slack with fine work throughout the year. Wayne Wagner, rings and free exercise, was the 1965 Captain.

Hard work was the key to success for Coach Leo Johnson's trackmen. After a mediocre fifth place cross country team and a sixth place finish in indoor track, Illinois steadily improved to finish third in the Big Ten Outdoor Track Meet.

Olympic star, Trenton Jackson, led the Illini with victories in both the 100- and the 220-yard dashes. Dave Becker, with a fine time of 1:20.5, earned the thinclads' only other first place title in the 660-yard run. Mel Blanheim had two second place finishes behind Jackson, helping the Illini sweep the 100 and gain additional points. Bogie Redmon, with fourth in the discus, and Al Carius, with a second and fourth in the mile and two mile runs respectively, rounded out Illinois' impressive 33 point finish in the meet.

At the First Olympic Trials at Randalls Island, N. Y., Jackson qualified for the Olympic team with a time of 10.1. Jackson was also named Outstanding Performer in the Central Collegiate Conference Meet and was awarded the John P. Nicholson Award by being voted top athlete by the press and radio. The junior speedster will come back next season as Co-Captain with Dave Becker.

Diamondmen Fail to Repeat

RON CHRISTOPHER raps a sharp single to left in Illini victory over Purdue.

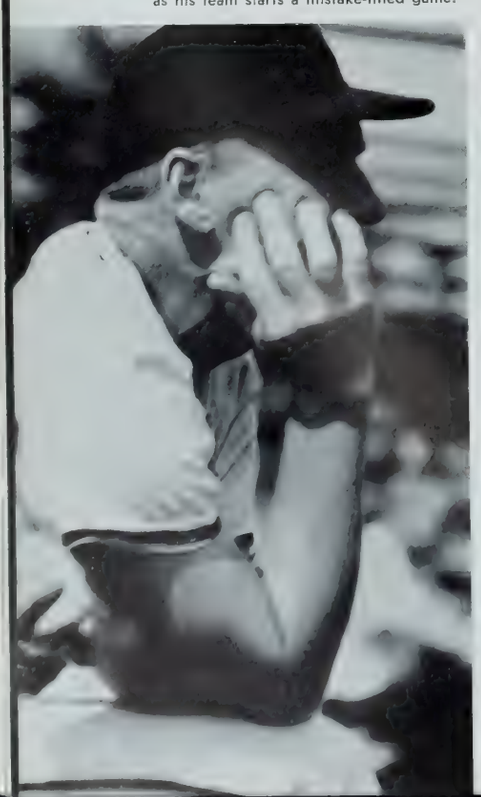

After a respectable performance in pre-season games, Coach Lee Eilbracht's diamondmen slumped to the worst Big Ten season in Illinois history. The Illini opened the season in Texas with a 5-4 record earning them a 20th rating in national polls. The team collected 97 hits, 31 of them extra baggers, and 80 runs in their 317 official trips to the plate. Optimistic Coach Eilbracht stated, "I think this year's team could be even better than last year's club." But all the opening promises, even Eilbracht's, were left unfulfilled.

The Illini, who had batted .307 in Texas, lost their keen eyes and tumbled to a .204 squad average. Teamed with equally disappointing pitching, the team finished last in the Big Ten.

Pitcher John Secrest, who missed the first half of the season because of illness, recorded the one Illinois conference win. After a perfect 5-0 mark in 1963, Jerry Weygandt failed to win a game.

Although Lee Eilbracht's batsmen did poorly in the 1964 season, the Illini have had many distinguished seasons since Eilbracht took over the job. In 1952 and 1953 the Illini tied Michigan for top honors, and in 1962 and 1963 won the Big Ten title outright. As a tribute to his success in coaching Coach Eilbracht was appointed coach of the United States baseball team for the 1964 Olympic Games.

Hope for Illini Batsmen

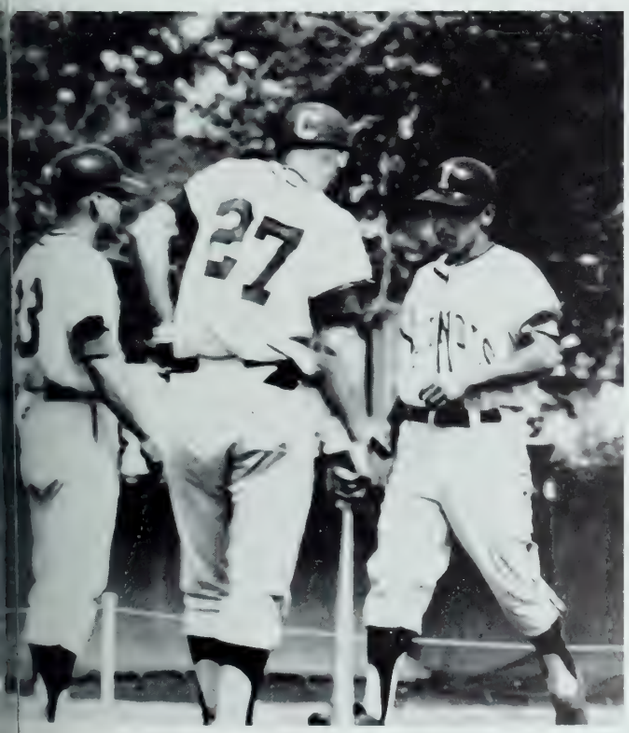

Sophomore shortstop Jim Vopicka paced the lone Big Ten victory against Purdue with a grand slam home run. Five of the six Illinois scores came in the second inning as the Illini finally won 6-1.

Ron Christopher led the Illini batsmen for the season with a .286 average. Vopicka was next in line with a .260 average and was elected the Most Valuable Player of 1964. He was given the additional honor of being named to the Olympic Baseball squad. Ron Maurer, junior center fielder, was chosen captain for the 1965 season.

Linksmen Slip to Ninth

Balance was the key to the Illini's first five dual meet victories. Illinois defeated Wisconsin, Illinois State, Northern Illinois, Principia, and Eastern Illinois before their first loss to Northwestern 16½-19½. Coach Ralph Fletcher commented, "We have no individual players this year, but all the players are on a par and they should progress as the season progresses."

The Illini's improvement tapered off in their next four matches. The team's inability to score carried over into the Big Ten meet in which they finished ninth with a disappointing total of 1568.

Captain Doug Foster tied for 12th place in the 72 hole tournament, and Captain-elect Chuck Kohr shot 308 for 15th place. Don Simon was the linksmen's only other top twenty man with a 314 finish which was good enough for 19th place.

Netmen Finish Seventh

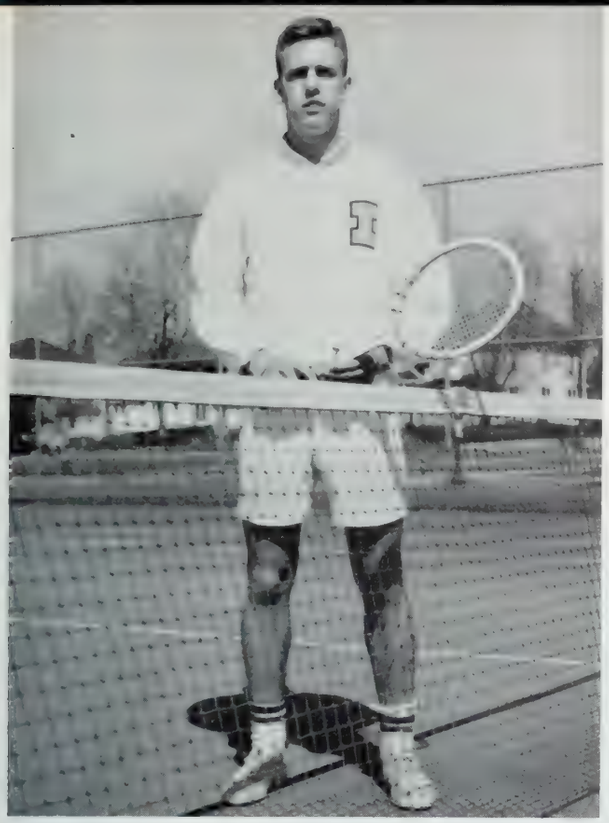

Illinois opened the season with twin wins over Emory College and Mercer College. Following these victories, Coach Bob Lansford commented, "Considering the lack of practice, the team looked fine. They show a great deal of promise. With more experience, they should have a fine season."

When the Big Ten championships started at the Illini's home courts, however, their promise dwindled. Only Tom Bauer and the doubles team of John Sisson and Bob Shineflug advanced to the semifinal playoffs. Shineflug and Sisson put on the longest match of the tournament, winning 10-8, 8-10, and 6-4 on the first day of play.

The Illini finished seventh in the conference and had an overall season mark of 9-10 in the dual meets. Tom Bauer was elected captain for 1965.

Butkus Chosen Athlete of the Year

Center Dick Butkus, in his junior year, was honored as the Athlete of the Year in an all campus election held in the spring. Since the election he has received additional national acclaim. In his last season he was named Lineman of the Year and was third in the Heisman Trophy voting. Perhaps the highest national honor for Butkus was his first team mention in every All-American selection.

Craig Bell, junior, led the Illini fencing team back to Big Ten prominence as they won the Big Ten championship by a wide margin. Bell took a third place in saber competition at the meet, and then followed by winning the NCAA championship.

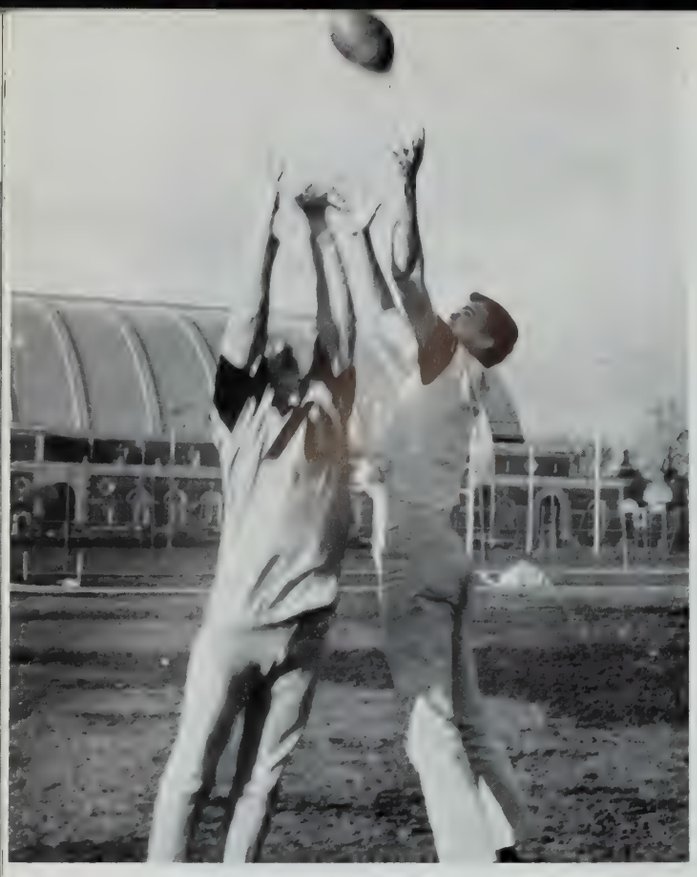

In the fall he was defensive end on the gridiron; in the winter he wrestled with the best of them; and in the spring he covered first base easily. This Rich Callaghan has become one of only four to win nine Illinois varsity letters.

Skip Thoren, junior center for the basketball team, blossomed into a fine all-around player during his second year of varsity play. Leading the Illini in scoring and rebounding, he was voted as Most Valuable Player at the close of the season.

Trenton Jackson, star sprinter for the Illini track team, topped off his year by winning a pair of firsts in the 100- and 220-yard dashes at the conference meet. Later he earned a berth on the Olympic track team and finished eighth at Tokyo.

Intramural Sports

The Department of Intramural and Recreational Sports offered competition on both an individual and team basis. Enthusiasm was evident as participation reached an all time high.

Team sports were divided into independent and fraternity competition with the fraternities being broken into Orange and Blue divisions on the basis of house size. Points were awarded for league and play-off victories to determine an over all champion in each of the three divisions.

Trophies were awarded to the winners of Recreational sports such as wrestling and golf. Co-recreational sports in which both men and women compete were especially popular.

SIGMA IOTA EPSILON

Founded at the University of Illinois in 1927, Sigma Iota Epsilon has become a national honorary fraternity for men and women in management. The original purpose was to encourage high scholarship among those commerce students majoring in industrial management, but now the society also selects its members from those having an interest in the general field of management. Members must have a 4.0 all-U and a 4.0 in management courses.

Two of the basic objectives of the group are to stimulate interest and achievement in management and to promote scholarship and research in the development of the scientific approach to the solution of problems in the business world.

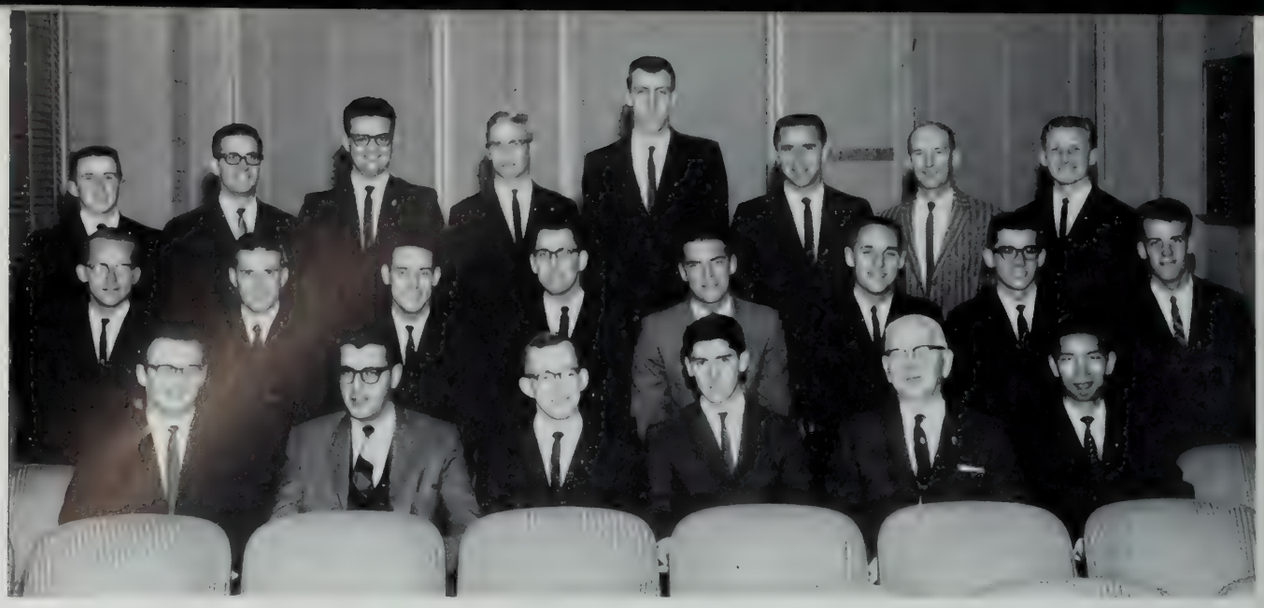

BETA ALPHA PSI

Founded at the University of Illinois in 1919, Beta Alpha Psi is the only national honor fraternity in the field of accounting. Those accounting majors who have maintained a high scholastic average in all courses are chosen for membership. The honorary actively promotes scholarship among all students by sponsoring a tutoring program in some of the basic accounting courses and by holding review sessions near the end of each semester.

Frequent luncheons allowed the members to get better acquainted with each other and with invited faculty speakers. Beta Alpha Psi also sponsored an invitation banquet and field trip to a public accounting firm during the first semester.

TAU BETA PI

The first engineering honor society, Tau Beta Pi was founded to recognize those who have brought honor to their Alma Mater by exhibiting superior scholarship and exemplary character as engineering undergraduates or by their attainments as alumni in engineering. It also seeks to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges.

To become a member of the fraternity a student must have maintained a 4.75 average after four semesters, 4.5 after five semesters, or a 4.25 after six semesters. Each year the Illinois Alpha chapter holds a banquet where they present an award to the outstanding freshman engineer who has excelled in scholarship and activities.

SIGMA TAU

Sigma Tau Fraternity was founded in 1904 as an honorary fraternity of engineering students whose purpose it was to recognize high scholarship and professional attainment. During the past school year the membership, which includes juniors, seniors, and faculty, observed the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the local chapter.

The chapter secretary, Charles Allen, was sent as chapter representative to the biennial conference of the 33 national chapters held in Dallas, Texas, last November. During the last Engineering Open House, the members constructed and operated a nineteenth century electric computer. Forty-two members were welcomed at the Initiation Banquet.

PI TAU SIGMA

Founded at Illinois in 1915, Pi Tau Sigma is a national engineering honorary. The society is devoted to fostering high ideals of engineering and developing desirable qualities in mechanical engineers. Membership selection is based on student-faculty ratings and scholastic record.

The members constructed a display for Engineering Open House and won the $50.00 first prize for the display which best explained its field. The group also conducted a tutoring service for freshmen and sophomores in the mechanical engineering curriculum. At the annual Awards Banquet an outstanding sophomore was honored. In addition the group arranged sports matches with the faculty.

ETA KAPPA NU

Now numbering over 100 chapters, Eta Kappa Nu was founded at Illinois with the purpose of recognizing outstanding scholarship achievement in the Electrical Engineering Department.

The honor society conducts a program which benefits both the students and the E. E. Department. The members hold bi-monthly meetings that feature such well-known speakers as Dean Everitt and the Nobel Prize winner Dr. John Bardeen. For the benefit of the electrical engineering students, they sponsor a refresher course before the professional engineer's exam. Each semester the society presents an award to an outstanding graduating senior in the department.

CHI EPSILON

The members of Chi Epsilon devote themselves to improvement of the civil engineering profession. They strive to improve civil engineering as an instrument for a better society, to advance the best engineering education, and to aid in the development of successful civil engineers.

The national fraternity was founded at Illinois in 1922 and now claims over fifteen thousand members across the nation. Monthly meetings are held at which pledges are chosen from juniors and seniors in civil engineering based on interviews and scholastic achievement. The pledges develop and maintain a display during Engineering Open House.

GARGOYLE SOCIETY

There are two purposes of the Gargoyle Society. The first of these is to recognize and to reward scholastic achievement. Secondly, they strive to encourage fellowship and communication of ideas.

Membership in this honorary organization is for students in the Department of Architecture only. Pledges are selected on the basis of excellence in scholarship, character, and architectural ability which they have previously demonstrated.

Two pledge smokers were held for the purpose of acquainting prospective members with the society. During the year the programs for the Gargoyle Society included both faculty forums and lectures on contemporary problems in architecture.

KAPPA DELTA PI

The national co-educational honor society in education, Kappa Delta Pi, was founded at Illinois in 1911. The society now numbers 239 chapters in 46 states with a total active and alumni membership in excess of a quarter million. Since 1935 the University of Illinois Alpha Chapter has been making an annual scholarship award of $100 to the top-ranking senior in education whose name is engraved on a plaque in the new Education Building.

The society encourages high professional, intellectual and personal standards and recognizes outstanding contributions to education. Persons exhibiting sound scholarship and commendable personal qualities are invited to become members.

MASK AND BAUBLE

The highlight of the past year for the members of Mask and Bauble was an excursion to the Studebaker Theater in Chicago, at which time they were introduced to Larry Parks who was starring in Any Wednesday. He was a former president of the group while an undergraduate at Illinois. Other activities included the annual banquet in the spring and the officer-initiation ceremony.

Mask and Bauble is the local honorary for participants in college theater work. Founded at the University for the promotion of campus drama, active membership totals forty students. The best candidates for membership are pledged and initiated each spring for their acting or crew work.

PHI UPSILON OMICRON

One of forty-six national chapters, Pi Chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national Home Economics honorary, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1926. The two-fold purpose of the club is to honor the members' achievements and to enable them to learn more about their profession. Members are chosen from among those undergraduates or graduates in Home Economics who have completed forty-six hours of study and are in the upper forty percent of their class.

This year Pi Chapter sent its president, Sara Gusse, to the National Conclave in Columbus, Ohio and also initiated Dr. Mary Mather, Professor of Home Economics, as an honorary member.

ALPHA SIGMA NU

Strength of the body, mind and spirit signifies Alpha Sigma Nu, the Physical Education honorary. The organization's purpose is to recognize junior and senior women who have maintained a sound scholastic record, demonstrated leadership, and given outstanding service to the organizations promoting women's physical education activities. The year 1909 marks the organization's founding date on the campus of the University of Illinois.

The ideals of Alpha Sigma Nu are proficiency in Physical Education, dynamic leadership, wholesome living, high standards of intellectual development and a spirit of sportsmanship which carries over into the everyday life of the members.

THETA SIGMA PHI

During the year professional journalists spoke to the women of Theta Sigma Phi, national professional fraternity. This year's speakers included Mr. Gene Graham, Mr. Micheal Kenyon, and a panel of local professional women. The group also met journalists at the Matrix dinner, the Ladies-of-the-Press brunch, and during the chapter's trip to Chicago over a recent week-end.

Membership is open to junior and senior women committed to careers in journalism. Goals of the group include working for a free and responsible press, uniting women in communications, rewarding distinguished journalistic achievement, and maintaining high professional standards.

ZETA PHI ETA

Tau Chapter of Zeta Phi Eta, a national professional speech fraternity for women, was founded on the University of Illinois campus in 1937. Members are selected on the basis of high scholarship and interest in speech as a profession. Since its founding Tau Chapter has taken an active role in both campus and speech activities.

Last summer the Pearl Bennett Broxam Memorial Scholarship for professional achievement was presented to Tau Chapter; a deserving member of the honorary received the scholarship. This year Zeta Phi Eta participated in International Fair when they ran a successful Sweet Shoppe selling pastries and other desserts.

MU PHI EPSILON

Epsilon Xi Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, an international professional music sorority, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1951. Its goals are the acknowledgment of musicianship and scholarship and also the promotion of friendship within its sisterhood. Members are required to be music majors or minors with a 3.8 average and at least a "B" in their applied music subjects.

Mu Phi schedules at least six musical programs during the year, including weekly performances on WILL. The group also sponsors an annual Christmas Cookie Sale and Mom's Day Luncheon. Proceeds from this year's pledge project were used to send some underprivileged chi!d to camp.

PHI MU ALPHA SINFONIA

Alpha Xi chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity is one of 215 chapters throughout the nation. It is a professional fraternity dedicated to the advancement of music in America; more specifically, they are dedicated to the advancement of American music. Membership is open to any male undergraduate who expresses an active interest in music and meets certain scholastic standards.

Members were active in most university musical organizations. In conjunction with their two sister sororities, the fraternity provided ushers for musical events occurring in Smith Music Hall. The group also hosted the Province Workshop held during the month of November.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA

Sigma Alpha Iota, an international, professional sorority for women in the field of music, is organized to help develop and raise the standards of music in America and to help members to uphold the highest standards of musical education. The Sigma Delta chapter here at the University participates in various music school events along with ushering at concerts and performing on WILL radio.

The group's three main activities were a Dad's Day Brunch, a February concert given by the members, and the Mom's Day Brunch. Sigma Delta has held teas for the artists who are honorary members visiting our campus through Star Course. The fraternity also gave various music scholarships.

OMEGA BETA PI

Omega Beta Pi, a national pre-medical honorary fraternity, was organized to promote interest in the study of medicine and to emphasize the importance of good work in college.

Membership is open to any students planning careers in medicine with a University grade average of 4.0 or above. The by-monthly meetings featured films and guest speakers covering current topics of medical interest. Awards were presented to superior freshman, sophomore and senior members including a trophy, the Patton scholarship, and an award of fifty dollars respectively.

Highlighting the year was a debate on Medicare between Senator A. Rubicoff and Dr. E. Annis.

SCABBARD AND BLADE

Founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1905 as a national military society, Scabbard and Blade chooses its members from among the outstanding advanced course cadets. The coed sponsor chosen to represent the company at formal events was Carol Kristen, a freshman in agriculture and member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. The annual military Ball and the Invitational Drill Meet were included in the group's social functions for the year.

The local chapter, designated F Company First Regiment, is the oldest military organization on campus. Its rifle team met regularly at a local firing range, and a saber team was maintained to provide demonstrations at various campus events.

PHALANX MILITARY FRATERNITY

Founded at the University in 1925, Phalanx Fraternity soon spread to other campuses. The name Phalanx was taken from a formation of fighting men used by Alexander the Great in conquering the then known world. Today, as in the past, Phalanx plays a role as a brotherhood of potential fighting men who symbolize the American ideal.

To fulfill their purposes, which are to promote the interest of military training and aid in the preparedness of the country, the national honorary fraternity invited speakers to talk on pertinent military topics. Members also help decorate for Military Ball and plan a banquet before the dance. Finally they present medals to outstanding cadets.

PERSHING RIFLES

The National Society of Pershing Rifles is an honorary fraternity for military students in any of the three services' R.O.T.C. programs. Basic cadets —freshmen and sophomores—join by pledging. Ideals of the society include high military proficiency, good citizenship, and co-operation among student officers of all services.

Color guards for all home football and basketball games, commencement, and other University activities were provided by local Company C3. They support three drill teams: a graduation marching unit, an exhibition unit, and the popular comedy team. Activities varied from the annual Illinois Drill Meet to the Military Initiation Ball.

TRIDENT

The chief aim of Trident Naval Honor Society, the vocational and social fraternity for the future officers of NROTC at Illinois, is to acquaint the future officer with the various facets of military protocol and vocation. Membership in this fraternity is restricted to juniors and seniors, first and second class midshipmen, who show high military aptitude and a sincere desire to support the high standards of the group.

Monthly meetings featured both Naval and civilian speakers. The men were also active socially, having exchanges with military sororities and female drill teams, hayrides, the Spring Formal and the annual Trident Ball.

DIVISION OF INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

By strengthening its internal managerial system this year, a big step toward meeting the goal of providing leisure pursuits through physical recreation for all interested women students has been taken in the women's intramural program. Formerly the Co-Recreational Policy Committee composed of the sports managers conducted all activities under the program. Now, however, the group's responsibilities are more clearly defined.

The Senior Student Co-ordinator, Junior Activities Organizers and Sophomore Activity Assistants are selected on the basis of petitions and experience. These women maintain regular office hours and manage the individual competitive sports. The managers gain experience in planning, supervision and actual administration of the intramural program. They are responsible for publicity, conduct and evaluation of all women's activities.

The men's intramural managers of the Division of Intramural Activities are chosen each year to provide student leadership in the program of organized competitive sports for men. The managers, along with housing group representatives, set the rules and policies for the operation of the men's program, and the managers are directly responsible for its successful conduct. The managerial staff is composed of three seniors and six juniors who are advanced from within the manager program and ten to sixteen sophomores chosen by the senior managers through interviews.

SHI-AI

Fifty freshmen sorority women are recognized by Shi-Ai, the sophomore women's activity honorary, on the basis of outstanding participation in house and campus activities. Two members are chosen by each sorority chapter in the spring of their first year and serve as pledges during their sophomore year. Throughout the year, the girls attend bi-monthly dinner meetings, participate in skits and fund-raising service projects, and plan programs with special speakers.

Shi-Ai has an expanded purpose and program and a new advisor, Miss Patricia MacNamara. As well as furthering an interest in activities and other people, the girls are studying the possibilities of merging with Alpha Chron and affiliating with The National Spurs, a sophomore women's activity, scholarship and service honorary which has forty-three national chapters in fifteen states.

The new Shi-Ai group gave a Valentine's party for underprivileged children in the Champaign-Urbana area in February, held an exchange with Skull and Crescent, the sophomore fraternity men's activity honorary, and planned a competitive entertainment, Shi-Ai Sing.

The national scholastic honorary for freshmen women, Alpha Lambda Delta was founded at Illinois in 1924. Since that time Alpha chapter has always been a pace-setter in promoting high standards of learning for all women. Membership requires a 4.5 average for the first semester or a combined average of 4.5 for the freshman year.

Alpha Lam offers a program of scholastic assistance given free of charge to all freshmen women having difficulties with their studies. Each year the members entertain freshman girls who have at least a midterm average of 4.0 at a Christmas Tea. In the spring the Alpha Lams honored past members who had maintained a 4.5 average throughout their seven semesters at a Senior Tea. They also sponsored a joint booth at Activity Day with Phi Eta Sigma, freshman men's scholastic honorary.

In addition to regular members, Alpha Lam initiated the following honorary members this year: Miss Linda Hester, the Assistant Dean of Women who served as advisor to the group, and Mrs. William P. Donovan and Mrs. Edward Brandabur, both of whom are University instructors who are very much concerned with fostering a general interest in the importance of continued education for women.

PHI ETA SIGMA

In 1923 Phi Eta Sigma was founded at the University of Illinois to encourage and reward high scholastic attainment by freshmen men. More than 75,000 men have been initiated since then, and now over 125 chapters represent nearly every state in the Union. Those freshmen men who carry a normal academic load and achieve a 4.5 average in their first semester or those who compile an average of 4.5 for their first year are eligible.

The big project of this year's chapter was the hosting of the biennial national convention. This gathering brought together outstanding college men from all over the country.

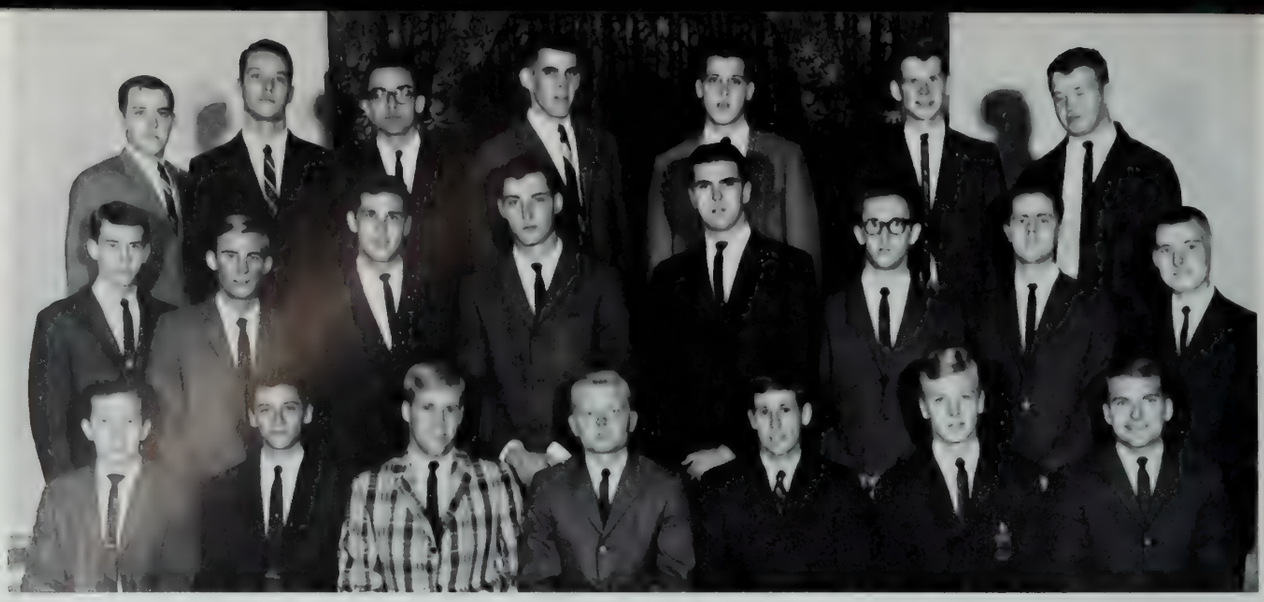

The members provide several services during the year. They usher at the Honors Day and New Years Convocations. In co-operation with Alpha Lambda Delta, the honorary sponsors a booth at Activity Day to inform students of its activities.

SKULL AND CRESCENT

Skull and Crescent is the honorary fraternity made up of sophomore men who are chosen annually to represent the twenty-five oldest social fraternities on campus. Members are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and activities.

The organization carries out three major projects each year. Last year's schedule included a pajama race, the Sweetheart of Skull and Crescent Ball held last Spring, and a trip to another campus for a basketball game. In addition to major events, regular meetings are held throughout the year to provide co-ordination and to promote co-operation among the fifty members. Initiation of new members is held in the Spring.

STAR AND SCROLL

Star and Scroll is an honorary fraternity for outstanding sophomore fraternity men. Each of the eighteen member houses selects two sophomores for membership on the basis of activities and scholarship. The organization's goals are to encourage freshmen to excel in scholarship and activities, to promote fellowship, and to better interfraternity relations. To accomplish their aims, members hold monthly dinner meetings, and each year they offer pledge scholarship awards.

In March, the honorary sponsored their annual dance, the Garnet Ball. Star and Scroll also gave a Valentine's Day party for needy children in co-operation with Shi-Ai.

TOMAHAWK

Tomahawk is a national service fraternity for sophomore independent men who have been outstanding in activities and leadership. Members strive to promote among independent students the interest to take an active part in student affairs. They attempt to guide freshmen in decisions regarding choice of activities and to improve the relations among residence hall groups. This year Tomahawk also helped with the Science Fair, Watseka Sing, and Dads' Day Revue.

An Illini delegation attended the 1964 National Tomahawk Convention at Cedar Falls, Iowa. One of the local members, Allen Blott, was elected to the office of national treasurer.

TORCH

Torch, the junior women's activities honorary, gives recognition to juniors for outstanding work in activities as freshmen and sophomores. Membership requirements are outstanding recommendations from activity groups, good character references, and a 3.5 all-University average.

The honorary's projects fulfill Torch's motto of scholarship, service, and friendship. Members heard a talk by Dr. Berry on the new disciplinary rules for the University. In January, they had a Backwards Dinner which had dessert served first. The girls made use of their hobbies to make gifts for needy children. They also ushered at the New Year's Convocation and Honor's Day Convocation.

ALPHA CHRON

Alpha Chron, "First Time Honored"—a meaningful name for the group it represents. Alpha Chron is the independent sophomore women's honor society for those women who, in their freshman year, have displayed outstanding leadership qualities while maintaining a good scholastic record. Each spring thirty-five qualified girls are selected.

The group's main project is Watcheka Sing held during Mother's Day Weekend in May. Proceeds are used to sponsor Women's Independent Student Association scholarships. In addition, many smaller service projects are held throughout the year. A merger has been proposed, but not yet acted upon, with Shi-Ai, sophomore Panhellenic honorary.

BETA GAMMA SIGMA

Beta Gamma Sigma, a commerce honorary, is one of seventy-three chapters in colleges and universities throughout the United States. Members must be in the upper 3 per cent of their junior class or upper 10 per cent of their senior class. Strictly an honorary organization, the main activity of the group is the election of new officers.

The national purpose of the honorary is to foster high academic standards among students in commerce and business administration. They recognize the accomplishments of students in these fields of study who have achieved high scholastic standing. Beta Gamma Sigma was founded on the campus of the University of Illinois in 1913.

ALPHA EPSILON

In 1959 the Alpha Chapter of Alpha Epsilon was founded at the University of Missouri. Illinois' Delta Chapter was organized in 1960. Last summer the national convention adopted the constitution drawn up by the Illinois chapter.

The purpose of the organization is to recognize and honor those agricultural engineering students who have distinguished themselves and their profession by academic and professional achievement and to combine the fundamentals of engineering and agriculture. Selected on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and character, members are juniors, seniors, and graduate students in the curriculum. The society also initiates a few honorary members.

ALPHA ZETA

Alpha Zeta is a professional agriculture honorary fraternity seeking to promote the profession of agriculture. The group fosters high standards of scholarship, character, leadership, and a spirit of fellowship among the members. The chapter annually honors the outstanding instructor in the College of Agriculture and the freshman within the college attaining the highest scholastic average. Alpha Zeta sponsored an Agriculture Campus speech contest this year to promote leadership.

Illinois Morrow Chapter of Alpha Zeta is one of fifty-two chapters in the nation. Sophomores with a 4.0 all-University average and juniors having a 3.8 are eligible for membership in Alpha Zeta.

TERRAPIN CLUB

Ann Karlen, treasurer; Ann Stallman, secretary; Vicki Richardson, vice president; Carol Mitacek, president

Terrapin Club is designed to help those interested in the aquatic arts to advance to a higher level of understanding and of skill in that area. The group meets for two hours on one night a week. Membership is open to all interested swimmers who meet the tryout requirements. Tryouts last year were preceded by a demonstration-practice period in which interested students had the opportunity to speak with members, see a demonstration of the stunts and strokes necessary and practice with the help of Terrapin swimmers. For those who do not pass the requirements but still have a high degree of skill, there is Dorado, the "apprentice" club.

Terrapin's main event is the annual synchronized swimming show. Other activities include the synchronized swimming workshops put on by various colleges throughout the state. At these workshops members get a chance to share ideas and swimming numbers with other swim clubs and to meet people who are well-known in the field of aquatic arts. Another activity is the synchronized swimming meet in which aquatic numbers are presented and judged. Terrapin members have a chance to create numbers and present them in a meet of this type.

ILLINOIS' SPORTSMANSHIP CODE is located on the east wall of Memorial Stadium.

ALPHA PHI OMEGA

TOP ROW: Michael Muzos, recording secretary; Kenneth Panza, alumni secretary; John Mockaitis, corresponding secretary; Donald Leverenz, historian BOTTOM ROW: Bertram Gardner, treasurer; Harry Kohler, president; Thomas Crawford, second vice president

An international organization, Alpha Phi Omega now has chapters all over the United States and in the Philippines. Alpha Alpha Chapter was established at the University of Illinois better than thirty years ago, and they presently have approximately thirty active members. After a semester of pledging each prospective brother is initiated.

Alpha Phi Omega is a service fraternity open to anyone genuinely interested in being of service to others. The members state as their purpose to assemble college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath and Law, to develop friendship and to promote service to humanity. Service is rendered in personal, campus, community and national areas.

Business meetings of the group are held every two weeks to discuss coming events. In order to give students a fair exchange for their textbooks, the members conducted a book exchange. They sponsored their annual Ugly Man on Campus Contest in order to raise money for their student loan fund. As a service to the local scout council, the members ran a learn-to-swim program where they served as instructors. In addition, the members ushered for various campus events.

Engineering Council, the student governing body of the College of Engineering, serves to co-ordinate engineering student activities. Each of the student chapters of engineering professional societies on campus, including honoraries, elects two representatives to the council. This body strives to improve the engineering societies, to increase the rapport between students and faculty, to co-ordinate engineering activities with other campus activities, and to aid combined programs such as Engineering Open House and St. Pat's Ball.

This council sponsors intersociety intramural tournaments and student-faculty coffee hours. It also offers suggestions for improving the College of Engineering. Through the council's members and suggestion boxes, any engineering student can have his ideas heard and brought up for discussion.

On matters of educational policy, the council represents the four thousand engineering students. This year, for the first time, students selected by the Engineering Council were seated on college faculty committees. Students are represented on no other college-level faculty committee in the University of Illinois.

LAS COUNCIL

The members of the LAS Council are selected by petition and interveiw. Any student in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences who has attained a 3.0 all-University average is eligible for membership on the college council.

Bi-weekly meetings attended by the members and Dean Hinley, the advisor to the organization, are designed to inform the members about any new developments concerning policies and procedures of the college. This past year the members initiated a survey of departmental policies concerning proficiency examinations and New Student Week.

COMMERCE COUNCIL

Four representatives from each class and a member from each commerce organization and honorary are selected to sit on Commerce Council, the coordinating body of all commerce clubs. Students who petition for membership must have maintained a 3.3 all-University average.

Projects for the year included the annual student-faculty coffee hour and the Awards Banquet. At this spring banquet, awards were given to the top ten commerce seniors. In addition, a service award was presented to the commerce club contributing the most to the college.

AGRICULTURE COUNCIL

It is the Agriculture Council that co-ordinates students' activities and promotes student-faculty relations in the College of Agriculture. Thirteen agriculture clubs each send two representatives to the council. This organization has control over the scheduling of meetings and activities that are sponsored by the various clubs. The council also prepares a bulletin board announcing meeting dates and activities occurring in the college.

Besides acting as co-ordinator, the group sponsors Plowboy Prom and the annual All-Agriculture Banquet. The Leadership Forum, initiated by the group, is conducted by experts on leadership development for club leaders.

CIRCLE K

The University of Illinois Circle K Club, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Champaign-Urbana, is designed for college students who feel a responsibility toward their college and their community. Service is the most important obligation for the members of the club.

The theme of the year is "to build personal understanding." The club performed projects such as the Big Brother Program for local orphans, tours of the University campus, assistance in judging of the Illinois State Science Fair, sending Christmas cards to orphans living all over the United States, and, in general, serving the nation, community and school areas where needed.

The University of Illinois Young Democrats is an organization dedicated to political action on local, state and national levels. Election years are always active for college political organizations, and YD membership reached nearly a thousand including the affiliated Illini for Johnson.

Following a membership drive during Registration Week, the YD's held the get-acquainted fish fry. The group immediately involved itself in the campaign activities such as attending rallies for Democratic candidates and holding a debate series with the Young Republicans. To facilitate communication within the organization, the campus was divided into precincts each with an appointed captain. The YD Newsletter was published weekly all during the campaign. On election day the YD's cooperated with SNCC in getting out the vote in many local precincts, and some members served as poll watchers in their precincts.

The 1964 campaign was very successful for Democratic groups. Those students who participated through the YD's had an excellent opportunity to become involved with political action and to learn much about politics and election campaigns.

ILLINOIS YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Illini Young Republicans is an organization open to all students that attempts to maintain the ideals of the two party system, to work toward the election of Republican candidates, and to further the responsibility of the individuals in the local area to elect qualified, representative officials.

Being a presidential election year, the Y. R.'s were particularly concerned with working actively and thoughtfully toward their goal. Their work in areas of voter education and registration, in the checking of registration lists for "ghost voters," and in poll watching were among ways that voters received direct benefit from club activities. The club also brought candidates to speak on campus.

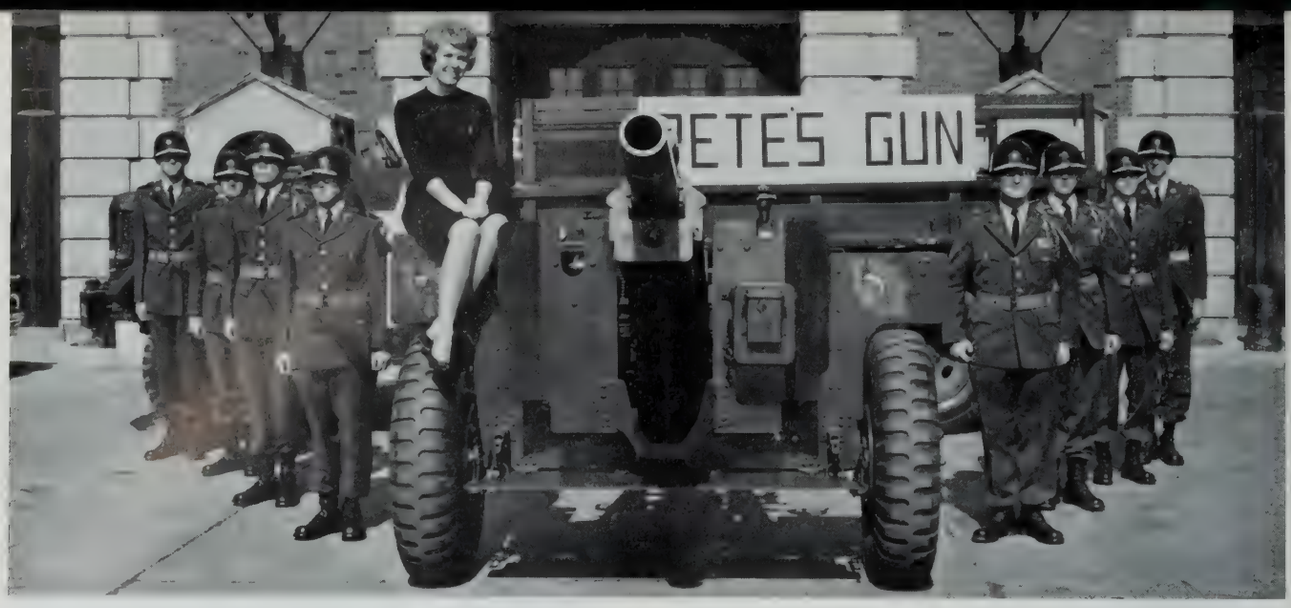

ARMED FORCES COUNCIL

The Armed Forces Council was organized to plan and co-ordinate all of the joint activities of the three ROTC units on campus and to promote better understanding among the services. The council is composed of the cadet commander and his executive officer from each branch of the service. The services alternate in directing the council, naming their cadet commander as chairman of the group and a commissioned officer as the advisor. This past year the Air Force was responsible for the leadership of the Armed Forces Council.

Annually the council is responsible for three tri-service major campus events: Military Honors Day, Veterans' Day, and the Military Ball.

ARMY ROTC

Serving in the United States Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps, the cadets at the University of Illinois have accepted the challenge of leadership. Originating at Illinois in 1868, the Army ROTC program provides the men with the opportunity to volunteer for advanced training toward an ultimate appointment as a commissioned officer upon graduation. This past year a revision in the Military Science Curriculum allowed the men to take courses providing credit toward both a baccalaureate degree and a commission.

The Army ROTC program in colleges and universities across the nation was begun to fulfill the Army's need for young, trained, and educated officers. The program not only qualifies students for positions as military officers, but also lays the foundation for intelligent leadership in civilian life. The ROTC program is designed principally to benefit each individual cadet . . .

NAVAL RESERVE OFFICERS' TRAINING CORPS

The Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps Unit was established at the University on November 1, 1945. Since that time over four hundred fifty men have left its ranks to serve as commissioned officers in the U. S. Navy or Marine Corps.

The NROTC Battalion is made up entirely of volunteers who are selected from many applicants on the basis of academic standing and potential leadership. During their four years at the University these men take twenty-four hours of Navy courses, including Naval History, navigation, leadership, weapons, and engineering, while earning their degrees in their respective fields of interest.

Each summer regular midshipmen take a cruise. Contact students take their cruise upon completion of their junior year. Last summer midshipmen from Illinois embarked on destroyers, submarines, aircraft carriers, and cruisers; they were spread out from

Some of the Second Class were undergoing air indoctrination at Corpus Christi, Texas, and Marine Corps students took their training at Quantico, Virginia. Upon graduation this year, thirty-three midshipmen will receive commissions as Ensigns in the Navy or Second Lieutenants in the United States Marine Corps.

Navy Council is the governing body of the Battalion. All classes are represented at the weekly meetings. At these meetings, all matters dealing with the midshipmen's extra-curricular activities are studied and decided.

The Battalion is very proud of their excellent Exhibition Drill Team, winner of the 1964 Heart of the Nation Drill Meet. Forty men on this year's team put in about six hours of practice a week.

AIR FORCE ROTC

In March Lt. Col. Russell P. Strange began his third year as Commander of the AFROTC and professor of aerospace studies at Illinois. As a U. of I. alumnus, he has received degrees in American and European history and government and politics.

Patricia Demetrulias and Sharon Eihausen were AFROTC fall and spring semester sponsors respectively. Pat, an active member of Chi Omega, is a senior majoring in math and has received college honors. Sheri won the area "Little Colonel" award and attended the "Little General" contest. She is an Alpha Gamma Delta majoring in home economics.

Cadet Col. Edward Benson, an industrial design student, was Commander of the University's 190th AFROTC Cadet Wing during the first semester. He has been chosen as a Distinguished Military Cadet. Cadet Col. George Tymitz served as Commander second semester and is in Phi Eta Sigma honorary.

CADET WING STAFF

The AFROTC program was reorganized this year as a voluntary program at the wing level and is run entirely by the cadets. Each semester there is an outstanding cadet who is appointed the Commander of the 190th AFROTC Cadet Wing Staff at the University. The Cadet Staff is responsible for the proper organization, efficient operation, and the continuous self-improvement of the AFROTC program.

ASSOCIATION OF THE U. S. ARMY

The Association of the United States Army is a professional organization striving to improve the conditions of servicemen through information and public relations services. The men also publish Army magazine which presents the many aspects of the Army and is available to all AUSA members.

The organization is open to any individual subscribing to the association's aims and objectives. Periodic meetings feature Army personnel as guest speakers and movies designed to give an increased understanding of the Army.

AUSA activities this year included the manning of the howitzer used by the AUSA gun crew at the Illini football games and a trip to Fort Knox.

COUNTERGUERRILLA COMPANY

In response to the step-up program emphasized in the Army Guerilla Warfare doctrine, the ROTC Counterguerrilla Company was organized on the University of Illinois campus in 1962.

The purposes of the organization are to expand the scope of basic ROTC instructions, especially in the areas of small unit tactics and the technical aspects involved in unconventional warfare. It also helps in preparing the cadet for duty in the services through talks and films on Army life.

The reduction in overall ROTC enrollment due to the new voluntary program, has had little effect on the Counterguerrilla Company which has the largest and most enthusiastic membership to date.

NATIONAL COLLEGIATE PLAYERS

In 1928 the Alpha Chapter of the National Collegiate Players was established at the University of Illinois. It is one of 78 chapters existing today throughout the United States.

A national honorary organization, the National Collegiate Players select their members according to national standards. These standards are based on the student's scholastic standing and previous theatre work. Membership points are earned by University students while working with the University Theatre or through their work in drama courses. The annual initiation ceremony and dinner in honor of the newly elected members highlighted the organization's activities for the year.

RADIO-TELEVISION WORKSHOP

One of the few organizations of its type in the country, Television Workshop provides the rare opportunity for college students to produce and direct actual television programs.

Television Workshop is responsible for programming a half hour of television every Friday night. Students write, produce, direct and crew the live television productions each week.

Variety shows, documentaries, and special panel programs are among the programs produced. Guest radio and television speakers are invited to meetings to speak on television and related topics.

To climax the year's activities, a banquet is held to present awards for outstanding programs.

PRE-VETERINARY CLUB

Striving to gain greater interest and fellowship among pre-veterinary students and to better acquaint its members with the field of veterinary medicine are the aims of the Pre-Veterinary Club.

Membership in the club is open to all students who are interested in veterinary medicine. A faculty advisor and two student representatives from the freshman class of the College aid the club in working toward its goals.

Past meetings included surgical demonstrations and tours of the facilities of the colleges available to pre-veterinary students. The members also assisted the Veterinary Medicine College in presenting the annual spring Open House.

OMEGA TAU SIGMA

Chartered in 1956, Theta Chapter of Omega Tau Sigma at the University of Illinois was organized to promote the veterinary profession. As a professional veterinary fraternity, it seeks to build a closer working relationship between the classes of the veterinary college.

Purposes of the organization include the creation of a profession based on friendship, co-operation and respect for fellow man, and the encouragement of a desire to serve the animal kingdom.

The club maintains a list of summer jobs with practicing veterinarians for members seeking work. Highlighting this year's activities was the national convention held in Columbus, Ohio.

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS CLUB

"Agricultural Economics In Action" is a key to the success of this organization which operates on the thesis that the transition from a student status to that of a businesman happens in the time it takes to receive a handshake and a diploma.

Activities of the Agricultural Economics Club included public speaking, written contests, an annual newsletter, a spring picnic, and a barbeque in the fall. Being a member of the American Farm Economic Association, the local club activity participated in the forty-two-chapter organization's activities. A national office, including president and vice president, has been held during each of the last four years by an Illinois member.

AGRICULTURE EDUCATION CLUB

Devoted to aiding and encouraging students in the field of agriculture education, members of the Agriculture Education Club strive for achievement to best prepare themselves for the future.

Club meetings are held monthly. Guest speakers in agricultural education and other related fields are invited to attend.

Club activities included a tractor rodeo, farm mechanics' contest, and the public speaking contest. Service activities such as the food stand for the Illinois State F.F.A. Foundation Award Day Program are also among their various activities. An annual spring barbecue picnic highlighted the organization's social events.

DAIRY PRODUCTION CLUB

Co-operating with the Hoof and Horn Club in presenting a fall showmanship contest and the Dairy Technology Society in sponsoring a spring recognition banquet for superior club members, the Dairy Production Club accomplished its goal of stimulating greater interest in and appreciation of all areas of the dairy industry. To broaden the knowledge of the members, the club met monthly to discuss timely dairy topics.

The society, which is a chapter of the American Dairy Science Association, was organized to bring together all students and faculty with dairy interests. They sent a judging team to Chicago and Waterloo to compete in the Dairy Judging Contests.

DAIRY TECHNOLOGY SOCIETY

The members of Dairy Technology Society include students and faculty in the Food Science Department who have an interest in the scientific and technological aspects of the dairy industry.

Important activities of the organization have been sponsoring the Dairy Products Judging team, promoting a Dairy Technology Alumni Luncheon during Homecoming, and awarding Certificates of Merit to outstanding people in the dairy industry.

This year's awards went to J. H. Peterson, the Borden Company, Chicago; M. G. Van Buskirk, Illinois Dairy Products Association, Inc., Chicago; and Dr. Aschaffenburg, Research Institute for Research in Dairying, Reading, England.

FIELD AND FURROW CLUB

The Field and Furrow Club is proud to have as a member Bill Kirk, the president of the student section of the American Society of Agronomy, the national organization. The local chapter retained its rating as an outstanding agronomic club at the last convention of the A.S.A. at Denver.

The group's fund-raising projects included the sale of standard soils and prepared crop seed samples to various high school judging teams. Stimulating interest in agronomic work is a function of the organization. Interested students found a choice of activities from speech, essay, crop, or soil judging contests to journalistic work on news releases and student-faculty mixers.

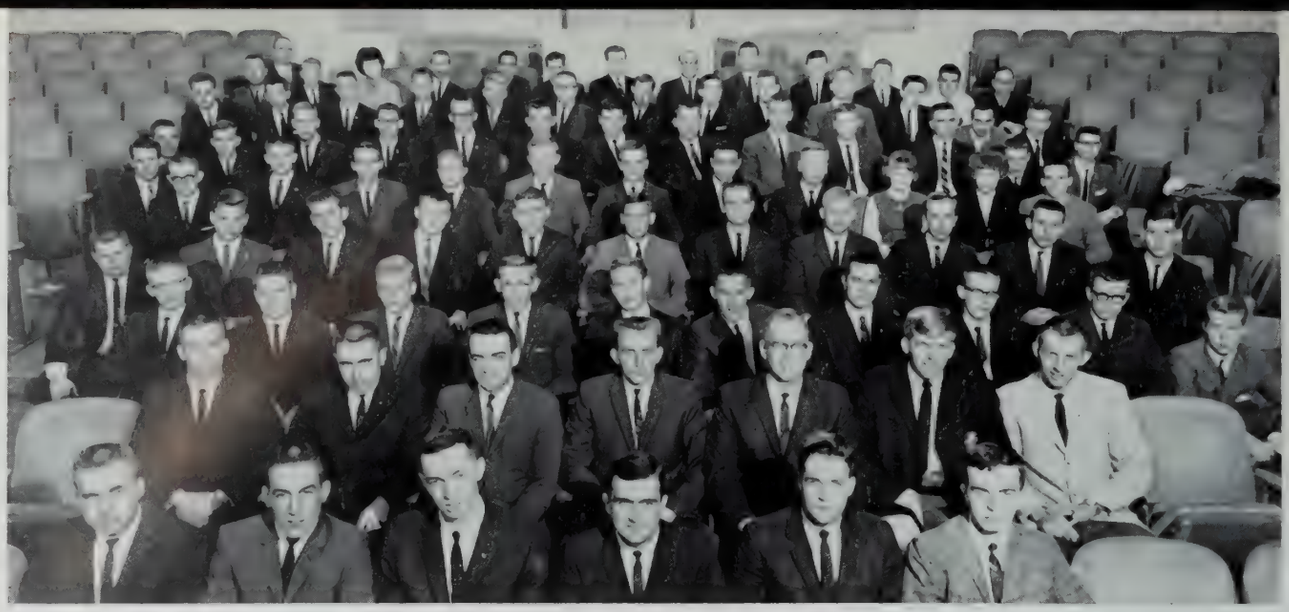

FLORICULTURE CLUB

Guest speakers highlighted the monthly meetings of the Floriculture Club, an organization which is open to any student or faculty member interested in the field. Its purpose is to promote the use of flowers and ornamental plants inside and outside the home and to encourage a more relaxed relationship between the students and the faculty.

The local club, which is affiliated with a national student horticulture association, carried out several projects during the year. They sent a flower judging team to West Virginia and have won four similar contests during the last seven years. They also sponsored a flower show during Mother's Day Weekend and had an annual banquet for seniors.

HOOF AND HORN CLUB

One of the largest clubs on campus, the Hoof and Horn Club is an organization of students with interests in animal science and related fields. The Illinois Chapter is one of forty chapters of the National Block and Bridle Club.

The club sponsored livestock and meat judging teams, each of which competed in contests held in Kansas City, Chicago, and Baltimore. A showmanship contest featuring greased pig and goat milking contests and a tug-of-war were also conducted.

Membership in the club is awarded any student earning five points through meeting attendance and committee work. Monthly meetings featured speakers whose field is animal science.

ALPHA TAU ALPHA

The Alpha chapter of Alpha Tau Alpha, founded at the University of Illinois in 1921, is only one of the twenty-five nation-wide chapters. All prospective members must have sophomore standing in the Agriculture Education curriculum and must have maintained a minimum grade point average of a 3.5. New members are selected in the spring.

The purposes of the organization are to develop a true professional spirit in the teaching of agriculture, to help train members as rural leaders in their own communities, and to foster a fraternal spirit among the agriculture students who are enrolled in teacher-training. To accomplish these purposes they had a spring banquet and initiation.

SOCIETY OF AUTOMOTIVE ENGINEERS

To further technical knowledge and to present to its members a picture of the opportunities in the field of automotive engineering is the purpose of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Programs of the monthly meetings included guest speakers and several films. Members are entitled to the SAE Journal, the monthly magazine printing news of the Society, its members, and of engineering and its progress in general.

During this past year, members of the society served as guides for the annual Engineering Open House held in the internal combustion engine laboratory. Membership in the society is open to all students enrolled in engineering.

AMERICAN FOUNDRYMEN'S SOCIETY

The University of Illinois chapter of the American Foundryman's Society is a professional group devoted to the field of cast metals. It is one of the fourteen student chapters and the forty-nine industrial chapters in the national organization.

The projects sponsored by the local group bring the student closer to practical application of the theory of cast metals as well as opening doors to the technology of the future. "Modern Castings," the monthly magazine, is sent to all AFS members. Special programs for last year included the fall semester field trip to Decatur, Illinois, where the chapter enjoyed a dinner and a tour of the Wagner Casting Company's foundry facilities.

INSTITUTE OF CHEMICAL ENGINEERS

Functioning as both a vocational and a social club, the student chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers located here on campus is one of many organizations throughout the United States which constitute the national organization. Membership is open to all in the curriculum.

In the past, monthly meetings have included a talk given by guest speakers representing various aspects of the chemical engineering industry.

The organization's main project of the year is a display of chemical engineering projects at the annual Engineering Open House. Spring activities include a banquet given by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers for graduating seniors.

INDUSTRIAL ENGINEERS' INSTITUTE

The American Institute of Industrial Engineers is a professional engineering society interested in the development and promotion of industrial engineering in college and industry. Membership includes industrial engineering students but is open to any interested individual.

The club sponsors an annual golf tournament in the spring, open to all University students. Also included among the club's various activities was a spring picnic for IIE members.

Climaxing the year was the presentation of an award by the Land of Lincoln adult chapter of IIE to the most outstanding senior member of the industrial engineering society.

SOCIETY OF CIVIL ENGINEERS

Undergraduate students in civil or general engineering, theoretical and applied mechanics, or the option for engineering in architecture are eligible to become members of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Their purpose is to promote the recognition of professional standing.

The projects of the organization were intended to acquaint its members with the practical phases of engineering and to develop in these students a professional point of view. In addition to monthly meetings, the society's activities included a refresher course offered to seniors who were preparing for their Professional Engineer's exam and the publication of a monthly newsletter.

SOCIETY OF MECHANICAL ENGINEERS

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers at the University of Illinois is a student chapter of the nation-wide professional organization. One of its primary purposes is to develop a professional attitude among engineering students and to build social and professional contacts at an early date.

At monthly meetings held in the Illini Union, prominent speakers addressed the students. Meetings were not completely technical in nature. At the September meeting, the 1964 Rose Bowl Game was shown. As an added twist, the members were given part of the play by play commentary to read. The year's social events included a hayride, a bowling match with the faculty, and a Christmas party.

SOCIETY OF ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

A successful year for the Student Branch of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers was brought to a close with the popular Senior-Faculty Banquet. Prof. P. R. Egbert, advisor to the group, received a special note of thanks for his help and suggestions throughout the school year.

The society was organized to promote a sense of professionalism among its members. All electrical engineering students are eligible to join.

On October 20, more than 150 members attended the National Electronics Conference at McCormack Place in Chicago. At the end of the fall semester a joint meeting with the central Illinois professional members of the group was held.

MINERAL INDUSTRIES SOCIETY

The purpose of the Mineral Industries Society of the University of Illinois, which is affiliated with the American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical and Petroleum Engineers, is to promote an increasing knowledge of the technology and administration of the metallurgy and mining industries. Any student whose curriculum or major is mining, metallurgical engineering, or geology is eligible to become a member of the society.

During the year M.I.S. sponsored many activities such as picnics and field trips to metallurgy laboratories, steel mills, and non-ferrous producers. Distinguished persons associated with the engineering field were featured at their meetings.

AGRICULTURAL ENGINEERS' SOCIETY

The student branch of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers is organized to help students correlate their curriculum with the agriculture profession. The only membership requirement is enrollment in the Agricultural Engineering curriculum. One of the club activities is competing for the Farm Equipment Institute Award. The student branch turning in the best report concerning its branch activities receives the national award. The Illinois Student Branch received second place in the 1964 national competition.

The branch is promoting safety on the highways by selling Slow Moving Vehicle safety reflectors to high school FFA chapters.

SOCIETY OF GENERAL ENGINEERS

The Illinois Society of General Engineers maintains its status as one of the most active of the organizations on the engineering campus. Programs range from acquainting future engineers with industry by hearing guest speakers to holding an annual student-faculty bowling tournament.

The members stress intense preparation for the future. To this end, an industrial trip is taken once a year. A spring picnic and participation in Engineering Open House were also included in this year's program. The winning team in the bowling tournament was awarded a trophy which was put on display. The annual banquet for seniors was the social climax to an informative year of activities.

AMERICAN CERAMIC SOCIETY

SEVERAL MEMBERS GATHER after a meeting.

During the academic year there are many activities sponsored by the Ceramic Society. The publication of a yearbook, The Illini Ceramist, was one of the biggest projects. Their book, which is now in its twenty-first edition, was the first of its kind on campus. The highlight of each year is the annual Pig Roast. Originated as an actual roasting of a pig in the kiln house, the Pig Roast has become a banquet with guest speakers.

Other activities which the group participated in were intramural sports such as football, water polo and softball in which championships have been won. Participation in Engineering Open House and the selection and sponsoring of a St. Pat's Ball Queen candidate are included in the spring. Membership in this organization is open to students in the Ceramic Engineering curriculum.

PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS' SOCIETY

The student chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers is an organization to which all undergraduate engineering students may belong.

The development of student chapters has been a recent movement, and the Illinois chapter is the tenth at a major engineering school. The organization strives for unity among engineers through the professional development of each member in the interests of the safety and well-being of society. The national group works toward solutions to the social, economic, and ethical problems confronting the profession of engineering.

One of the most important functions of the club is to publicize the engineer-in-training exam that a graduating senior may take as the initial step toward full professional registration.

In an effort to reach all engineering students, the chapter this year undertook a special campaign to contact incoming freshmen. A letter of introduction was mailed to every student at the start of the fall semester. The club's activities consisted of a Freshman Smoker and a combined dinner-meeting with the Champaign County chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers.

MEN'S P. E. MAJORS' CLUB

The dual purpose of the Men's Physical Education Majors' Club is to stimulate the professional interests in the field of physical education and promote unity amongst the members in the curriculum. Men majoring in this field are eligible for membership in the organization.

The activities of the group centered around the lectures made by physical educators on the campus. In addition to the lectures that were sponsored by the group, interesting and informative discussions were led by prominent people who are interested in the field of physical education.

This year the chapter went to national, state, and regional physical education conventions.

WOMEN'S P. E. MAJORS' CLUB

Dance, physical education, and recreation majors find that the Women's Physical Education Majors' Club supplies a round of programs designed to help broaden their understanding of the field. Convocations, which include panel discussions, symposiums, and guest speakers, help to stimulate the professional development of the individual.

Other activities included special events such as the Big-Little Sister Program, an alumni coffee hour on Homecoming Weekend, a Fall Camp-Out, the High School Play Day, an annual Christmas party, and the interclass and faculty volleyball games. The club also maintains a departmental library and publishes a newspaper, the Majournal.

AMERICAN RECREATION SOCIETY

The programs during the past year of the American Recreation Society included speakers and panel discussions pertaining to topics and problems of recreation that are not covered in the curriculum.

Any student who is interested in the field of recreation may become a member of the club. The purposes of this group are to develop a fellowship society for those interested in the field and to acquaint students with the problems of the practical field as well as with professional people.

Opportunities for the students to get to know the faculty on an informal basis are provided by the American Recreation Society sponsored student-faculty coffee hours.

POTAMI

The Potami, a group of Evans Scholars who have distinguished themselves on campus, attempt to be well-rounded students by achieving scholastic excellence while maintaining a rigorous social and athletic program. The Potami athletic season included IM basketball and participation in co-rec sports such as golf and volleyball.

The Potami rounded out their campus life with an extended social calendar. Weekend excursions to Chicago and St. Louis for operas, concerts and museum visits culturally enriched them. The highlight of the social year was the Potami Cotillion at which co-ed Pam Williams was crowned the Potami Princess for 1964-65.

SPEECH CORRECTION ASSOCIATION

The Illini Speech Correction Association, which was established on this campus three years ago, is made up of students in the field of speech correction. The purpose of this professional club is to broaden the scope of its members by providing enriching educational opportunities.

The group's projects of the past year included guest speakers, field trips, Education 101 speech screening program, a Christmas party, and a fall and spring coffee hour for new members.

This past year the officers of the club took a trip to Purdue University to investigate the possibilities of chartering membership in Sigma Alpha Eta, a national fraternity for speech majors.

STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

University students who are preparing to enter the teaching profession are eligible for membership in the Student Education Association. This club, through its programs of speeches, films and discussions on topics relating to teaching gifted children, student teaching, interviewing, and job placement, provides individuals with opportunities for personal and professional growth.

Highlighting the many social activities of the organization during the past year was the Christmas party given for underprivileged children.

ILLI-SOTA

The Illini Student Occupational Therapy Association, Illi-Sota, is a professional club open to students in the curriculum. Students studying in related fields may receive honorary membership.

The purpose of this organization is to inform students and faculty members on the campus about the professional opportunities available to those majoring in occupational therapy. In addition, it promotes the common interests of the club members and notifies them of summer job opportunities in the field of their specialty.

The activities of the club centered around its monthly meetings. Miss Beatrice Wade, originator and head of the curriculum, was a guest speaker.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

"Home Economics—A Journey Into the Future" is both the theme and the ideal of the Isabel Bevier Home Economics Club, an organization which seeks to instill in its members an understanding of the aims of their profession.

To accomplish this goal, the organization has sponsored such special projects as hostessing the Illinois Home Economics Association's annual meeting. The group also presented the Home Economics Award given each year to a deserving freshman who has attained a high scholastic average.

The Home Economics department includes nearly 450 women, all of whom are welcomed into the club to join with others of similar interests.

ALPHA ETA RHO

Founded at the University of Southern California in 1929, Alpha Eta Rho is now an international aviation fraternity. Chi Chapter at Illinois was chartered in 1954 and is now recognized as one of the most active chapters. The organization bands together outstanding aviation students, interested faculty, and industrial leaders for the purpose of studying the problems of everyday life as influenced by modern aviation.

This year they undertook their most ambitious project, the first Aviation Openhouse presented at Willard Airport. The event was so successful in introducing the School of Aviation to high school seniors that it will be sponsored annually.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Founded as a fraternity in 1909 at DePauw University, Sigma Delta Chi in 1960 dedicated itself as a professional society of journalists. Men may become members of this organization by invitation.

The Sigma Delta Chi chapter has gained recognition on campus for its humorous publication, the Romut, which comes out annually at Homecoming. In addition, the club's activities included meetings, at which noted journalists spoke, exchanges, and field trips. The Brown Derby Award was given by the group to an outstanding faculty member at the traditional Gridiron Banquet. Another honor the chapter presented was the Outstanding Male Journalist Award to a student in journalism.

ALPHA DELTA SIGMA

Alpha Delta Sigma is a professional fraternity composed of men who plan a career in advertising. The function of the fraternity is to bring scope and realism to the advertising student. Members of the society are exposed to young men in the advertising world, young people who are not too long from the classroom themselves.

Each semester following formal rushing a pledge project is planned to help earn their initiation fees and to gain experience in their chosen field. The pledges sell space and prepare advertisements.

The Charles H. Dennis Chapter of ADS is proud to claim its fifty-first year of successful functioning as a professional advertising fraternity.

GAMMA ALPHA CHI

Gamma Alpha Chi bears the distinction of being the only fraternity for women interested in advertising. Any women interested in this field or a related field is eligible for membership in this professional organization.

The club gives its members practical experience and insight into the field of advertising; it also provides its members with the opportunity to meet prominent men and women in advertising. Planned field trips were taken to agencies, film studios, and radio and television stations where the girls had the opportunity of witnessing advertising at work. The club also co-sponsored a fashion show with Lewis' Department Store.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI

During the past year Charles H. Percy was made an honorary member of Alpha Kappa Psi which is the oldest and largest fraternity in the area of business administration and commerce. The purpose of this organization is to foster research and promote advanced courses in the College of Business.

Membership is limited to those nominated by the recommendations of faculty and initiated members. Each pledge class spends one day prior to initiation working on a community service project.

Speakers, luncheons, and field trips composed the year's calendar of activities which provided opportunities to obtain a better understanding of business practices and procedures.

MANAGEMENT SOCIETY

Membership into the Society for Advancement of Management, a recognized national and professional group, is open to students and faculty members who take an interest in management.

This club strives to stimulate an awareness of business problems presently existing by providing a practical view of American business. The group achieved its objectives this past year through its monthly meetings featuring interesting and varied guest speakers and several field trips to talk to manufacturers in Illinois and Indiana. An all-day conference was held where lectures were alternated with discussion periods. The club's motto states: "The future belongs to those who prepare for it."

ILLINI MARKETING ASSOCIATION

The Illini Marketing Association, largest and oldest of the collegiate members of the American Marketing Association, celebrated its 25th anniversary this past year. Any student interested in the various aspects of the business field can become a member of this organization.

The aim of the association is to promote better fellowship between business students and faculty and to provide students with information about the prevailing marketing trends and opportunities in the business world. Monthly meetings featured interesting discussions outlining opportunities in the various fields of marketing, advertising, and management led by executives of prominent firms.

PHI BETA LAMBDA

The Gamma Phi chapter of Phi Beta Lambda is one of one hundred and thirty-six chapters throughout the nation organized to prepare students to become better business teachers and leaders. Membership to this professional group is open to potential business educators and secretaries.

This year's program included speakers and discussions pertaining to subject matter on what is new in business and related topics.

The big event of the year for the club members was the state convention which was held during the spring in Springfield. At the convention participants learned and applied leadership ability and tested their knowledge in contest work.

ILLINI FORESTERS

The Illini Foresters, initiated in 1958 with a total membership of six, presently has an active following of ninety students and faculty. Membership is open to all students in the curriculums of forest production and wood technology, the department of forestry faculty, and alumni.

The club's activities are based on the goals of the organization to promote fellowship and further professional development. The year's calendar included the freshman bonfire, the fall hayride and barndance, Christmas tree sales, and publication of the Railsplitter. The organization also participated in the midwest forestry conclave and the family camping show held in Illini Grove.

CANTERBURY EPISCOPAL FOUNDATION

The purpose of the Canterbury Association is to promote worship, fellowship, and the educational activities of the Episcopal Foundation among students. Another goal of this group is to promote a closer relationship between faculty, staff, and students. Sunday night suppers and programs provided the opportunity for fulfilling these goals.

Open to all students, the activities sponsored and planned by Canterbury included informal social hours following Sunday evening services, picnics, and activities. Special programs on the history, meaning, and observance of Lent and the sacraments and a talk on the religious life by an Episcopal monk provided variety during the past year.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

The Cosmopolitan Club was founded on the University of Illinois campus in 1908. The organization's chapter house was located on East Daniel Street in Champaign until 1961 when the building was sold and torn down. The members are planning to build a new and modern home in the near future.

"Above all nations is humanity." This motto is expressed in a spirit of international brotherhood and in a high standard of justice between nations. Primary among the purposes recognized by the members is the cultivation of social and intellectual intercourse among the people of many nationalities represented on this campus. Promoting scholarship and character within the group is also important.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ORGANIZATION

The oldest religious foundation on campus, the Christian Science Organization, has just completed construction of the newest foundation building in the area. Temporary headquarters during construction was the campus Y.M.C.A. where the club held its weekly testimonial meetings each Tuesday.

A reception was held at the start of each semester for new students and alumni for the purpose of acquainting them with the organization.

The purpose of this group is to give those in the college community an opportunity to learn and practice the teachings of Christian Science. Any student or faculty member who adheres to the laws of Christian Science is eligible for membership.

HILLEL FOUNDATION

As the spiritual home for the students of the Jewish faith on the university campus, the B'Nai B'Rith Hillel Foundation fulfills the function of bringing together the academic life of the student with the heritage of his religion. In achieving this purpose, the foundation sponsors programs encompassing a wide range of activities.

The cultural program for 1964-65 consisted of a lecture series, a concert of chamber music by Professor Partos of Israel, art exhibits and a weekly forum led by Professor Joseph Agassi. Social programs included supper socials for freshmen and a Chanukah Celebration. In the fall six discussions were held on contemporary American Jewish life.

McKINLEY FOUNDATION

McKinley Foundation Student Council shares in the ministry of the McKinley United Presbyterian Church and Foundation which is a member of the ecumenical ministry of United Christian Fellowship.

Through United Christian Fellowship, McKinley participated in seminar groups, mid-week worship services, and in several retreats at Camp Howard. Sunday night supper forums and Monday noon graduate luncheons were offered, while married couples actively participated in the study and social programs of Kinley Kupples. During vacation periods, a series of study-action seminars and work camps were held to acquaint students and staff members with the needs that exist in the world today.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

The Baptist Student Union is the link between the University student and the church. An executive council elected from among the students takes charge of the work of the organization. One aim of the Baptist Student Union is to help freshmen in their adjustment to university life. All new freshmen are visited by upper classmen to encourage them to become part of a local Baptist church.

Student-led vesper services, designed to help students in spiritual attainments, are held every Monday through Thursday. "International Night," where students from foreign lands are guests at a banquet, and a Fourth of July picnic gave foreign students a place in the organization's activities.

BAPTIST STUDENT COUNCIL

The members of the Baptist Student Council are elected every year by student members of the University Baptist Church. The Council works through the program of the Baptist Student Foundation to meet the needs of Baptist students on the campus by providing Christian education and fellowship.

Among the regular activities sponsored by the Council was the weekly Supper Forum, a Sunday evening supper hour followed by speakers and discussions. Last year the group planned and sponsored the annual conference of the Baptist Student Movement in Illinois. Delegates came from six college campuses to attend the conference, which had as its theme "Worship in a Secular Age."

LUTHERAN STUDENT FOUNDATION

When members of the Lutheran Student Foundation came back to school this year, they were greeted by their pastor and a new Campus Worker in a redecorated Center. The only requirement for membership in the Foundation is participation in its activities which include regular coffee hours, the Sunday evening supper club, and an annual smorgasbord. A new musical setting for the worship service was used several Sunday mornings.

The Sunday evening and week-day programs, which are planned by a student committee, encourage students to look honestly at themselves, their faith, and the world around them through discussions on such topics as political trends.

LUTHERAN CHAPEL COUNCIL

The University Lutheran Chapel and Student Center strives to deepen and enrich the lives of its students. The Chapel Council, elected every year by the student congregation of the church, is responsible for planning the services, programs, and activities which will accomplish this goal. Life-related Bible study, timely topic discussions, informal dialogue, fellowship, and recreation make up a portion of these activities.

Two important events that were planned for the fall semester were the "All Chapel Banquet" and a "Big Weekend" at which time well-known theologians spoke to the group. At mid-year the members dedicated their new Student Center addition.

GAMMA DELTA

Founded 30 years ago to further Christian knowledge and service, Gamma Delta is an International Association of Lutheran students. Upsilon Chapter is one of over 150 chapters located throughout the United States and Canada.

Weekly meetings were held each Sunday evening beginning at 5:00 with a supper and ending at 7:00 with vespers. Programs were varied, ranging from recreation and fellowship to lectures and discussions. Among the programs presented this year was a stimulating discussion in which three clergymen from other campus foundations expressed the various views of "Ecumenicity." Gamma Deltans caroled and held their annual picnic also.

WESLEY FOUNDATION

The halls of Wesley echoed with new sounds this year—sounds from its new coffee house "The Etc." which opened Homecoming weekend. Music was often heard coming from the new Arts Room which is complete with stereo and records. The coffee house serves as a place for warm fellowship and fun.

The student program included weekly Sunday supper programs, study seminars, and mid-week vesper services. At Christmas time the students decked the halls for their Olde English Christmas Feast. Another activity which is becoming a popular tradition was the inter-collegiate football exchanges with other Big Ten Wesley foundations. In addition Wesley joined the ecumenical movement.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club is a national organization for all Catholic students on campus. In addition to offering activities, Newman Club offers Catholic students the chance to become better acquainted. The Club integrates all aspects of the student's life so that he can become a Christian in the true sense. There are three special aspects of Newman Club: religious, educational, and social.

Religious events included a Communion Breakfast Dad's Day in addition to daily rosary and weekly benediction. One of the main religious activities was the annual retreat, conducted by Father Henry McAndle, O.S.A. Educational activities included a series of lectures by well-known clergy on topics such as mariology, the changing church, and social commitment. The educational highlight of the year was the Interfaith Panel Discussion. The panel, composed of ministers of the campus churches, discussed various views concerning ecumenism. Open houses, coffee hours after football games, dances, and a hayride were a few of the social activities. Representatives from all the Newman Clubs in the state attended the Illinois Province meeting held this year on the Illinois campus.

ILLINI KARATE KAI

Because the art of Karate makes balanced use of the entire body, several universities and colleges are recognizing its value and instituting it as a course in their departments of physical education. At the University of Illinois, the Illini Karate Kai was established to foster the development of college Karate. For the past two years, beginners classes for men and women in Combat-Contest Karate have been taught by instructors in the group, an affiliate of the famous Japan Karate Association.

The goal of Karate, a highly-developed fighting art, is to strengthen people mentally and physically. Its history can be traced back to the dawn of human civilization and even today its continued evolution may be observed in Japan. A man fully trained has normal hands but can smash boards and bricks through speed and sheer mental discipline.

ORCHESIS

Orchesis is an organization on the University of Illinois campus for anyone who is interested in modern dance. Although it originally began as a performing group, at present, dancing skill is not a prerequisite for membership. The purpose of the group is to provide people of all abilities the opportunity to improve their competence in dance. The primary objectives of Orchesis are to effect a better understanding of dance, its purposes, and the constituents of good modern dance.

In November, they sponsored a High School Dance Day. High School students were given an opportunity to study the art of dance and to participate in lessons presented by the Dance faculty.

AGRICULTURAL MECHANIZATION CLUB

Having been founded in 1960, the Agricultural Mechanization Club is one of the youngest actively functioning clubs on campus. Students in the agricultural mechanization curriculum and others who are interested compose its membership.

Club activities included a fall picnic sponsored by the Agricultural Engineering Faculty, a winterizing day for lawn mowers, a tour of a company or farm of interest, and a club-sponsored picnic with the faculty as guests. Highlighting the year was their first Spring Banquet which will be held annually. The group's first honorary member was announced and the award for "Outstanding Senior in Agricultural Mechanization" was presented.

ILLINI FORENSIC ASSOCIATION

The members of the Illini Forensic Association represent the University in intercollegiate competition in debate, discussion, and public speaking. In addition to conducting public debates both on and off campus, the IFA presents a weekly discussion program over radio station WILL—"The Illini Forum." The debaters entered this year's competition as defending State Champions of the Illinois Intercollegiate League and as representatives to the National Debate Tournament at West Point.

The highlight of the year was the visit of two Oxford University debaters who joined two Illini to argue the proposition that "even the affluent society needs a welfare state."

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

Composed of junior and senior men, professional students, graduate students, and faculty and staff members, the Illinois Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa is the only national men's honorary on campus. Each year the circle initiates fifteen seniors and five juniors into the society. Only those men who have maintained a very high scholastic average and have performed outstandingly in extra-curricular activities are eligible for membership.

The group is unique in that each year approximately five faculty and staff members are selected to become members. In this way student and faculty leaders are able to meet on an informal basis to discuss topics of current importance.

AFRICAN STUDENTS ORGANIZATION

The main purpose of the African Students Organization is to have a strong body that will bring students from all parts of Africa together so they will be able to participate fully in campus activities. It was the intention of the founders that this group would help project the culture of the various African countries and would offer students from different parts of the world the opportunity to discuss world events, particularly those happening in Africa, in a friendly atmosphere.

The organization has fireside discussions about once a month where topics of world-wide interest are discussed. Another activity of the group is its annual dance, "African Interlude."

COLOMBIAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

Founded many years ago, the Colombian Students Association satisfies a definite need among Colombian students—to help them identify themselves by means of the organization while they are in this country. Membership consists not only of all the Colombian students at the University but also of American students who are sincerely interested in the people and the country.

The group's activities are varied according to the semester. This fall the association had panel sessions concerning social and political-economic problems in Colombia today. The organization also participated in exhibitions and folklore contests such as Copacabana Club and International Fair.

LITHUANIAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The Lithuanian Students Association was founded fourteen years ago by Lithuanian students who emigrated to this country. Most of the members were born in Lithuania. The group strives to maintain the Lithuanian heritage and tries to promote unity through social and cultural activities. Many of the activities follow Lithuanian traditions which were engrained in the students during their early years in Europe—of greater importance because the students are unable to return to their homeland.

In addition to holding meetings, dances, song fests, and campfires, members were also active in a Lithuanian folk-dance group which participated in many functions, including International Fair.

UKRAINIAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION

The main purpose of the Ukrainian Student Association is to generate a better understanding and appreciation of the Ukraine and various aspects of its heritage among American and international students. The membership of the association consists mainly of students born in Ukraine and forced to leave their homeland because of the Russian take-over shortly before the end of World War II.

Keeping in step with numerous activities, both University sponsored and independent, the organization had ample opportunity to exhibit Ukrainian culture—its music, choreography, and craftsmanship. Last year it was recognized as one of the three most active foreign student organizations.

ANGEL FLIGHT

About 75 college women who have dedicated themselves to assisting Arnold Air Society, promoting the AFROTC program, creating interest in the Air Force, and being of service to the University community compose this chapter of Angel Flight. Being an Illini Angel not only requires interest in these activities but also the personality, poise, and intelligence to make them a success.

Working with Arnold Air Society, the Angels cosponsor an Arnold Air Society Ball and two "Books for Asian Students" drives. Representatives from both organizations attend the Arnold Air Society-Angel Flight National Conclave and area meetings.

By sponsoring the Wing Division, offering their services at registration, and hostessing for military affairs and commissioning ceremonies, Angel Flight promotes the AFROTC program. Angels attend group parades and also sponsor coffees for the Advanced Course Cadets, a tea for staff wives, and Blue Yonder Workshop, a special project to introduce the pin-girls, fiancees, and wives to the Air Force way of life. They also hostess at University affairs and bring honor by successfully participating in mid-western and national drill meets.

AFROTC Cad. Lt. Col. James Lange presents Maj. General Leo Dusard, Commander, Chanute AFB, with the award of Honorary Commander, Arnold Air Society.

JAKE SCHAEFER SQUADRON, ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY

Founded in 1947 at the University of Cincinnati, the Arnold Air Society is an honorary professional and social military fraternity pledged to further the mission, tradition, and concept of the USAF, to support airpower and its role in national security, and to aid in the development of an effective officer. Pledging in Jake Schaefer Squadron is limited to outstanding AFROTC sophomore and junior cadets with a 3.25 all University average and a 4.0 in basic air science courses.

The Jake Schaefer Squadron is active in numerous service, special, and social projects. They served as ushers at memorial services for President Kennedy, provided Air Force representation at the annual Veterans' Day ceremonies, and maintained an Air Force exhibit at Engineering Open House. They also collected books for the Asian students, provided color guards and saber arches for ceremonial occasions, and aided the Department of Air Science during registration. Various special projects included taking trips to Homestead AFB and Cape Kennedy and having several expert speakers. Socially, they co-sponsored the Arnold Air Society Ball and had their picnic at Lake of the Woods.

GUIDON

The tri-service military organization for men, Scabbard and Blade, sponsors Guidon, its military auxiliary of select and dedicated women. Students are pledged for one semester on the basis of personality, poise, ability to converse, and interest in the military programs. Membership is open to all undergraduate women who have a 3.5 average.

The members endeavor to support the University R.O.T.C. program, develop leaders, acquaint women with the military program, and serve the University and community by working in welfare projects and acting as hostesses for University functions. The group exhibits an energetic drill team which performs in parades and drill meets here and away.

JUDO CLUB

The goal of Judo Club is to promote and teach the sport in the tradition of the Mother School of Judo in Tokyo, Japan—the Kodokan Judo Institute The U. of I. club, founded in 1962, has been chartered by the Chicago Yundanshaki, the body governing all Kodokan Judo Clubs in the Midwest. Club standing and promotions are recorded in Tokyo.

This fall the first class for beginners in Judo was initiated by the club. In addition to participating in informal meets with Chanute Air Force Base and nearby schools and sponsoring intra-club tournaments, the U. of I. Judo Club sponsors the Midwest Invitational Judo Tournaments.

DELTA SIGMA PI

Delta Sigma Pi, a professional business fraternity, offers membership to students who attend the College of Commerce and Business Administration. Relating and integrating the study of the various phases of the business field with the actual practice of the business world is its goal.

Activities included professional programs consisting of guest speakers from all the fields of business and several field trips to such places as the Midwest Stock Exchange and the Board of Trade. The social calendar included a semi-annual dance, faculty-student luncheons, and sports activities. Founded in 1922, Upsilon Chapter has now initiated more than 550.

CONSERVATIVE COUNCIL

Three years ago several conservative students, dissatisfied with the liberal attitudes which they felt adulterated intellectual discourse on campus, formed the Conservative Co-ordinating Council to guarantee the student body exposure to conservative philosophy. The Council attempts to contrast the futility of American left-wing ideas with positive aspects of conservatism.

The student group affiliated with the Council is the Illini Conservative Alliance. Some of its activities were a series of conservative seminars and two programs on the two party system with Republican state treasurer William Scott and Democrat auditor Michael Howlett as speakers.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The Alpha Chis have set high standards for themselves, and their efforts were rewarded when the Illinois chapter won the National Council Trophy for the most outstanding college chapter at their convention this summer. Locally, Iota chapter won the Panhellenic Scholarship Trophy this past year.

Alpha Chi Omega is also widely represented in campus honors, including Alpha Lambda Delta, Union offices, and the Junior IF Ball Queen.

This fall, in addition, the Alpha Chis decided to show their gratitude to their housemother for the past ten years, Mrs. Grace Daley, by initiating her as a full chapter member.

The Alpha Delta Pis returned to school to find new walnut veneer dressers, bookcases, and desks in every room. The girls' excitement was carried over into campus activities and social events, as reflected by ADPi representatives in Mortar Board, Shorter Board, and Torch. ADPis were found in top positions on ILLIO, Union, Orchesis, Mu Phi Epsilon, Glee Club and Cheerleading, and as finalists in Dolphin, AmVet, and May Queen contests.

In the fall the ADPis paired with Theta Xi to win first place in Turkey Run. Spring brought the first Delta Chi Volleyball Tournament, and Alpha Delta Pi proudly displays the first place trophy.

There is something new at the Mu chapter of Alpha Epsilon Phi, for there is a brand new addition to their chapter house. With a new kitchen, five new bedrooms, a recreation room, and an enlarged dining area the AEPhis are carrying on their numerous activities in grand comfort.

The AEPhis always enter wholeheartedly in campus life by taking positions of leadership in activities. However, much time is also spent planning spring and winter formals and keeping a high academic standing. By working together on different projects, the AEPhis find that they can accomplish a tremendous amount of work.

Excitement in the house on Lincoln Avenue was infectious when the Alpha Gams received the news Fijis and Alpha Gams had been one of eight pairs chosen to compete in Stunt Show Finals during 1964 Homecoming. It was the second year in a row that Alpha Gamma Delta had survived the torrid contest rivalry to present the most imaginative and accomplished skits on campus and had gained the honor of becoming a finalist in Stunt Show. Since Stunt Show is an important and unique feature of an Illinois Homecoming, the Alpha Gams had good reason to be proud of their achievement, and the hours of practice were well worth the effort they involved when the participants captured a coveted trophy.

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA

Gamma Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority was founded on this campus in 1913. Since that time the goals of its members have been high scholarship and social and cultural advancement.

The social events of the year included a formal and caroling at Christmas time and another formal to welcome the spring season. A "Can Party," requiring each guest to donate a can of food for a local orphanage, was given by the pledges.

The AKAs were also active on campus in organizations such as the Young Democrats. As a special house project, all girls gave a few hours of their time each week reading to a blind student.

The AOPis started the fall with a flourish of enthusiasm and captured the Grand Prize Trophy of Stunt Show with their Acacia partners in their enactment of "Happiness is Dogpatch, U.S.A.," which was presented Homecoming weekend. As in the past, the girls continued to display their many talents by participating in a wide variety of activities throughout the year-long social whirl.

Being sports-minded, the AOPis again paired in Turkey Run with a fraternity. During the last two years they have captured first place honors, which include a trophy and a turkey.

The highlight of the social calendar was their Spring Formal presented with Delta Gamma.

Through friendship and many common interests, the members of Alpha Phi enjoy working together to achieve high social and scholastic goals. Diligent study was rewarded when Alpha Phis were selected for scholastic honors.

But college is not all work. The Christmas orphan party, tea dance, and the Syracuse Triad added sparkle to the college lives of the Phis. The Alpha Phis were especially proud of their sisters who were chosen to be Miss Photo Flash, Miss Illinois Amvet, Dream Girls of Theta Chi and Sigma Pi, and the Glee Club president. Even more important than the honors were the friendships, the working together, and the fun the Phis shared.

Social life, activities, and scholarship were highlights in this year with Alpha Xi Delta. The return to campus found the "Fuzzies" busily practicing Stunt Show and building a homecoming float with the AGRs, who also lent their support to the Alpha Xi's four Dolphin Queen finalists.

"Christmas comes but once a year," and the Fuzzies celebrated with the traditional informal using a ski sweater theme. Climaxed by the appearance of Santa Claus with a stocking for each date, the evening was one of old-time festivity, including a gift for everyone. Rounding out the Alpha Xi's year were the fraternity exchanges, the Rose Formal in the spring, and the Alumnae tea.

CHI OMEGA

High scholarship, close house unity, and participation in campus activities were three goals achieved by the Chi Omegas last year. Scholastically, the Chi Omegas remained in the first quartile of the Panhellenic house averages. And while maintaining high scholarship, the Chi Omegas were very much a part of campus activities through participation, leadership, and enthusiasm. In order to achieve greater unity and insight, the Chi Omegas participated on both the state and the national level conventions. The ideas and knowledge gained at the conventions served as the influence for the U. of I. chapter this year.

Tri Delta enjoyed another successful year which included all aspects of college life. In scholarship, Tri Delta ranked in the first quartile for the thirteenth consecutive semester. To show mental prowess, Tri Delta entered the Greek Week College Bowl and won the sorority division.

The Tri Delta's, along with their DU partners, also earned the honor of being in the Stunt Show finals presented Homecoming weekend.

The annual Pansy Breakfast was held in May at the Illini Union. This favorite Tri Delta tradition includes a breakfast and bridal fashion show in honor of all senior engaged sorority women.

The Delta Gamma house, with its fresh coat of paint and newly trimmed bushes, welcomed an exciting fall this year. The Delta Gamma's had four of the Dolphin Queen Finalists, a member of the Homecoming court, and a successful pairing with Sigma Alpha Epsilon in Stunt Show Finals. The other activities of Homecoming, Dad's Day, and Greek Week kept each girl busy as the two Delta Gamma cheerleaders helped to spur the Illini on to victory.

Hand in hand with activities was a busy social schedule. An informal dance, a winter formal, and an annual stocking party found the DG's taking enjoyable breaks from their studying.

The joint house dance with a fraternity highlighted the year for the Delta Phi Epsilons. For the dance, based on a Hollywood theme, the house was decorated with cardboard figures, several neon lights, and a long red carpet leading inside. The decorations and costumes provided the appropriate atmosphere to make the dance a memorable one.

At the end of the spring semester, the girls of Delta Phi Epsilon celebrated by giving the annual senior banquet. It was at this time that the juniors presented short skits for the graduating seniors. In addition to this, awards were presented and refreshments were served.

DELTA ZETA

The DZ's returned to campus this fall full of enthusiasm for another successful year in scholarship and activities. The DZ's honor their activity-minded girls each month by citing two of the girls for outstanding chapter and campus activities, stimulating internal competition.

Having placed in the first quartile in sorority scholastic competition, the DZ's always have well attended scholarship dinners. Each year the alums give a party honoring the pledges and a buffet to honor all chapter members.

To climax the year the DZ's give their annual traditional Rose Formal, at which they crown their ideal Delta Zeta Dream Man.

Welcoming all of the Gamma Phis back to school, Mrs. Juanita Scott, housemother, proudly exhibited a completely redecorated house to her girls. As they brought in their luggage, she fondly warned them, "Hands off the walls."

The earliness of homecoming intensified stunt show practice, but hard work was overlooked when Gamma Phi and Sigma Nu became one of the eight finalists. Other activities included campaigns for their Homecoming Queen finalist and participation in the annual Dolphin Shows.

For their third consecutive semester the G Phi Bs ranked scholastically in the first quartile.

This fall, the Iotas celebrated their ten year anniversary on the University of Illinois campus. The festivities began with the honor of having an University of Illinois Iota selected as National Outstanding Iota of the Year.

Christmas brought back the anticipated tradition of the yearly party which the Iotas and the Theta Xis give for the children in a neighboring orphanage. Complete with a Theta Xi Santa Claus, the group trimmed the tree and then played games. After refreshments were served, Santa Claus made his grand appearance by distributing toys amid the children's shouts of joy.

This fall was the first time that the Kappa Alpha Thetas could enjoy their "completely finished" home, and enjoy it they most certainly did! Their newly enclosed courtyard provided a wonderful set for serenades, formals, Friday night hootenannys, and many other enjoyable events.

Besides enjoying the traditional Stocking Party and Christmas Dance, the Thetas had a special treat when the senior class secretly transformed the chapter house into a Yuletide wonderland complete with Christmas tree, jingle bells, and the traditional Theta Santa who made his appearance bringing presents and joy to all!

KAPPA DELTA

Kappa Delta fairly bounced with activity this year. The theme "Happiness is . . . our most important product" placed Kappa Delta and Theta Xi as one of the finalists in Stunt Show.

As the sorority's biannual convention is located in Chicago this summer, Sigma Omicron has graciously volunteered its services to act as hostess for the national philanthropic luncheon.

Traditions, also, are an important part of sorority life. Each spring KDs hold their annual senior banquet in honor of the graduation class; with Christmastime comes the waiters' dinner with the waiters as the honored guests.

If you didn't get "stamped on" as an invitation to their Sadie Hawkins dance, or, perhaps, stayed home missing the Kappa-Pi Phi "Monmouth Duo," then you still couldn't have escaped seeing the radiant and smiling faces of happy Kappas on campus this year. These wearers of the little golden key are celebrating their 94th national anniversary this year. On Founder's Day they saw slides of their national convention which was held at Sun Valley, Idaho. One of their charity projects was giving aid to two foster children. Thus, Kappa sisters take advantage of enjoying and participating within all phases of campus life.

PHI MU

The Phi Mu National Fraternity recolonized its chapter at the University of Illinois with a tea held on March 7, 1965, at the Illini Union. Members of the National Council, along with representatives from the Purdue University chapter and also from many parts of the United States, were hostesses for the membership selection tea. The new members were formally pledged on Thursday, March 11, and the induction of the officers was held on March 22. This successful recolonization of the new Delta Beta Chapter was due to the co-operation of the whole Greek system which promoted the idea throughout the entire campus.

These new members are eagerly looking forward to a new addition which should be completed about September and will increase the capacity of this house to sixty-one. The new wing will be attached onto the old section of the house by a loggia which will make the entrance to the house on Armory Street and will shelter a sunken garden.

Sigma Alpha Mu introduced the Delta Beta Chapter to the campus with an open house on March 13. Exchanges with Lambda Chi Alpha, Theta Xi, Pi Kappa Alpha, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Phi Gamma Delta fraternities helped to fill the social calendar in March and April. Of course, all these events enabled Phi Mu to look forward to future success.

1964 was a year to remember for every girl of Phi Sigma Sigma. Besides working with their national to establish a Phi Sigma Sigma chapter at the University of Wisconsin this fall, the chapter also bought a new house. Spare closet space, a chapter room, an upstairs dining room, a trophy room, and a recreation room are features that are exceptionally attractive to the girls.

Although the members of Phi Sigma Sigma are active in Union events, tournaments, and contests sponsored by Panhellenic and IFC, the major goal and activity of the house out of necessity is co-operation with the workmen.

PI BETA PHI

"From rocky Maine there's a chain to the golden gate afar," sing the Pi Phis. This year the University of Illinois Pi Phis did much to make their part in the chain a strong link.

They sponsored two formal dances, the first a winter formal with other Wright Street houses and the second a salute to the Pi Phi Monmouth founding chapter. Then late in the spring, the sophomore class gave the pledges an informal dance.

An academic as well as a social leader, Pi Beta Phi was proud to see their pledge class the second highest on campus with a 4.14 grade average.

"Beta Theta Pi Phi" stunt show cries added just one more pleasant memory to 1964-65 for Pi Phi.

Believing in the old adage that all work and no play makes dull girls, the co-eds of Sigma Delta Tau decided to concentrate on having a good time this year. Dad's Day Weekend was, as always, a great success with the Dads as well as the girls providing the entertainment. In February they did some more entertaining as they welcomed their outstanding pledge class at an open house.

The SDTs, in spite of converting their energy into really enjoying themselves, were able to secure unusually high house averages each semester. Many girls were honored at their scholarship banquet for having over a 4.0 average.

Everything was ". . . Comin' Up Roses" for the Sig Kaps as they gave a warm political welcome to Senator Margaret Chase Smith, honorary alumna, during her visit to the campus last spring. Senator Smith's visit marked the beginning of a most illustrious fiscal year for Illinois Sigmas—a time filled with tradition, fun, and friendship. Ties of sisterhood grew stronger as girls participated in the serenades, dating, and candlelight events which are so much a part of sorority memories.

The unveiling of Lillian Budd's new novel, One Heart One Way, written about sorority life at the Illinois chapter, climaxed the year.

If House Beautiful were looking for a house to feature, the Tri Sigs would undoubtedly offer them theirs. This past September marked the beginning of the second year that the girls have been living in their new home, and they are still busily working on ways to improve its beauty.

To celebrate this year's interior decorating, as well as their return to school, the girls gave a dance, "Witches' Workout." The Tri Sigmas have also made surprise wet shower parties one of their fondest methods of celebrating happy occasions, and woe be it to any girl when her birthday occurs because she might find pranksters at work!

ZETA TAU ALPHA

When the Zetas returned this fall, they found another hectic year of studies and activities awaiting them along with the news that one of their sisters was a Homecoming Queen finalist.

The Zetas are found represented in many campus activities as well as in many honoraries. Zetas claim one of the year's Outstanding Greeks and are also the proud winners of College Bowl.

Every year Zetas maintain special traditions, such as their Christmas party when they honor the underprivileged children and their waiters' dinner where the girls honor their waiters by switching places. They serve an unforgettable meal complete with skits, songs and fun for all!

The girls of Allen Hall North like to think of their living unit as more than just a dormitory. With the great variety of activities planned each year, each girl can find an interest in at least one of them. Everything from faculty-student dinners to exchanges and formal and informal dances were organized. In addition, special parties for Halloween and Christmas, Little Sister's Weekend, and birthday dinners were planned.

The girls of Allen North have proudly adopted a Foster Child through the Foster Parents' Plan. She is ten-year-old Shin In Sook, a Korean orphan. The girls send clothing and living utensils to the little girl and also exchange letters with her.

ALLEN HALL SOUTH

Color us happy, and color is what you find at Allen South, from the decor of the rooms to all of the personalities of the occupants. As the colors outside change from the reddish hues of autumn to the fresh greens of spring, the spirit inside also changes. These walls enclose the shading of emotions from intense gaiety over a long-awaited date to dark depression over a failed exam. However, the scheme is complementary, and in all phases of University life, the reds offset the blues. The traditional orange and blue reflect enthusiastic spirit for events such as Homecoming. Throughout the year, the colors intermingle, and each girl leaves the hall with a widened spectrum.

Happiness is the goings-on at Avalon House. It is 28 girls living, working, and learning in the homey residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Betts.

Though Avalon was only organized five years ago as an independent women's residence unit, many activities are planned each year. The girls eagerly participated in Homecoming Weekend and Dad's Day Weekend with coffee hours and house decorations. They also had a hayride and party last Halloween. Recently the Avalon girls organized a basketball team to compete with other houses. The girls have always been eager to participate in Illini activities and have distinguished themselves in volleyball and softball tournaments.

BUSEY HALL

The girls living in Busey are always participating in house and campus activities. The social highlights of the year include formal and informal dances, sweetheart and faculty dinners, and coffee hours during the football season.

They combine their efforts during the holiday season to knit and sell nose-warmers, which also are known as "snoot-boots." The profits of this annual charity project are given to the National Leukemia Foundation. Friendships are also strengthened when the girls find time to relax at fireside parties or to participate as members of the house choir and perform at special dinners.

Although Clark House was closed last spring semester, the girls once again successfully managed to reorganize their house government. Among the past year's activities were the Homecoming Weekend and Dad's Day festivities where the parents were entertained and honored. Also included on the social calendar for the year were several exchanges with men's housing units, an informal dance, and a scholarship-activity party.

To accomplish their goal of expressing good will toward each other and others around them, the members planned their special Christmas activities —the traditional tree trimming party in the living room and a Christmas party for orphans.

EVANS HALL

The versatility of the Evans Hall residents can be seen by looking at their activities trophies. The first place trophies for Dad's Day Revue, WISA scholarship, WISA activities, and the Honor Council Award for top scholarship and activities are displayed. Evans girls are found in almost every campus activity. The house has four Phi Beta Kappas, three Bronze Tablet seniors, and eight members of Phi Kappa Phi, scholastic honorary.

Among the events on Evans' social calendar were coffee hours, Little Sister Weekend, the charity project for Cunningham Children's Home, a winter formal, Watcheka Sing, co-rec sports, and Evans' traditional Christmas party and Tree Trim.

EVANS HALL

DETERMINATION AND GROUP co-operation earned Evans another first place in the WISA-Pan Hellenic division of Homecoming decorations.

ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS of Dad's Day Weekend at Evans Hall is the annual Dad's Dinner.

The 4-H House girls excel in both scholarship and activities. The girls have won the Activity Trophy eight of the last ten times. House activities include Heart Sis Week, a Spring and Winter Formal, Faculty Tea, and weekly readings to blind students. 4-H girls have held such posts as WISA president and treasurer, the past two presidents of Torch, Homecoming and Dolphin Queen finalists, and the past three presidents of Alpha Chron.

Besides all of these activities, the 4-H House girls still managed to find enough time to study. This year the girls won the Scholarship Improvement Award and Scholarship Trophy.

INDECO

Hoping that literally "lightning won't strike twice," Indeco hopes that calamity won't become a house tradition. With repairs complete after last year's fire and with some remodeling finished, Indeco House is eagerly looking forward to still another year filled with excitement.

This year's program, along with its formals and house parties, included a Christmas party for some underpriviledged children in the Champaign-Urbana area. Indeco girls are activity-conscious also, and have found places in campus activities such as the Illini Union, Student Senate, and Model United Nations. Alpha Chron and Torch, women's activity honoraries, claim members from Indeco.

Active is the word that describes the residents of Laurel House. The girls' participation in campus activities won third place honors for Laurel at the 1964 Scholarship and Activity Tea.

In addition to campus activities the girls enjoyed house festivities. Over the summer a picnic was held at a dairy farm belonging to one of the members. There were also parties, formals and informals, exchanges and teas throughout the year.

To give Laurel a new look this year, the first floor of the house was redecorated. The girls now enjoy the more attractive studying and entertaining facilities of their den, which they designed.

The girls from Leeman Lodge were involved with scholastic and social activities this year. Some of the house activities were the fall hayride, the children's Christmas party, Heart Sister Week, and Witch Sister Week. During Witch Sister Week, each girl does everything she can to cause trouble for her temporarily adopted sister. During Heart Sister Week, she does nice things for her.

This season opened with the tribal celebration in honor of the new Leeman residents. This event, including a campfire and songfest, is beginning to grow into a tradition. The season came to a close with the senior breakfast, and for all those not graduating, a good-bye until the fall.

Lincoln Avenue Residence is one of the oldest women's dorms on campus, built in 1947. Its colonial style creates a warm home for over 600 college girls. Of this large group of girls, approximately 300 of these comprise the Lincoln Avenue North residents and the spirit of which they are so proud. This spirit has been evidenced by the academic and social achievements of these girls as individuals as well as a group. Academically, LAR North now has a tutoring program, organized educational films, language tables, an operating branch library and also a scholarship program. Socially this year the girls boast that, paired with Armory House, they won first place in Dad's Day Revue.

Although the girls of Lincoln Avenue Residence Hall South comprise one of the largest dormitories for women on the campus, there is no less unity, interest, or spirit among the members. The house offers educational, cultural, athletic, and social opportunities to each girl through its varied program of activities. This past year the LAR girls and the Scott House men copped the co-rec volleyball trophy and performed in Dad's Day Revue.

In the last several years a great deal of effort has been contributed to the scholarship and cultural committees which provide tutors, scholarships, and language tables. For the girls of LAR "good things don't always come in small packages."

Lundgren House re-opened its door first semester to a throng of new freshman girls interspersed with an occasional upper classman. Despite the early arrival of Homecoming, Lundgren, with its sister-house Clark, designed and executed house decorations and held an open house for one thousand parents and friends. The girls decided to combine their Christmas party with a charity project, and invited children from the community orphanage to join in with them in trimming the tree, toasting marshmallows, and singing carols.

The girls in Lundgren develop close friendships during the year and give the house a comfortable atmosphere which adds to the school spirit.

MAPLE HALL

Maple Hall is part of the Arbor Suites and consists of ten apartments, each housing four girls. Maple Hall was listed as being one of those independent residences with the highest percentage of girls partaking in the Honors Day Convocation.

Two of the girls from Maple went on tour with the University Orchestra to South America and also were active in the University's Chamber Orchestra and Student Orchestra. Another girl bowled on the University Women's Bowling Team which placed first at the regional tournament at Purdue University. An active and interesting year ended for Maple as the traditional senior breakfast was served.

The girls of McKinley Hall enjoyed another successful year of scholarship and social life. Being recognized in Honor's Day for scholarship is indeed an accomplishment, but having two members on Bronze Tablet, several receiving Phi Beta Kappa keys, and even more obtaining college and departmental honors, can only reflect McKinley's interest and emphasis on scholarship.

Combining several informals, a Christmas caroling party at an Urbana nursing home, two formals, a Halloween party and a Valentine's party, with a third place win in Homecoming Decorations and participation in Watcheka Sing, the house as a whole was kept quite busy throughout the year.

Honors galore were heaped upon the 60 residents of Palamar House during the past year and brightened their social calendar in many different ways. After the initial sorrow over news that their old beloved neighbor, the Thunderbird, was moving to Urbana, Palamar's residents bounced back to enjoy both an informal Christmas dance held at the house and a dinner-dance to usher in spring.

Perhaps their biggest thrill came with the selection of one of the girl's fathers as King Dad on Dad's Day Weekend. In his honor, the girls held a special luncheon, followed by a coronation when King Dad was presented with a crown, scepter, and parchment certificate created by one of the girls.

PHILEA

This fall the girls of Philea warmly welcomed their new house director, Mrs. Gladys Carper. An open house was held in her honor.

One of the big events at Philea House is Dad's Day Weekend. The dads go completely Philean and move into the first floor of the house. They return to the house after a busy Saturday for a midnight snack and relaxation before retiring. After Sunday dinner, the dads and daughters enjoy entertainment presented by the new girls in the house.

At Christmas each year, Philea sponsors a party for underprivileged youth of the Champaign area. The children enjoy many games, refreshments, and a visit from that old favorite, Santa Claus.

Presby girls strive for activities and academic achievement as well as fun and unity within their house. Evidence of these goals can be seen by the projects and achievements of the girls.

This year began with an initiation of freshmen at Presby. During the first week of the fall semester, the Presby girls have a rack-out at which time the freshmen are blindfolded and required to go through a certain ritual. At the end of this rack-out each freshman is crowned by a green cap with the letter "P" on it. The cap is to be worn the entire week wherever the freshman goes. The initiation is concluded with a formal dinner.

"If you don't mind the hike," say the Blaisdell and Saunderites, "PAR is a great place to live." The girls have proved this by making quite a name for the two halls since opening three years ago. The halls' tradition of scholarship and leadership has grown during this time. Several freshmen were named to Alpha Lambda Delta and as James Scholars, and many freshmen and upper classmen were honored at Honors Day. Mortar Board, Shorter Board, and Torch also have members from Blaisdell-Saunders.

Of course, fun is also an integral part of the lives of the girls. By teaming up with PAR's two men's halls, Carr and Babcock, for mixers, dances, and campus activities, this was easily afforded. As part of the Pennsylvania Avenue complex, Blaisdell and Saunders secured the W.I.S.A. first place trophy for Homecoming decorations. These high PAR spirits continued throughout the year—from Dad's Day open house, Christmas parties, PAR-tees, exchanges, and folk sings to Mom's Day celebrations and a patio Spring Formal.

SHERWOOD

The girls at Sherwood Lodge were welcomed back to an eventful fall semester by a redecorated and furnished house and the smiling face of their new house mother. Soon after the semester began, they discovered that they had a Homecoming Queen finalist and three Dolphin Queen finalists.

Although activities are a very important part of the girls' lives, there is an extra emphasis on grades. All freshmen are required to attend one of the seminars during the week to help them learn how to study best for University courses.

Social events also highlighted each season, for there are many formals and pledge dances to attend, including the spring dance, "Robin Hood."

The spirit of scholastic achievement, co-operative living, worship, and fun guides the girls of Stratford House, sponsored by the University Baptist Church. The ideal Stratford girl is serious in her life goals and strives to accomplish them.

Feelings of spiritual devotion, fun, and enthusiasm are exemplified through house events. Every year the traditional Ides of March Banquet is held where everyone wears Roman togas and drinks grape juice from large house trophies. Other Stratford specials are Heart Sister Week and Little Brother and Little Sister Weekend. To conclude the year's activities, the ideal Stratford girl is crowned at the annual Spring Formal.

Sycamore Hall, which has a tradition of being one of the most active halls in Arbor Suites, had another year with even greater emphasis on activities and scholarship. Last year, the Sycamore girls paired with the Evans Scholars fraternity to win their co-rec baseball league. They were also honored by having the Fiji Island Queen and one of the ten finalists for Homecoming Queen.

Dad's Day always proves to be a joyous affair for the girls of Sycamore. This year they entertained the dads by giving skits, which were then followed by refreshments. In the skits, each dad was portrayed by his daughter as that "good guy" which he really is.

This past year Van Doren Hall housed over two hundred girls. For the first time in a few years, a large portion of these girls are either freshmen or transfer students. They work closely with the upperclassmen in developing within each girl the three qualities of a "Van Doren Girl." The first is a high scholastic achievement. The second is interest and participation in house and campus activities. The last and a greatly emphasized one is individualism. Van Doren has much to show for the work of the girls, such as the Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Alpha Chron members. Also it boasts of one Homecoming Queen Semifinalist and Co-Valedictorian of the class of 1964.

TWO VAN DOREN residents picket their lounge demanding good manners from all ladies present.

As Wescoga girls gained from the experience of working together in maintaining their home, they also enjoyed planning house activities for guests on Homecoming, Dad's Day, and Little Sis Weekend.

The traditional Heart Sister Week, when each of the girls does some favor every day for her secret sister, and a Pledge Breakfast provided opportunities for fellowship. Planning the Pledge dance, Christmas Formal, and Faculty Banquet kept each of the girls busy, while exchanges and co-rec volleyball provided moments of relaxation.

Individual participation in many campus church foundations showed the Wescoga girls' interest in the sharing of religious experiences.

WARDALL HALL

"Getting Started" was this past year's New Student Week theme for Wardall Hall, the University of Illinois newest and largest women's residence hall. Wardall, which stands twelve stories high, is the tallest building on campus and houses five hundred and fifty women. There is a higher percentage of upper classmen than in most University residence halls. Wardall boasts such modern conveniences as three elevators, drip dry rooms on every floor, and a roof sun deck which proved to be extremely popular during the spring.

The task of setting up a house government began in the spring of 1964 when large numbers of interested girls attended organizational meetings where acting officers were elected. When school reconvened in the fall, the girls of Wardall, with the assistance of head residents, were ready for the school year. Enthusiasm was very high among Wardall residents as they plunged into University and house activities. By spring Wardall Hall had become one of the most popular dorms on campus.

A house of seventy men, Acacia is represented in all the phases of University life, from consistently ranking among the top ten fraternities in scholarship to participating in Stunt Show. "Happiness is Dogpatch, U.S.A." was the theme of this year's first place show with Alpha Omicron Pi.

Acacia excells through the co-operative spirit and teamwork of the men. One of their most gratifying accomplishments was the transplant of a forty-foot, ten-ton blue spruce evergreen tree in the front yard. This tree is now a symbol for their new pledges of the aggressive spirit that helps to keep Acacia socially and academically "tops."

Alpha Chi Rho surprised the entire campus this year by sponsoring their own Homecoming Dance "Security Is . . ." in the Illini Union on the night of Homecoming! Already a well-known campus tradition is the annual "Cave Man Drag," which is held every spring. To round out their full social calendar, the Crows held their annual pledge dance followed by their Winter Formal and Sweetheart Formal, and the usual array of sweater dances, serenades, and exchanges with different sororities.

To sum up the year, the Crows certainly realized their goal of excellence in scholarship, social life, and leadership on campus.

ALPHA DELTA PHI

Everything is going great at 310 John Street—everything from scholastic to activities to social fun. The Alpha Delts are consistently in the first quartile scholastically and have brothers on the membership lists of most campus honoraries.

The men of Alpha Delta Phi are fast acquiring a reputation for being fleet-footed. For the third year in a row they captured the first place trophy in the annual Greek Week Chariot Race.

Topping the full house social calendar is the Christmas Formal. Following the banquet the Alpha Delt pin-girls and dates are dazzled by the 40-foot Christmas tree touching the ceiling in the living room where the sweetheart is later crowned.

A diversity of interests plus unity of purpose symbolize the ideals of Alpha Epsilon Pi. Leadership in many campus activities, such as Student Senate, Star Course, and Armory Theatre is attained by many of the AEPi men.

Achieving third place scholastically among all fraternities was the result of hard work and the excellent living conditions of a new house which was built several years ago. Also, by placing men on such teams as varsity baseball and fencing, the stress which is laid upon the development of the well-rounded individual is shown. The Alpha Epsilon Pi house believes that further recognition in the future can only be attained by achievement.

Alpha Gamma Rho, the only national Social-Professional fraternity of agriculture, has a deeper foundation for bonds of brotherhood than strictly social organizations. The AGR's common interest continues to cement the fraternity together after graduation, making for strong alumni associations.

Last year AGR excelled in scholarship, activities, and intramural athletics. Three freshmen were initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman scholastic honorary. One brother was initiated into Sachem, a junior men's activity honorary; another became a member of Wa-Na-See, the senior mens' activity honorary. The AGR tug-of-war team was victorious for the third consecutive Illiolymics.

Alpha Kappa Lambda has consistently contributed more than its share of campus leaders. This year was no exception. Three AKLs were major chairmen in the Illini Union and one man served as recorder and cabinet member of the YMCA.

While scholastic achievement remained high, AKL continued to exhibit its penchant for being a well rounded house by combining musical talent and good humor in making Stunt Show finals with Chi Omega.

AKL was honored by the presence of the national president and secretary at the Father's Day Banquet celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. Four of the brothers attended the Fiftieth Grand National Conclave in Berkeley, California.

ALPHA RHO CHI

Because Alpha Rho Chi is a national social and professional fraternity limiting membership to the College of Fine and Applied Arts, it takes great pride in its academic record and stresses an effective scholastic program for each member.

The men of Alpha Rho Chi participated in many activities and intramural sports throughout this year, serving on major committees on campus while bringing home trophies in homecoming decorations, volleyball, bowling, and pledge pajama races.

On the weekend of November 14, many alumni and national officers were present to help celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Alpha Rho Chi on the University of Illinois campus.

Alpha Sigma Phi has a three-point program consisting of scholarship, leadership, and fellowship and the Alpha Sig activities this past year were directed toward this program. The initiation fee of Alpha Sig pledges, for example, is paid by the chapter if a pledge does exceptionally well scholastically during his first semester pledging.

The men of Alpha Sigma Phi had four dances during the year. These included a pledge dance each semester, the traditional "Black and White" winter formal, and a spring sweetheart formal, which was coupled with a banquet and a picnic to make it the major social event of the year.

This year Alpha Tau Omega began its second century. Among activities of the centennial were a conclave of mid-western chapters and the national congress which observed the dedication of the new national headquarters in Champaign. Some of the achievements of the national fraternity were the replacement of "hell week" with Help Week and an outstanding public relations program acclaimed by National Interfraternity Council.

The Illinois chapter observed its 70th anniversary by winning three intramural football crowns, receiving the award for outstanding chapter publications, and holding faculty-student dinners.

Beta Sigma Psi, national social fraternity for Lutheran men, is proud of its tremendous expansion both nationally and locally within the last several years. Nationally, Beta Sig has nearly doubled its membership since the turn of the decade. Here increased manpower has brought a proportional increase in many facets of college life. Locally, determination has led to strong bowling, volleyball, and football teams. Social life is equal in spirit, with exchanges and dances helping ease the tensions of hard study.

Every social season at Beta Sigma Psi includes the spring "Gold Rose Formal," when the fraternity sweetheart receives her crown.

BETA THETA PI

The men of Beta Theta Pi possess many of those qualities that determine the worth of any fraternity. The scholarship record that the Betas have compiled over the past years shows that they have one of the highest scholastic averages on campus.

The athletic ability of the Betas is evidenced through their participation and success in all major I.M. events. In varsity competition they can boast about having the captains of the basketball and football teams plus numerous letter winners in these and other sports. Social and extracurricular activities are not left out, for Betas hold top positions in Student Senate, I.F.C., and ILLIO.

Scholastic achievement was once again foremost to the men of Chi Phi. As a reward and incentive for scholastic success, the Sparks Memorial Medal and the Jim Lee Memorial Award were given to those who maintained high scholastic records. To help keep up these scholastic achievements, a six-week "How to Study" program was established and proved beneficial to both pledges and actives.

The members were also active in numerous campus activities. Participation in varsity sports was not overlooked as Chi Phis competed in golf, baseball, and had a basketball manager. Other activities included Student Senate, Pershing Rifles, and Concert Choir singing by Chi Phis.

Perhaps no other fraternity can claim as colorful a history as Chi Psi fraternity which, having been established in 1841, is one of the oldest in the country. Chi Psi's illustrious founder, Phillip Spencer, was the first and only man ever to be hanged for mutiny in the United States Navy. Herman Melville subsequently used the incident as the central topic for his renowned book Billy Budd. A few other unique features of Chi Psi history include: the first uniform accounting system, the first traveling visitor, the first traveling secretary, and the first fraternity house. The Chi Psis are proud of their rich heritage and strive to exemplify it through their ventures of today.

The key word describing Delta Chi is growth. A substantial increase in membership resulted in the fraternity's acquiring an annex to serve until the chapter house addition is completed. A continued growth has also been demonstrated through improved scholarship, participation in campus activities, and a more diverse program of social events.

The D Chi accomplishments in University intramurals have been outstanding. House teams won IM division championships in football and water polo. In addition, the D Chis received the Orange Division total-point championship trophy and the IM All-Fraternity Sportsmanship trophy.

DELTA PHI

The key to Delta Phi's success has always been a well rounded house; this year has been no exception. The Delta Phis carried their house colors into many campus activities. Again this year the Tau chapter walked off with the national scholarship trophy offered by Psi chapter of Delta Phi at Pennsylvania State University.

Books and activities were not the only aspect of the Delta Phi's lives, however, as the two annual pledge dances were very colorful and lively. The formal social season was climaxed with their Iris spring formal, which took place on the Delta Phi's private tennis court.

Brothers, through the year, showed continuous participation in extra-curricular activities that ranged from Daily Illini to a first-place win in IM softball to Student Senate. Though each one of the pledges is encouraged to join one university activity, emphasis is concentrated on one common goal: to promote good scholarship.

A balanced social calendar was kept throughout the year at DSP. Highlighting the year was a Winter Formal, the Founders' Day Ball, commemorating the conception of the fraternity itself on December 10, 1899. All in all, the Delta Sigs had another busy and successful year.

With the honor of being the oldest fraternity on campus to guide them, the men of Delta Tau Delta placed their accent on versatility this year.

Helped by their enthusiastic pledge class of last year, Delta Tau Delta was able to advance twenty places in fraternity scholastic ratings.

Recognized as a perennial intramural champion in all sports, Delt teams fought their way to the fourth place finish in all-fraternity competition. The men of Delta Tau Delta won their league titles in over three-fourths of the sports they entered.

Socially, the Delts' calendar included the annual Winter Formal, pledge dances, and the Rainbow Ball, a spring weekend event.

This year the men of Delta Upsilon got an early start on their usually active year. The previous spring brought them an exuberant pledge class, and the summer saw the chapter house completely remodeled. Scholastic ratings placed the DUs in high ranking, for the active chapter placed second on campus. The DU—Tri-Delt Stunt Show pairing was also successful and appeared in the fina's during Homecoming Weekend. Combining scholastic progress with social life, activities, promotion of friendship, and the development of character, the men of Delta Upsilon once again experienced an unforgettable year on the U. of I. campus.

EVANS SCHOLARS

The formal history of the Illinois chapter began when the first recipient of an Evans scholarship came to the U. of I. in 1951. The scholarship program, initiated by amateur golfer Chick Evans, was begun to enable deserving caddies to continue to college. The program now extends to eight chapters on midwestern campuses. Membership selection is done by the Western Golf Association, which accepts candidates on the basis of high school performance and need for the scholarship.

Evans Scholars believe that a varied program is desirable for worthwhile education. As a result, they have supplemened scholastics with IM competition and a full social and activities program.

The weekend of November sixth denoted the fraternity's founding on the Illinois campus 50 years ago. Over 300 people attended the open house Saturday afternoon; among them were alumni from as far back as 1914 and as far away as Puerto Rico. Saturday evening, alumni had seven parties scattered throughout Champaign-Urbana, and later that evening a dance was held at the house.

A Sunday afternoon banquet was held at the Urbana-Lincoln. Over 220 alumni and present members heard the national secretary, Darl Snyder, and Dr. M. B. Russell, director of the agriculture station here, speak. Nine of the original 19 founders of the U. of I. chapter were among the alumni present.

This past year Kappa Alpha Psi's Beta chapter, on the campus since 1913, welcomed eleven pledges, exemplifying their purpose of striving to obtain achievement in all forms of human endeavor.

The Beta chapter actively participates in the national fraternity's Guide Right Movement, organized to give inspiration and guidance to the youth of today. Participation includes organizing outings for the underprivileged children to baseball games, camping trips, and tours. Beta Weekend is the largest social event of the year. The alumni and their families are guests for a weekend of fun capped with a giant banquet, and the weekend is one means of maintaining active-alumni relations.

The KDRs, while striving for a high position of leadership among the smaller houses on campus, place great emphasis on their modern pledge program. In 1962 and 1963, the KDRs won the first-place Interfraternity Council's Pledge Achievement Trophy. This year they were runners-up with their extensive redecoration work on the Salvation Army building. Every fall the KDR pledge class takes that popular weekend walkout, traditionally to see a chapter house on a different campus. This helps acquaint them with the works of other KDRs, introduces them to many of the other chapters' ideas or goals, and promotes a brotherhood among the fraternity as a national organization.

KAPPA SIGMA

Kappa Sigma has continued to meet the changing patterns of University life through a progressive scholarship and activity program. This is notable in their pledge program. All the pledges are treated as individuals when acquainting them with academic responsibility as well as with goals of leadership and social obligation.

Social occasions are important at the Kappa Sig house. The Kappa Sig Combo, which has become well known around local campus spots, can be heard on a Saturday night in the halls of Kappa Sig. The social calendar includes a spring and winter formal as well as the Barn Dance, for which the house is filled to the ceiling with hay.

After an eventful spring when they took first place in the Delta Upsilon Bicycle Race and paired with Kappa Alpha Theta for Stunt Show, the men of Lambda Chi Alpha were eager to return this fall.

They added thirty new feminine members to their Crescent Girl auxiliary in October. The selected few served the pledge class as "mothers" and the rest of the house as hostesses.

By November many of the activity conscious men of Lambda Chi had joined Men's Glee Club, University Theatre, and other organizations. Claiming the Interfraternity vice president, Lambda Chi also had members in Ma-Wan-Da and Sachem.

The Phi Delta Thetas are well known not only on the University campus but also enjoy a position of renown in the surrounding area of Champaign-Urbana because of their Community Service Day. All the Phi Delts devote one day of work each spring to a project which will benefit the town. During past years they have rejuvenated a thrift shop for the needy people in the area, repaired an orphanage in Rantoul, and cleaned and mended a local Girl Scout camp. By inviting dates to join them on service Day, the fraternity members have incorporated extra enjoyment into their undertakings. The projects have been a rewarding experience for the Phi Delts as well as providing benefits for the area.

The men of Phi Epsilon Pi fraternity have a lot to be proud of as the past few years have been full of much success. High scholastic achievement is by far the most important activity at Phi Epsilon Pi, for the house is currently ranked fifth highest in fraternity grades.

The men of PEPS have also achieved much success athletically. Two years ago Phi Ep won the I.M. trophy for having the most total points in intramural athletics. Last year they also won both the softball and football championships. For the past ten years, Phi Ep has been ranked among the three top fraternities in athletics.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Ever since the chapter house burned down during Easter break of 1964, the men of Phi Gamma Delta have become better known as the "Homeless Fijis."

Their lack of a house did little to hinder the Fijis, however. Intramural competition placed Phi Gam among the top four groups, while many Phi Gams held posts in IF Council, Illini Union Activities, and Student Senate. In addition, Stunt Show saw Fijis and Alpha Gamma Delta take fourth place.

Social life also went on undaunted with dances, exchanges, and the annual Fiji Island Party, which highlighted the season. Another notable feature was the selection of thirty-five girls into a service group called the She Gamma Deltas.

Starting the 1964-65 term with a 30 man pledge class, Phi Kappa Psi looked ahead with confidence. With this class, and with eight men on the freshman football team, plans were made for a fine year.

The social calendar included the annual pledge dance, "Irma La Douce," the Jeff Duo, the winter formal, and the spring weekend. The formation of a long awaited house combo, which has appeared all over campus, gave the social scene added sparkle.

Phi Kappa Psi was honored once again by a visit from the President of the University, Brother David Dodds Henry. The visit has become a tradition. Like other traditions at Phi Psi, it is based on the brotherhood that makes the fraternity strong.

Skull House may well be proud as it looks back upon another successful year. The Skulls believe that the true talents of a college man may only be developed through a diversified house which allows opportunity for the individual. This evidenced itself by the superb showing Skulls made last year in athletics, social life, and scholarship. Skull House placed first or second in softball, football and basketball leagues. Led by the Skull Combo, they had twelve exchanges and several dances. Numerous awards are presented each year to brothers who achieve outstanding scholastic success. The Skulls feel that this record can only be matched by the great promise which next year offers.

The 1964-1965 school year proved to be another outstanding and successful year for the men of Phi Kappa Tau. Some of the student activity leadership positions on campus, such as President of the Illini Union, were held by Phi Kappa Taus.

Last year the Phi Taus excelled in the field of athletics, taking second place in the overall I.M. standings and receiving the coveted Tug Wilson Improvement Trophy for their outstanding efforts.

As well as success in athletics and campus activities, Phi Tau continued to maintain scholastic excellence, prompted by quiet study conditions and a strict scholarship program.

PHI KAPPA THETA

The men of Phi Kappa Theta came back this fall to discover that life in the house was more enjoyable and comfortable than ever before. This was made possible through the addition of new desks, a complete remodeling of their kitchen and dining room, and the tiling of rooms.

The Phi Kaps are scattered throughout the different activities and organizations on campus, from varsity football and baseball to the Daily Illini. They began the school year with the second playing of their annual football tournament; the continued success of the tournament has made it a highlight of IM football activities.

Phi Sigma Delta was founded nationally in 1901 at Harvard University. The local chapter, Alpha Gamma, was founded in 1948; thus it is one of the youngest U. of I. fraternities. The basis for Phi Sigma Delta being scholarship, athletics, and social activities, the men try their best to develop and excel in these three areas.

One of the Phi Sig Delts' favorite annual events is their dance called "Hotel FountainDelt." For this event the members model the first floor and the front of the house after the Hotel Fountainbleu in Florida. The basement is usually decorated with swimming pools surrounded by sand.

After its start at Illinois in 1958, Phi Sigma Epsilon was strengthened by its accent on scholarship. After winning the scholarship improvement trophy in the spring of '63, the house continued to improve by taking first in active scholarship the following semester. Finally, in the spring of '64, Phi Sig Ep had the highest combined average.

Social events and a sweetheart also have their place at Phi Sigma. Last year's pledge dance, "Adventures in Paradise," was later followed by the spring formal, "And Time Stood Still." That evening, the Phi Sigma sweetheart was presented with a traveling trophy as she received her crown.

The Phi Sigs enjoy a diversified social life at their chapter house. The biggest events are their four yearly dances. There are two pledge dances—"Shantytown Shuffle" in the fall and "Hellzapoppin'" in the spring. Both of these are informal affairs with a picnic in the afternoon and a dance at the chapter house in the evening.

The Phi Sigs also have two yearly formals. The first is the Moonlight Girl Dance which is usually just before Christmas. It begins with a banquet, at which the sweetheart is named, and it concludes with a formal dance. The second formal dance is the Spring Formal which also consists of a banquet that is followed by dancing.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Pi Kappa Alpha is a national social fraternity having 130 chapters throughout the nation. "Once a Pike, always a Pike" is a quote often heard exemplifying the feeling of brotherhood among Pikes everywhere. The social season at Pi Kappa Alpha is climaxed by the annual Dream Girl Formal Weekend, during which the dates move into the chapter house. The Dream Girl is crowned on the evening of the dance and is present at all the Pike social events throughout the year.

Although the men of Pi Kappa Alpha do participate in campus activities and social life, scholarship remains the top objective, with many Pikes represented in campus scholastic honoraries.

PI KAPPA PHI

Following chapter reorganization last semester, Pi Kappa Phi captured the Inter-Fraternity Active Scholarship trophy, with the pledge class placing seventh scholastically to take the Most Improved Scholastically award of the year.

Combining athletics with mental gymnastics, the Pi Kaps won the third place trophy in the annual Delta Upsilon Bike Race. In addition, the Pi Kaps excelled in IM football by winning first in their league and third in the Orange Division. In volleyball, they again won first in their league and paired with LAR to place fourth in the Co-rec Tournament. Working as a unit, they learned that much could be satisfactorily accomplished.

One of Pi Lambda Phi's strong points is scholarship. Since its establishment, Pi Lam has averaged well within the first quartile. Last year Pi Lam was second in grades among all fraternities. Emphasis has not been placed on scholarship alone, for the men are also active in several IM sports; this year they won second place in Illiolympics.

Pi Lam is also very active in the social field. The Pi Lams sponsor several dances throughout the year. Their annual luau is rapidly becoming a major tradition in the house and a familiar sight on campus with its torch light dinner, colorful costumes, exotic fountains, and smoking volcano.

Four unusual dances held by Psi U this year proved that variety is the spice of Psi U's life. An outhouse provided the atmosphere for the annual pledge dance, "Half Moon Hop." Since Halloween was approaching, this theme was very appropriate. One of the most successful functions was the overnight Winter Formal, when the girls moved in for the entire weekend. Fitting to a caveman theme, costume for the Initiation Dance, "Flintstone Fling," was limited to one square yard of material. Psi Upsilon Weekend included the annual spring formal, an all day picnic at Lake of the Woods, and for the finale a sweetheart dinner.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Three weeks after school started, Sigma Alpha Epsilon collected their first trophy of 1964-65. The golden showpiece symbolized their third place stunt show finish with Delta Gamma. SAE's theme, borrowed from Noah's Ark, was a delight to audience and judges in its sarcastic humor.

Spring found the Illini chapter host to a midwestern convention of the many Little Sisters of Minerva. On the weekend of March 21, 130 excited girls crowded into the SAE living room to exchange successful ideas and have a good time.

Then came a surfing party with A O Pi and a Las Vegas night with Alpha Chi. These two events culminated a fine year for Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Sigma Alpha Mu is a house of many traditions. Their social year always includes spring picnics, two pledge dances, and a sleep-in formal in which the girls move in while the Sammys move out. Another tradition, which is also one of the social highlights of the campus, is their Sammy Shipwreck Party. For the big event, the brothers transform the entire house into an island complete with sand and waterfalls to provide atmosphere.

Again this year Sigma Alpha Mu is actively participating in many campus activities, and they are proud that their tradition to excel in sports has continued. They claim athletes in varsity judo, tennis, wrestling, and fencing.

Sigma Chis are proud of the wide diversity of their men. Academically the Sigs gained over five thousand dollars in scholarship rebates from their Sigma Chi Corporation. The Sigs also ranked high in sports with members on the first string varsity football, baseball, swimming, fencing, track, and golf teams. In intramural sports last year Sigma Chis triumphed to place first in the fraternity IM basketball tournament. The Sigs were also present in campus activities from the Daily Illini to the ROTC drilling floor to the Men's Glee Club. The year for the Sigma Chis could best be summed up as one of fun and success in all endeavors.

The Sigma Nus are proud of the versatility of their men. In addition to members on the athletic teams, their Big Men on Campus have included President of the Y.M.C.A., President of the Model United Nations for the Midwestern States, and Star Course managers. In spite of the many and varied extracurricular activities, the Sigma Nus' intramural teams ranked fifth on campus; in the grade point averages they ranked seventh among all the fifty-seven fraternities.

This year they built a $20,000 addition on to their kitchen and an enlargement to their 30-car parking lot to ease space difficulties.

SIGMA PHI DELTA

Sigma Phi Delta is a Social Professional Fraternity deeply devoted to engineering. Its motto, "Pro Bono Professionis," which means "For the Good of the Profession," exemplifies SPD's devotion to advance interest in engineering education and to instill a greater spirit of co-operation among engineering students and organizations.

Maintaining the ideals of the engineering professions, Sigma Phi Delta members actively support engineering research projects, such as antenna research, metallurgical research, and the Radio Telescope. Sigma Phi Delta is proud to find that two-thirds of last years June graduates are now busily working for their master's degrees.

The Sig Eps opened this year with a full calendar of athletic and social events. Participating in all IM events, they maintained their long held reputation as a strong athletic group. Their autumn formal, Casino, one of the most extravagantly decorated dances on campus, proved to be the highlight of the first semester.

Sig Ep, strong in tradition and modern in fraternal policies, is a nationally known house for its hospitality. Their significant red door, always open, ever welcomes all to come in and enjoy a fraternity of friendly, serious, and fun loving men joined in the bonds of brotherhood.

For Sigma Pi, the new student week in the fall brought the glad hand, the slap on the back, and the customary battery of embellished stories concerning summertime adventures.

Traditionally, the early part of fall consisted of Wednesday nights at "Biddies" and weekends of football games. Soon came winter with many formals and Christmas parties; after returning from the holidays and completing finals, the Liberation Ball II was held. With it came spring.

Spring brought the Orchid Formal, the main attraction at Sig Pi. Ten days later, the Wednesday night before finals, was a last celebration to let off the shackles of final week pressure.

The Alpha Chi chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma boasts of a unique origin, for it was founded by a group of World War II veterans. These veterans started a well-rounded program of scholarship, athletic, and social life which this year's Sigma Taus have continued to follow on the Illini campus.

Their main social event each year is the White Rose Formal. It is a dinner dance in the spring, highlighted by the coronation of the Sigma Tau's choice for White Rose Queen. A winter formal and costume pledge dance rounded out the house's social calendar for this school year; but next year, as one of the fastest growing campus fraternities, the Sigma Taus are planning even more activities.

TAU DELTA PHI

The Tau Delts have had a very successful academic year by ranking third of 57 fraternities in active averages and by sweeping the College Bowl during the spring Greek Week. In the College Bowl finals the Tau Delts sailed past their opponent fraternity and sorority by doubling each of their opponents' scores. Athletically speaking, the Tau Delts gained high recognition by winning the Pajama Race and co-rec bowling.

On November 14 the Tau Delt house turned into hillbilly heaven for a special dance. A cleverly designed outhouse and an old fashioned still decorated the house and made the dance a success.

TAU EPSILON PHI

This fall, for the first time, Tau Epsilon Phi and Delta Phi Epsilon entered the new Homecoming Float Contest. After a long month of discussion, they decided to use "The Buckeyes Don't Smell It" as their theme. TEPs and DPhiE worked an entire week to assemble the float and finished with ten minutes to spare. All was in readiness when the float turned onto Green Street. As is passed the judges' stand, a goalpost came crashing downward. Fraternal horror soon became laughter. Determined not to be discouraged, Tau Epsilon Phi and Delta Phi Epsilon finished the parade, both houses vowing to return to competition next year.

Tau Kappa Epsilon—its men and name—are well-known with members of TKE in nearly every activity or athletic program on campus. The Illini fencing, tennis, swimming, baseball, and football teams are well supplied with TKEs. Illini Union department heads, managers of Men's Glee Club, members of both Ma-Wan-Da and Sachem, and members of Star Course is only a smattering of the TKE activities.

Tau Kappa Epsilon's two formals and two pledge dances head a list of social functions including pledge and house exchanges and an annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. This, with a new scholarship program, points to just one thing: another banner year for Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Novelty! The most outstanding feature of the Theta Chi house the past year was the newness associated with it. $75,000 was spent to redecorate and renovate the old section of the fraternity and a $125,000 modern addition was constructed during the summer which included double rooms with built in desks and dressers, a streamlined kitchen, and a spacious dining room. Besides these new facilities, the basement was refurnished to provide a TV room and a recreation room very well suited for dancing. One more element made a debut at the fraternity—a house mother, the first one in forty years. The Theta Chis enjoyed the advantages of their refinished house and permanent house mother.

THETA DELTA CHI

Theta Delta Chi proved itself in '65 as an exceptional fraternity, promoting outstanding scholastic achievement, unique social events, and solid brotherhood. Theta Delta Chi also added incentive for studies with the newly formed Educational Foundation, offering grant-in-aids and special scholarships totaling over twenty-five thousand dollars.

Socially, the Theta Delt's offered four great dances during the school year: the Annual Pledge Dance, the Winter Formal, the Magna Parta, and the Spring Formal. A rousing combo was formed during the past year, composed of members from the University of Illinois Bands. This very outstanding combo highlighted weekend hootenanys.

THETA XI

Widely acknowledged as one of the most active houses on campus, the Theta Xis again found themselves in the center of campus life. Stunt Show topped the long list of fall events as the Theta Xis, paired with Kappa Delta, made Finals for the second consecutive year. TX had representatives in Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Bronze Tablet, and Delta Kappa, and the fraternity had leaders in the Illini Union, IFC, and the Daily Illini.

Scholarship at Theta Xi was excellent with promise of even greater improvement since the pledge class ranked third on campus. Further evidence of the mature TX pledge program was winning the four-foot tall IFC Help Week Trophy.

After successfully completing the move into a brand new house one year ago, Triangle's original 28-man membership doubled to its present total of 60 brothers. This year was celebrated with open houses, two pledge dances and two formals. Spring semester showed the men of Triangle an even better season, sparked by the Northwestern tournament and Triangle basketball. This was climaxed by crowning of the national sweetheart at the Northwestern University Triangle chapter.

In spite of Triangle's active participation in campus social life, the men have maintained the scholastic rank of 11th among fraternities.

The members of Zeta Beta Tau fraternity believe in the development of the individual as a mature and responsible member of society. Some members have exhibited leadership on campus as Executive Vice President of the Student Senate, Union Director, NSA Coordinations Chairman, Chairman of IFC Judicial Committee, and Sachem President.

Zeta Beta Tau also develops in its members social responsibility. Every year the house holds a spring formal. This year they were also hosts to a genuine Roman Banquet. The party doubled as a masquerade affair and all guests came in traditional Roman costumes. A year ago the house was winner of the Stunt Show grand prize.

ZETA PSI

One of Zeta Phi's most prominent alums was recently honored by ABC Television. Brother "Red" Grange was the star of a documentary program which was a biography of Red's climb to fame at Illinois and later with the Chicago Bears.

1964 found Zeta Psi winning three league championships: Pledge and House league winners in Basketball, league and Orange Division Champions in 16" Softball. Besides finding time to participate in sports, the Zeta Psis also made time for some social events. The highlight of the 1964 social calendar was the Spring Formal for which the chapter house was decorated like a forest glen.

Armory House is proud to boast of its hundred men. It is not often that such a large group can maintain a 4.0 scholastic average. The men are especially proud of their freshmen who carry better than the house average. Success does not stop with the academics, as the house won a first place trophy when they performed in the Dad's Day Revue with Lincoln Avenue Residence Hall North.

The men of Armory House not only enjoy competition in intramural sports but also among themselves as they gather after supper to have an informal game of football or baseball. Leisurely fun and relaxation have helped create the friendly atmosphere which prevails in Armory House.

CAMPUS VIEW LODGE

Campus View Lodge is proud of its motto as it is stated in the last line of its constitution—"Be nice." The seventy-one members of Campus View Lodge boast friendliness, unity, tradition, and at the same time maintain a high scholastic ranking.

Campus View Lodge has been owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Bob P. Majercak since 1961. That same year the Lodge won a second-place trophy for Homecoming decoration and won third-place honors in 1962. Last year the house won the first-place trophy for intramural softball. In addition, the importance of social life is stressed by participation of Campus View residents in exchanges.

GRANADA

This year has again proven to be a very profitable one for the one hundred men living at Granada. Each year Granada gives a winter formal known as the "Rose Room Formal," for which forty-five dozen roses are brought in to be used for decorations. The men enjoy transforming the house into a rose wonderland for their dates and themselves to enjoy and to remember always.

Christmas time is one of the busiest times of the year for the men of Granada. Each Christmas they join with Alpha Gamma Delta and Kappa Delta for a Christmas party given for the children from the Cunningham Children's Home.

Illi-Dell House is comprised of thirty-one men who are pursuing careers in agriculture or related fields. It is the most active MIA house on this campus as evidenced by the MIA trophy of recognition awarded to its members for five consecutive semesters. In the area of scholarship, Illi-Dell topped all organized houses with a 4.016 all-house average. Socially its members participate in many exchanges with a year's events climaxed by a house dance. The members also participate in many extra curricular activities including clubs, honoraries, and religious organizations. They have won many intramural sports awards, the most significant one being for excellence in sportsmanship.

A new combined program of scholarship and campus activities for the men of Koinonia resulted in improved grades for all members as well as their development socially. This program gave the house a well-rounded character.

One of the favorite traditions of Koinonia men is the annual Initiate Dance which is held in the fall to honor all the new members. In the spring the men have their formal dance which was held in the Illini Room in the Union this past year. In addition, they participated in co-rec basketball and held the annual Dad's and Mom's Day banquets. At present the men are busily formulating plans for a new house to be completed soon.

MEDEA LODGE

To the men of Medea, the years at Illinois have been happy and successful ones. Since Medea Lodge won its division's championship in both football and baseball last year, it earned the Blue Division IM Achievement Point Award. Medea continued its winning ways by taking second place in Dad's Day Revue with LAR North.

The year's social events were topped off by the annual spring formal, "Affaire du Coeur." Numerous exchanges also provided mid-week breaks.

MINAWA

From their founding as a Christian co-operative housing unit in 1942, Minawa has tried to provide its members with a campus home and a living atmosphere in which each fellow may learn, experience, and grow as a Christian student of the University. Fellowship among the members and high scholastic achievements are stressed. Minawa helps further members' spiritual growth through a directed plan of devotional meetings and Bible studies.

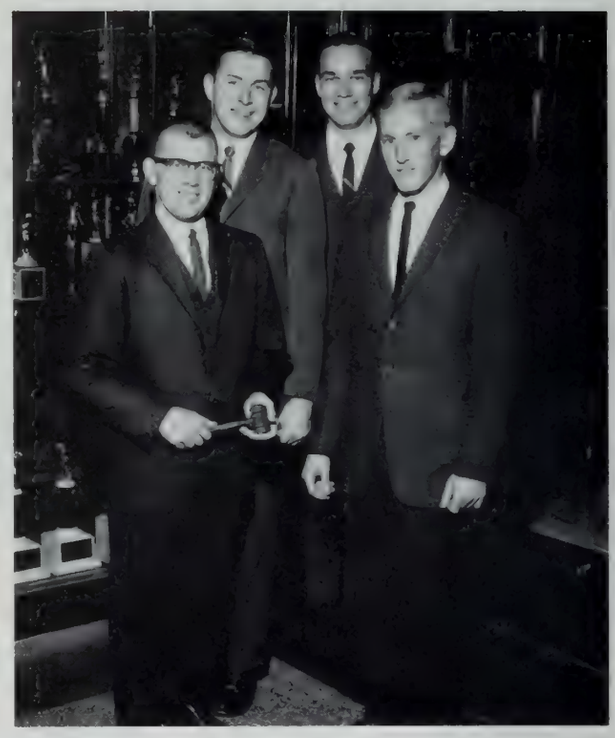

Participation in intramural sports and numerous socials gives Minawa a complete schedule of activities. Annual events of interest include a pledge versus active football game, a Mom's Day Banquet, and the yearly spring steak fry.

Over four hundred men live in Newman Hall, the largest independent housing unit on campus. Within the ranks of Newman, men are leaders and outstanding students in academics, sports, and campus activities. This year, student politics was considered to be a special interest with the offices of Student Senate and student body president, and vice president of MIA being held by Newman men.

Every Christmas the Newman men give a party for the children of an orphanage, sharing with them a spirit and joy of the season. In these ways, service, leadership, and friendly enthusiasm are all a part of Newman's environment.
